PLAN TO UPLIFT MASSES.

Railway System Offers Inducements Which Seem Improvement on Sweatshops and Mining Camps.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—Next month Sig. Edmondo Mayor des Planches, ambassador of Italy, expects to start for the southwest for the purpose of looking into the possibility of directing the stream of Italian immigration away from the tenements of the Atlantic seaboard and toward the farms and plantations of the south and southwest.

He will have no itinerary and will go entirely unhampered by prejudices, but will put in as much time as he can investigating the conditions of climate, soil, and social possibilities. He is particular to say that the movement he has inaugurated, with the moral support of his government, is not intended in any way as an attempt at a solution of the race problem in the south.

On the contrary, he particularly wishes to avoid putting the Italian immigrant in the same category with the negro or leading people to believe his countrymen propose to antagonize the black laborers of the south. So far from this being true, the ambassador particularly is anxious to avoid all possibility of race hostility and one of the principal objects of his trip will be to determine how far it will be possible to divert the Italian current into the southern states without involving his countrymen as factors in a race war.

Question Climatic, Not Racial.

The question is climatic, not racial, so far as the royal Italian ambassador is concerned, but none the less students of American life will see in it conditions which in the end will tend to help out the solution of the race problem in our own southern states. The negro is not an important factor in the north merely because he is not there in large proportionate numbers. In the south he is the sole labor supply and in addition to that in many sections outnumbers the white man so as to constitute a distinct social and political threat. If the percentage of whites is increased the relative importance of the negro is decreased.

There is no way of increasing the white population of the southern states apparently except by immigration. Of all the millions of thousands of immigrants who come to the United States every year practically none go into the southern states. There are enough white immigrants come into the United States every ten years now to balance the entire negro race in America, embracing all shades of color and all conditions of previous servitude.

I believe, therefore, that this effort of the Italian ambassador, if successfully carried out, is so important to America that the southern states at least and possibly even the federal government should afford the public spirited ambassador every possible facility.

Over 200,000 Arrive Annually.

There are over 200,000 Italians coming to this country every year now. They are fitted by training for a southern climate, yet they have been allowed to pack themselves into the tenement houses of the northeastern states and have toiled in the most unfavorable surroundings in railroad camps and coal mine towns. Their racial training should have taught them to go to the south, where they might have done as much for that country as the Germans and Scandinavians did for the northwest.

It is to correct this initial mistake and turn these country bred Italian peasants away from the sweatshops and coal mines into the broad farms and fertile fields of the sunny south that the Italian ambasssador will give up a Florida vacation and spend it in the painstaking investigaton of the conditions of life in the south and southwest. He is after the good of his own countrymen, but it has seemed to me for a year or two that what the south most needed is a new supply of white blood, not to compete with the negro, but to add to the strength of the white element, and in that way decrease the threat which is ever present of the ultimate domination of the black man over the white man.

Sig. Mayor, the distinguished royal Italian ambassador, is not a dreamer or a theorist. He has been appalled by his personal reports as to the condition of Italian immigrants in large cities. His consular reports show, what our immigration officers here well understand, that the Italian immigrant who lands in New York or Boston is a peasant through and through, knowing nothing except the life of the country and having no experience in city occupations, yet he goes direct to the tenement district. The Italian who passes through the line at Ellis island one day is likely to be digging holes down on Hudson street the next morning. They do not seek for city labor, but it is nearest at hand.

Italian Immigrants Industrious.

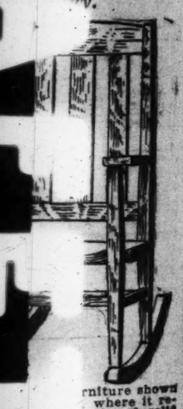

In spite of all that is said to the contrary, I know from personal investigation that while Italian immigrants now coming into this country are poor and illiterate and of a comparatively low grade, they are not essentially vicious and are most positively not idle. They are all industrious and most of them are physically capable of enduring the hardest kinds of labor.

When the Italian comes to America and prospers a bit he writes home to his friends and relatives, and when they come to these shores they steer direct to the writer of that letter without the slightest regard whether he is in New York, Boston, Fall River, or Utica. It is this thing which has congested the Italians in a comparatively narrow strip along the north Atlantic seaboard. They were born under sunny skies and were accustomed to agriculture from childhood. They learned what every European peasant learns, which is to utilize every inch of the soil and work almost unceasingly from early morning until late at night.

They are more industrious than the negro, are undoubtedly able to stand the withering effects of the sun at midsummer time in the southern states, have an original, inherited taste for the soil never possessed by the African, who becomes an agriculturist only under the tutelage of the big planters and cruel overseers, who themselves had little ac-

FIRE ENDANGERS A SKYSCRAPER.

POSTAL WIRES DISABLED.

Operators Thrown Into a Panic and Several of Them Descend Outside Escape Ladders.

A fire in the Stock Exchange building, Washington and La Salle streets, at 10:50 o'clock last night became stubborn and dangerous to life and property because of defective and inadequate "stand pipes."

One result of the fire was a panic among 150 employés of the Postal Telegraph company, which has operating rooms on the Thirteenth floor of the building. Some of these employés climbed down the long distance on an outside fire escape.

Another result was the paralysis of the business of the Postal, both outgoing and incoming, every wire temporarily being out of operation.

A third result will be an aggressive inquiry by the fire chief into the conditions of stand pipes in all the large buildings in the city, new and old.

Crossed Wires the Cause.

The fire is thought to have been caused by crossed electric wires in the conduit which contains all the wires of the telegraph company. The conduit is adjacent to the elevator shaft. The blaze was seen first on the fourth floor by Albert Baldwin, an employé of the Mooney & Boland detective agency, who notified the fire department. Before the arrival of the firemen it had ascended through the wide shaft or conduit to the opening in the offices where the telegraph operators were working. A shower of sparks drove most of the men from their desks and a few moments later clouds of smoke filled the rooms. The lights were extinguished.

Miss Margaret Moriarty, who was in charge of a lunch room on the top floor, fainted when the first rush of employés for the stairs and night elevator was made, and was carried to a lower floor by John Carey, an operator. Gustav Grower, the elevator conductor, continued to run his car and forced the frightened men to stand aside until three women on the floor had entered the car. On the second trip down Miss Moriarty was carried into the car and to the street.

Go Down the Fire Escapes.

While the lone elevator provided a means of egress to most of the frightened operators, others sought escape by way of the fire escape on the Washington street side of the building. One woman was among these. She was Mrs. Alice Nichols, an operator. She had descended five floors in this perilous manner when she was carried in through an open window by a fireman. Thence she reached the first floor by means of the stairs.

A rapidly collecting crowd had gathered about the structure and assisted the frightened operators from the escapes. The following persons climbed down the entire thirteen stories on the fire escape:

John Weis.	C. Ott.
John Hourihan.	John Donovan.
Joseph Vesley.	T. A. Welsh.
H. A. Woolfe.	Stephen Balassa.
Mrs. Nichols.	G. A. Daniels.
E. E. Bruckner.	George Reidl.
Edward Quinlan.	Charles K. Cralee.
Benjamin Moline.	W. C. Schlick.

Assistant Horan There Early.

Assistant Chief Horan was among the first men of the department to respond to the alarm. When the danger of a serious fire was seen Chief Campion was notified. Two companies of firemen were sent to the top floor and connections were made with the street pumps and the standpipes along the fire escapes, through which water for their use was to be forced. Signals and calls for water from the firemen were sent to the companies below and after five minutes of futile effort Horan ordered the men to carry leads of hose up through the elevator shaft.

After a waste of many more minutes streams of water were turned on the fire in the telegraph company's offices. Had the connections been available the blaze could have been extinguished with little effort on the arrival of the firemen.

Fire Finally Put Out.

The fire finally was put out with chemical apparatus and the hose lines carried up by the firemen. Brands and sparks falling through the conduit started small blazes on the first floor and basement, which readily were quenched.

When the fire was under control Chief Campion, with Fire Inspector Burrows and Assistant Chief Horan, began an investigation of the faulty condition of the standpipe. At each floor it was seen that connection between the main pipe and the elbows extending into the building had not been made.

Reaching out to test the stability of the elbows, the fire chief gave a vigorous jerk, in several cases tearing the elbow away from its place in the wall. At no point that was visited by the chief was there a place through which water could have been forced into the building in quantities sufficient for fire protection.

Chief Denounces Conditions.

The chief vigorously denounced the conditions of affairs and declared his intention of having an investigation made today by Fire Attorney Johnson.

"The hydrants on each floor merely had been stuck into the wall, making it impossible to use the standpipe," he said. "The result was that we had to carry a lead of hose to each floor. Imagine the result of trying to fight a fire that way if the building had been full of people. Even the lives of the firemen on that top floor were in jeopardy tonight, so you can imagine what the conditions would have been at a midday fire in one of these buildings.

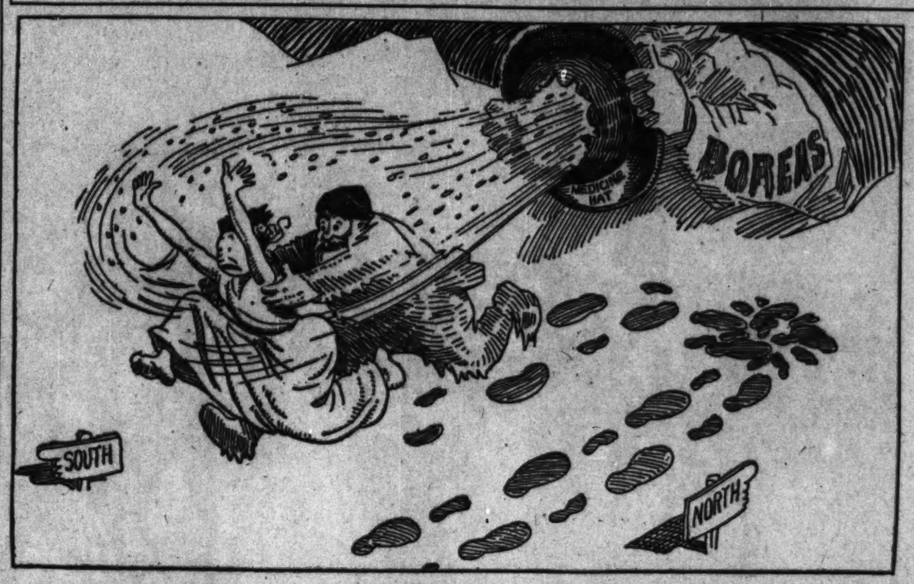

"It's the same condition we found in the Brevoort house fire, which could have been handled if the fire appliances had been installed properly.

"I am going to see that an examination of all the fire appliances, especially the standpipes, is made in each downtown building," he continued, "and where they are not adequate we'll make a strenuous effort to get them in shape."

Officials of the Postal Telegraph company secured every available electrician to assist in restoring their lines and at midnight Supt. C. W. Potter declared that communication would be restored before morning. The telegraph operators were ordered to remain at their posts during the regular hours.

The damage to the building will not exceed $2,000. The loss to the telegraph company is estimated at $10,000.

SIGHT A SINGING DERELICT.

LOYAL TO HIS OPERA HAT.

That Rescued, He Submits, Though Not Anxious, to Be Saved.

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—The good tug Confidence was rounding the Battery at 1 o'clock this morning when Clem, the cook, heard a strange sound off the starboard bow. He left the captain's early coffee on the galley stove for a minute and stuck his head out into the night.

Avast! Belay!
Hoorah for Baffin's bay,

Clem went to the side and stared keenly at the deep. He is a sober, God fearing man, and it was a new experience to hear a merman off the battery.

And he kissed her
With an awful
Fishing smack,

sang the serenader. The Confidence had just passed the Brooklyn Annex ferryboat. Clem cocked his ears to make sure the sound did not come from it. It did not. Clem ran to Capt. Allison Brady in the pilot house.

"Cook, you've gone crazy," said Capt. Brady, leaning out of the window and studying the face of the waters as they danced beneath the stars But to his ears arose the lusty baritone:

Sailing, sailing, over the bounding main.

Opera Hat Is Sighted.

He threw his wheel over and made for the sound. In a moment, under the boat lights, there bobbed an opera hat.

"Look out! You'll run me down," howled a voice from beyond. "I'm smaller than you. I've got the right of way."

Capt. Brady slowed down and went ahead cautiously. In another moment he came upon Sidney Brewster of Elizabeth, N. J., treading water with cheerful equanimity. The crew of the Confidence went down the rail and stretched out arms for Sidney. He backed away.

"My hat," said he. "Never let it be said that a Brewster deserted his hat in midocean."

Somebody reached out astern and fished up the hat with a boat hook. Capt. Brady thought he was dealing with a maniac. But he soon found out his mistake. Brewster knew exactly what he was talking about. As soon as he saw the hat he came up to the side and submitted to the indignity of being hauled aboard.

"Who is in command here?" he asked.

"I'm the captain," said Capt. Brady, who had put another in charge of the wheel.

Would Say "Glad to See You."

"You at least might have manners," said Brewster, "and say 'glad to see you on board, sir.' Anyway," he added, ruminatively, "I'm glad to see myself on board."

He turned to the man with the hat.

"My hat," he said, "if you please."

He settled the hat on the back of his head and announced that he would now sing that pleasing ballad, "Give us a drink, bartender."

Before Brewster had a chance to say how highly he appreciated the "bartender," they had him on the grating of the engine room. Brewster did not see why he should be dried. He wasn't wet. He was the driest man in New York.

Capt. Brady made for pier A and turned Brewster over to the harbor police. He was shivering and chattering. Though he protested there were better places to go, the police insisted on sending him to the Hudson Street hospital. He was put to bed there and slept off his chill. He left the hospital at noon. The police say he told them he had started from Central park in a cab for the Twenty-third street ferry and remembered that he worried because he was afraid he couldn't catch the 12:20 boat.

May Have Forgotten Something.

The chief detectives from pier A were put on the case and worked out a fine lot of solutions. They are sure Brewster did catch the 12:10 boat at Twenty-third street and that he did not get as far as Jersey City. They think he then felt he had forgotten something he wanted in New York. There are lots of things one needs, folks of experience say, before going to Elizabeth, N. J., and the more of them he has the less he minds going back there. He tried to board the Cortlandt street ferry boat, they think, and landed on the Annex boat at the next slip.

Sidney's father said tonight at his home in Elizabeth that Sidney got safely home none the worse for his swim.

"Sidney says he fell over the railing," said his father.

Sidney Brewster is one of fourteen children of the late James D. Brewster, and is a produce exchange broker and athlete. He has figured in a number of athletic feats and is an expert swimmer. He is an uncle of Walter Brewster, who married a daughter of Ah Fong of Honolulu, and who is now on a visit to Elizabeth with his wife. Sidney Brewster's sporting friends say the ducking in the icy waters of New York bay will not hurt him, as he often has swum across the Staten Island sound and back in all seasons of the year.

FATAL SHOOTING FOLLOWS ROW IN BILLIARD ROOM.

Morris D. Behrbohm Wounded by Sam Bloom, Who Escapes—In Fist Fight Preceding Latter Is Worsted.

Morris D. Behrbohm, a sewing machine agent living at 223 West Washington street, was shot and probably fatally wounded by Sam Bloom, also known as Samuel Dixie, in the Dewey billiard room, 203 West Washington street, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Bloom escaped.

The shooting was the result of a quarrel half an hour before in the billiard room. Bloom attacked Behrbohm, who is smaller than he, but was worsted and driven from the place.

Half an hour later Bloom returned with a revolver and, as he entered, shot at Behrbohm. The latter fell to the floor unconscious and his assailant ran from the place. Behrbohm is 27 years old.

SAVES WOMAN DECLARED DEAD.

Two Physicians Pass on Condition of Patient and Third Restores Her with Salt Solution.

St. Louis, Mo., March 14.—After having been pronounced dead by two physicians and a nurse, Mrs. Charles A. Sweet, wife of a provision merchant, has been restored by the infusion of a salt solution into her veins and is now believed to be recovering her health.

Recently Mrs. Sweet, suffering from gastritis, went to Hot Springs, Ark. On the night of Feb. 13 she seemed to be dying, and her heart ceased to beat. She was pronounced dead. A third physician, however, decided to try a salt solution infusion, and there followed signs of animation.

HYDE GIVES UP CONTEST.

Equitable Vice President Agrees to Mutualization.

Committee Recommends to Directors That Charter Be Amended.

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—James H. Hyde has consented to the mutualization of the Equitable Life Assurance society and his long fight against the policyholders, who have clamored for this, apparently is ended. A committee of directors, of which he was a member and of which James W. Alexander, who has been fighting him for the control of the society, also was a member, agreed to a report today to recommend that the charter be amended. The policyholders will be given a chance to vote for the directors. The policyholders will have twenty-eight members of the fifty-two on the board of directors.

The report will be submitted on Tuesday to the whole board.

The action of the committee is a surprise to many who thought they were familiar with the situation as it existed since Hyde made his stand against the mutualization plan as advocated by President Alexander. These persons predicted Hyde would never consent to mutualization without a hard fight.

Hyde and Alexander Silent.

A day or two ago a man in Hyde's interests announced the mutualization committee was divided in regard to the recommendations which it should make.

Hyde himself refused to add anything to the statement issued from the society's offices. Alexander also refused to discuss the action.

The recommendation will give the policyholders a majority of four on the board of directors. Twenty-four members will represent Hyde's strength if the change is made. That there will be any opposition to the recommendation in the board of directors is not anticipated. Hyde would never have concurred in the statement if he intended to assert his strength.

The board has power to amend the charter subject to the approval of the state superintendent of insurance. The recommendation throws the voting power open to all policyholders. The present charter alows only policyholders insured for $5,000 to vote for directors.

Crimmins Committee May Hold Off.

It was said tonight that the Crimmins committee, which represents policy holders alone, and has declared its purpose to be the mutualization of the society through legislation, probably will accept the action as sufficient for the present and discontinue further effort to reach the society through the legislature.

It is believed the suit by Mary S. Young of Saratoga against Hyde and the Equitable society may have had something to do with the decision. This suit is to restrain the company from paying Hyde $100,000 a year as salary and to compel the restitution of certain moneys which he has drawn on this account from the funds of the society on the ground that the salary is too large. The complaint alleges also thirty-eight of the board of fifty-two directors practically are dummies, put in office by Hyde.

Hyde was served with the complaint in this action Monday, but that it caused any serious concern to him is denied at his office today. The report that Hyde had attempted to escape from the process server and threatened to strike him with his cane if he approached also is denied at his office.

BOLD PLEA BY CZAR TO ROUSE EMPIRE.

Emperor May Summon Nobles to the Kremlin and Appeal for Aid in Fighting Japan.

MAKING A STAND AT TIE PASS.

STORY OF THE FAMOUS BATTLE.

BULLETIN.

PARIS, March 15, 3 a. m.—The correspondent at St. Petersburg of the Petit Parisian says that Gen. Kouropatkin's resignation has been accepted, and that Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch has consented to take chief command in Manchuria.

CZAR TO APPEAL TO PEOPLE.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 15, 3 a. m.—The czar may adopt the bold expedient of making a direct personal appeal to his people for aid in continuing the war.

To lend impressiveness to this attempt to arouse the loyalty and patriotism of the empire it may be that the emperor will go in state to the ancient capital at Moscow, summon the nobles and leaders of the zemstvos around him within the sacred precincts of the Kremlin, and, after revealing the extent of Russia's humiliation, make a stirring personal appeal to his people to rally to the support of the throne in its efforts to raise a new army and drive the Japanese into the sea.

It is declared that the czar, by giving his pledge that the reforms demanded by the people would be put in force, would easily gain the support of all classes in his determination to continue the war.

Decide to Go On with War.

At the council of war at Tsarskoe Selo yesterday it was decided, so it is stated, to go on with the war, to mobilize a new army of 400,000 men, to reorganize the transport and commissary service, and to send the troops east as rapidly as possible.

It is significant that Vice Admiral Alexieff, head of the war party, has been summoned to Tsarskoe Selo.

A successor to Gen. Kouropatkin will be selected. It may be Gen. Gripenberg, or Gen. Sukhomlimoff, or the Grand Duke Nicholas, inspector general of cavalry. All three are mentioned.

It is semi-officially denied that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet has been recalled from Madagascar.

The difficulties in the way of mobilization are recognized. The internal situation is threatening and the reservists will be reluctant to join the colors. The peace party is strong numerically, if not in influence.

Nothing that has happened in Manchuria since Sunday is certainly known here. It seems certain that the Japanese have not yet advanced on Tieling. It is supposed the foremost Japanese detachments are lining the south bank of the Fan river, ten miles south of Tieling. The Russian rear guard possibly is holding the north bank. It cannot be learned whether they intend to make a stand at Tieling. There is a rumor that Gen. Bilderling has been killed, while another rumor says that he has reached Tieling.

Sounds Note of Warning.

The Novoe Vremya, in a strong article headed "Precious Moments Lost," reviews the situation leading up to the defeat of the army in Manchuria, the grave nature of the internal tragedy at Moscow, the bloody events at Warsaw, Riga, and Baku, the series of attempts upon individual representatives of the civil and military authority, and the increasing boldness of the claims of the non-Russian provinces, some of which are threatening and others even making attempts at armed uprisings, as in Georgia.

Finland, the Novoe Vremya declares, is arming; Jews everywhere are fanning the flames of revolution, and the danger of the agrarian movement is increasing. The article concludes:

"There is no time to waste. The rescript is a fortnight old, and nothing has been done. The assembly of representatives which it contemplates must meet at once, and the best form is that of the old zemsky sobor."

Criticism of the War.

Criticism on the conduct of the war which has been appearing in the newspapers has been aggravated by Gen. Kouropatkin's defeat and is now of the most outspoken character. The Russ formally abandons all hope for the success of the war under the present régime, sarcastically pointing out that the administration, in its desire to provide Vladivostok with coal, is supplying the Japanese fleet.

The Japanese are reported to be completely exhausted by their long, hard fight and are compelled to rest and undertake the tasks of burying their dead and looking after their wounded, prisoners, and plunder.

The war office admits, however, that Kouropatkin has not furnished specific information as to the whereabouts of Gen. Kawamura, who has been reported to be northeast of Tie pass, or of the Japanese columns reported to be pushing north by forced marches west of the railroad.

LESS CHAOS AT TIELING.

TIE PASS, March 14.—As after the battle of Liaoyang, the advance of the Japanese army against the new positions of the Russians at Tie pass is slow. The leading columns are eight or ten miles southward and in touch with the Russian van posts, but the operations at present are not serious.

Field Marshal Oyama shows slight intentions of pressing his advantage in an immediate attack on Tie pass.

It is possible, however, that a wide turning movement, of which reports are current, is in progress. In such operations the Japanese have the immense advantage of several bases and lines of supply to which is now added the Sinmintin road, while the Russian army necessarily is dependent on one base and one line of communication, and therefore may easily be outflanked.

Army Recovering from Panic.

In the grand army order is being brought out of chaos with remarkable celerity. The plain in front of Tie pass, which on March 11 seethed like a nest of ants with the dense and confused mass of transport, artillery, and troops, corps, divisions, and regiments being scattered and parties inextricably mingled, has been cleared, the regiments organized, stragglers sent to their respective commands, and organizations taken their assigned positions. Today the same soldiers who on March 10 became a terror stricken, surging, disorganized mass of gray at a few shots from a little detachment of Japanese, or who even fled in panic, firing indiscriminately in all directions as they ran at the mere baseless cry of "Japanese cavalry," are now gathered, singing about the campfires with new courage, ready to oppose with stubborn resistance an attack of Tie pass.

No Panic for Linevitch.

It is unfair to accuse the entire army of this panic. Gen. Linevitch entered Tie pass with his regiments in perfect order, with music playing and the men singing, and scarcely a straggler was lost in the long, difficult march. Other organizations made equally praiseworthy retreats, and especially the rear guards of all the armies, who performed their difficult task steadily and resolutely.

There is much to be said also for the panic-stricken condition of the troops. They were largely composed of undisciplined men and wagon drivers were mingled with the soldiers, who for fifteen days were under constant fire, crowded together in a mass, whence egress was impossible.

Oyama's Army Demoralized.

It is one of the odd facts of warfare that the morale of the beaten Russian army has been largely restored, while the Japanese, though the victors, apparently are so broken and have incurred such heavy losses that they are unable to press the advantage. Otherwise it is inexplicable why the Japanese have not followed up their vigorous pursuit with an attack on Tie pass when they might have taken the position almost without a struggle. It is now too late for any easy success.

The struggle for the possession of Mukden cost both sides close upon 200,000 men. The Russian loss of officers includes a large proportion of the regimental commanders and field officers.

Review of the Battle.

All the newspaper correspondents, with the exception of three or four, have left for the north because there is here nowhere to live and nothing to eat. Hipped by defeat, many of the Russian officers are in a surly mood and much of their grudgingly given information is colored with jealousy and the rampant spirit of cabal. It is, however, possible now to give a general view of the battle, the connected story emerging out of the confusion incident to the evacuation of Mukden and the forced retreat to Tie pass.

On Feb. 24 all was ready for an attack on the westward. Various portions of the army had been disposed for an advance of the right flank. Suddenly in the evening of that day the order to advance was canceled and a second order was given for the transfer of Gen Rennenkampf's First Siberian corps and several other organizations to the left flank, which was being pressed heavily by a large force of Japanese.

From that time forward the Japanese, who were well informed as to all the Russian movements, began heavy attacks along the whole front. The Russians generally held their ground, doing well until Feb. 28, when an unexpected attack developed in the southwest, before which the Russian right, weakened by the withdrawal of almost two corps, yielded.

By March 1 it became evident that the Japanese were moving around the Russian right in five heavy columns, and it became imperative to withdraw the thin line from the southwest and form a new line from the bridge across the Shakhe river parallel with the railway. The change of front was accomplished with remarkable celerity, but the various organizations became badly mixed.

Positions Held March 4.

The Russians on March 4 occupied their former positions on the Shakhe river as far as the bridge, thence to Madyapu, on the Hun river, and thence parallel with the railway, six miles distant, the right resting on the Sinmintin road. The Japanese on March 5 beginning to turn even this position with a view to cutting off the retreat, the Russian right was extended eastward from the Sinmintin road to the railway.

On March 7 both sides began most vigorous offensive operations, the Japanese attacking with especial energy the forces of Gen. Tserpitsky, which were holding the position from Madyapu as far as the heights east of Mukden station, while the Russians, under Gen. Gerngross, assumed an attack in the direction of Tatchekiao, and on the northern front Gen. Launitz's command beat back all attacks. On the whole the outcome of the fighting on March 7 was favorable to the Russians, who repulsed several attacks on their southern front and assumed the offensive on the left, where Gen. Linevitch's army, occupying eastern hill positions, repulsed numerous attacks and took several hundred prisoners and several machine guns.

Russian Lines Drawn In.

The continued extension, however, of the Japanese lines northward and the concentration which their superiority in numbers enabled them to effect against the northern and northwestern fronts rendered advisable a contraction of the Russian lines and withdrawal from the Shakhe river to positions on the Hun river was determined upon. This was in no sense the beginning of the general retreat, and Kouropatkin and the generals commanding the armies were far from regarding the battle as lost.

The first army to retire from the fortified positions east and southeast of Mukden was the Third army, which fell back to positions similarly fortified in advance on the north bank of the Hun river. The burning of abandoned stores, provisions, and forage disclosed the Russian retirement, and the Japanese followed closely.

A confusion in orders and retirement in impenetrable darkness across the country were responsible for the failure of some organizations to occupy the positions to which they had been assigned, and a remarkable dust storm the following day made it impossible to verify the alignment and fill the breaches, which the Japanese, however, were lucky enough to find and skillful enough to turn to their advantage.

Just Before the Disaster.

The Russian positions now formed a boot, the toe at Madyapu and the heel on the Hun river at Fushun, about five miles wide, and to meet the apparent danger that the Japanese might plug the top of the boot Kouropatkin sent thither forty battalions from the command of Gen. Miloff, which was rendered available by the shortening of the line.

The Russians began to slowly force the Japanese back at this critical point, but the Japanese in turn were reinforced on their extreme right, and Gen. Kouropatkin, seeing all apparently going well at the other positions and determining to stake all on a decisive blow, collected the remainder of the strategic reserves, strengthened by several other units, and led them personally on March 9 to the north front and threw them on the flank of the Japanese, who were attacking Santaitse and endeavoring to cut the railway.

The scale of weight was all on the Russian side. The Japanese then retired, abandoning a battery of eight guns, success apparently crowning the Russian arms.

At this moment two sets of reports were received, the first that a column of Japanese was moving further north around the right flank, and the second that the Japanese on the Hun river had taken advantage of the storm, which was blowing the dust in the Russians' faces, and of the breaches in the positions on the Hun, to thrust a column through at Fu pass and Kyouzan, on the instep of the boot. Here the fords were defended by only three companies of the Barnaul regiment and a company of the Irkutsk regiment, which were forced to retire before Japanese cavalry and four mountain guns.

With the entire Russian strategic reserves already engaged it became impossible to meet the danger in those two sources which was imminent and critical, and at 8 o'clock in the evening the order to retire to Tie pass was given. Through the narrow bootleg passage, scarcely five miles wide, a densely packed mass of transports pressed northward, coming under the fire of a small squadron of Japanese cavalry and four mountain guns, which earlier in the battle had managed to dart across the Russian line of communication and conceal themselves in the mountains to the eastward. The forces of Gen. Tserpitzky began an orderly retirement from the boot toe, and during March 10 Kouropatkin successfully held at bay the Japanese, who were trying to reach the railroad.

Getting Out of Mukden.

The night of March 9, Mukden station presented a remarkable scene. Shortly after 9 o'clock came the order to complete the evacuation of the station and city, with directions that movements of trains northward must be completed by 5 o'clock in the morning. The enormous task was completed in nine hours, including the hasty embarkation of the wounded, who crowded the station platform and occupied the hospitals. Many had already left in the morning when the private trains of Kouropatkin, Kaulbars, Sakharoff, Bilderling, and Zabelin departed, but thousands remained.

At 9:40 p. m. the first string of eight trains was dispatched and a call was sent to Tie pass for thirteen locomotives. The forwarding of these locomotives without interrupting the northward movement of trains was a delicate piece of train dispatching, but the overworked railroad staff accomplished it successfully. At 3 a. m. the second string was started northward, and at 9:45 a. m. the last train of the third string of sixteen departed. All the trains had fifty-two to fifty-five cars.

Three trains contained the ammunition of the park of artillery which had been dispatched the evening before in 540 cars; another train carried warm clothing, one was coal laden, and one was loaded with Red Cross supplies, one with engineers' depot supplies, three with commissariat freights, and the remainder with wounded. The last train out was the service train with all the employés of the railway, property, and station papers.

The skill, exertions, and devotion of this little band of civilians rendered service the importance of which cannot be overestimated for the future of the Russian army. It saved thousands of wounded soldiers, an immense amount of ammunition, and millions of dollars' worth of property and cash.

It must be remembered that five miles north of Mukden an unceasing fight was in progress. Trains earlier had been bombarded with Shimose shells and the railroad was twice damaged. The trains traveled unlighted and without whistling under eight minute headway.

Burning the Stores.

All about fires blazed in a gigantic ring, burning straw, coal, wood, corn, and biscuit. Occasionally boxes of cartridges exploded with a disagreeable, dry rattle, or rockets rose and burst in clusters of stars. The flames had plenty of material, as there were over 3,600 carloads of corn and biscuit and over 323,000 cubic feet of coal, straw, and millet. It was only the reserve commissariat and other stores that were destroyed.

The wounded crowded the station, filled every vacant place in the cars, and the brake beams, buffers, and roofs were occupied, while others were hanging to the step.

The last train pulled out as Gen. Tserpitzky's troops began to pass the station, shortly before the explosion which wrecked the Hun river bridge.

On the platform remained eight telegraphers who had volunteered to stay at their keys until the arrival of the Japanese. In the hospitals of the Livonian division of the Red Cross and medical staff were 1,050 severely wounded, including 304 Japanese, the Chinese governor of Mukden giving his word to defend them until Mukden was occupied by the Japanese. How many wounded reached the station after its evacuation is not known.

Of the military railroad all but 125 miles was abandoned and the wagonettes destroyed. Tens of thousands of boxes of ammunition were abandoned, but most important of all from a material point of view is the loss of the Fushun coal mines, which supplied the road with coal.

The trains were heavily bombarded, but came through safely.

Panic of the Retreat.

The retirement of the wagon transport was twice imperiled by panic the morning of March 10. A Japanese squadron and guns concealed in the mountains opened fire and the drivers, who were undisciplined peasants, unaccustomed to the sound of Chinese shells, began to desert their carts and wagons, cutting loose the horses or throwing the stores from the wagons. Confusion became rampant and spread to terror stricken civilians, and even gunners, and was communicated to some infantry troops. The gray clad crowd, without information, hidden by dust, surged on. The Japanese, however, soon ceased firing, and order was restored. Troops following the wagons carried off a few cannon, but were unable to gather the abandoned property. Soldiers broke open officers' boxes and portmanteaus, and ransacked them for valuables.

Just before dusk another panic occurred at the station of Santaitse, where an enormous collection of carts had halted for the night. A column of Russians advancing was taken for Japanese, and the cry of "Japanese cavalry" was raised. The unarmed drivers commenced to flee, while those with rifles fired in every direction. The cooler heads calmed the panic sticken mass, but a number of lives were lost and additional property was sacrificed.

Retreat Over Four Roads.

The retirement of the central and western armies was effected by four roads and over fields between. The army of Gen. Linevitch followed the eastern roads from Fushun, Impan, and Fu pass. The third army retired in echelon, leaving a strong rear guard.

The Japanese, who at nightfall occupied half of the village of Santaitse, burst at daybreak into the park of the imperial tombs and opened a heavy rifle fire. The Russians, however, refrained from opening fire in the holy places of the Chinese. The Japanese did not press severely from the rear, bending their efforts to thrust in from the flanks and cut off portions of the army. Several divisions, acting as the rear guard under Gen. Laounin, were almost surrounded, but broke through under a heavy fire on both flanks. The rear guard the night of March 10 held the heights at the station of Sushital and on March 11 and 12 fell slowly back to Tie pass.

Now, two days later, Tie pass is a great organized military camp in which the troops assembled are calm and have gotten themselves into order. The men, immediately forgetting their recent hunger, sleeplessness, weariness, and fear of death, sit around the blazing campfires and sing and are ready to defend the position or even, if ordered, to go out and attack the Japanese.

JAPS STILL IN PURSUIT.

TOKIO, March 14, 11 a. m.—A telegram received today from headquarters in the field says:

"In the direction of Singching our forces have been dislodging the enemy from Yingpan, eighteen miles east of Fushun, and on March 11 occupied that place.

"In the direction of the Shakhe river all of our forces are continuing the pursuit of the remnant of the enemy, and many Russian officers and men are surrendering to our train guards in the mountainous districts east of the Tie pass road.

"Additional spoils, taken in the direction of the Shakhe river, are wagons and carts captured southeast of Chiulikoutzu. They exceed 1,000, loaded with gun ammunition, small ammunition, intrenching tools, telegraph and telephone equipment, pontoon material, supplies, and water boilers.

"They also carried 14,000 8 centimeter, 1,400 15 centimeter shells, and 1,200,000 small ammunition, and various military supplies.

RUSSIANS AT TIE PASS.

GEN. KUROKI'S HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD, Monday, March 13, via Fusan, March 14.—The greater part of the retreating Russians are supposed to have reached Tie pass. The pursuing Japanese have frequent encounters with the rear guard. Gen. Kouropatkin must remove his supplies from Tie pass if he plans a retirement to Harbin, as they will be necessary to maintain the army during their march. The Russians have no stores between Tie pass and Harbin.

The country is swarming with hungry, disheartened Russians, who are surrendering in squads to any pursuing Japanese they meet.

Leading Japanese officers have refused to criticise the lack of mobility displayed while driving the Russians beyond Tie pass.

Most of the foreign attachés with the Russian army, including two American and English officers, were captured at Mukden.

REVOLT OF THE FRENCH BANKERS POINTS TO PEACE.

Postponement of New Russian Bond Issue of $160,000,000 Regarded in London as Tantamount to a Refusal —Reported That Japan Will Demand an Indemnity Between $500,000,000 and $750,000,000—Limit of Credit Reached, Say Paris Papers.

LONDON, March 15.—The revolt of the French bankers is considered by the London newspapers as the most hopeful and important news of the day, promising an early conclusion of peace between Russia and Japan. Apparently the proposed loan has not been absolutely refused, but only "postponed." This, however, is regarded here as being tantamount to a refusal, and is expected to speak louder to the Russian war party even than Kouropatkin's reverse at Mukden.

It is the general belief that by the death of M. Germain, the late governor of the Credit Lyonnais, Russia lost her strongest financial friend in France and that had he been alive no difficulty would have been experienced.

With the American and English markets closed to her, it is thought that Russia can only turn to Germany, who is not likely to be much more responsive than France, and the only alternative would seem to be to make peace.

Reports are current here that Japan will now demand an indemnity of between $500,000,000 and $750,000,000.

French Bankers Postpone Loan.

PARIS, March 14.—Inquiry today at three banks principally interested in the proposed new Russian loan brought the response that it had been decided to postpone the issue indefinitely. The Temps says:

"It was quite natural that the Paris bankers should refuse to sign a contract in view of the conditions in Manchuria and the entire ignorance of the financers concerning the real intentions of the Russian government."

The Journal des Debats in its financial article says:

"Many people consider the adjournment to be evidence that Russia has reached the end of her resources."

La Revue, an important Paris monthly, tomorrow will publish an article appealing to French investors not to make further advances to Russia, declaring that the war reverses may bring on a depression in Russian securities which might prove a greater blow to French investors than the bursting of the first Panama bubble.

AMERICANS TAKEN AT MUKDEN.

Richard H. Little of Chicago and Two United States Army Officers Prisoners in Japanese Hands.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Most of the foreign attachés with the Russian army, including two American officers and several newspaper correspondents, among them Richard H. Little of the Chicago Daily News, were captured by the Japanese army that entered Mukden on March 10.

It is learned that the attachés and newspaper correspondents will be taken to Kobe at once. It is easily understood that Japan, while treating them as honored guests, with every courtesy, cannot permit them to return to the Russian army.

The American military officers with the Russian army as observers are Col. Havard, medical corps; Maj. Macomb, artillery corps; and Capt. Judson, artillery corps; and, while the war department is not positive, it is believed that the latter two are the two American officers captured at Mukden.

PRISONERS MAY REACH 50,000.

Oku's Headquarters Report That Russians Are Surrendering in Detachments.

WITH GEN. OKU'S HEADQUARTERS, March 12, via Fusan.—[Delayed.]—Reports received up to last night show over 40,000 Russian prisoners have been captured by all the Japanese armies, and that over fifty Russian guns have been taken.

Reports still coming in say that the Russians are still surrendering.

There are many villages within the Japanese lines yet unoccupied, and it is probable that they contain many more prisoners.

The total number of prisoners, it is expected, will reach 50,000.

Some of the foreign military observers criticise Gen. Kouropatkin's generalship severely. Field Marshal Oyama's original plan seems to have been to hold the Russians along the Shakhe while working around them with both wings, but the Japanese right was fought to a standstill. The Russian retreat from the Shakhe, rapidly pursued, gave the Japanese an opening to cut the Russian middle, surround Mukden, and isolate the Russian left.

One thousand prisoners are being marched to Liaoyang for shipment to Japan. They are a mixed lot, including Poles, Mongols, Burists, and Kirghis. Their clothing and equipment is much inferior to that of the Japanese. The Siberians who fought in the earlier months of the war were the finest men that Russia has had.

The Russians that are voluntarily surrendering make an abject spectacle. The Japanese are treating them most kindly.

CZAR TO RENEW CENSORSHIP?

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 14.—There is reason to believe the government has resolved to reestablish the censorship on outgoing news dispatches, which was withdrawn about a year ago.

Among the latest peasant raids was one on the estate of the late Grand Duke Sergius, the place being pillaged. There have been similar orders in the north and west of Russia. Artisans and peasants in southern Russia are threatening to prevent further drafts of troops.

The government has dissolved the Moscow Agricultural society, which is supected of carrying on a propaganda among the peasantry.

DOUBT IN COLORADO FIGHT.

Both Adams and Peabody Supporters Profess Confidence of Ultimate Victory.

Denver, Colo., March 14.—The anti-Peabody members of the legislature and others who are opposing the seating of Peabody as governor have lost none of their spirit of confidence as a result of the Peabody strength evidenced by the vote on the motion to adjourn in the joint assembly today.

Representative Johnson of Pueblo, who voted with the Peabody forces, issued a statement tonight in which he said he was begged to do so by friends of Senator Wood, who was absent, but was desirous of having a vote on the final disposition of the matter. Johnson also said he did not believe Peabody was elected governor, and he would vote against seating him. This statement has assured the anti-Peabody people, who claim that they still have nineteen republicans who will vote with them, and this number, together with the thirty-one democrats, assures them the number to make a majority.

The anti-Peabody republicans say the Peabodyites proposed that they seat Peabody for a day in order to vindicate him and that he then would resign in favor of Lieut. Gov. McDonald, but this was spurned. The Peabody men held a conference tonight and expressed themselves as confident of winning.

MRS. STANFORD NOT POISONED.

President Jordan Declares Unbelief in Theory Recently Advanced and Is Assisting Detectives.

HONOLULU, March 14.—That Mrs. Stanford died a natural death probably will be the conclusion of those who are now investigating the case. President Jordan of Stanford university declares Mrs. Stanford's death was not due to strychnine poisoning.

He says that when he became familiar with her symptoms and learned that the amount of strychnine taken was not beyond a medical dose he became sure she was not poisoned.

Dr. Jordan has been assisting the detectives during their inquiries regarding her symptoms and results of the autopsy.

MAKES APOLOGY TO STUDENTS.

President Jessee of Missouri University Convinced No Disorder Was Intended by Overall Display.

Columbia, Mo., March 14.—[Special.]—President R. H. Jessee of Missouri university today made a public apology to the students of agriculture as a result of the scene last Saturday, when the students were ordered to leave chapel during the exercises in celebration of Farmer's day. Some interpreted this as an insult to farmers. The students appeared in overalls, and on the theory that they were planning to break up the services they were ordered out. The president said he was convinced no disorder was intended.

VENEZUELA CUTS LAND WIRES BY THE ORDER OF CASTRO.

Revolutionists at Trinidad Shut Off from Communication — Indignation Felt at Paris in Official and Business Circles—Company Issues Statement Saying Warships Are Available "Should Circumstances Require Their Use."

WILLEMSTAD, Island of Curaçoa, March 14.—Advices received here from Caracas, Venezuela, announce that President Castro has ordered the Venezuelan court to render judgment annulling the contract and authorizing the seizure of the French Cable company's property. The government has cut the coast cable east and west of La Guayra to prevent communication with the revolutionists, who are active at Trinidad. The Europeans at Caracas are excited.

Indignation Felt in Paris.

PARIS, March 14.—The reported action of President Castro of Venezuela relative to the French Cable company has caused surprise and considerable indignation in official and cable circles here. The belief prevails that the situation may become serious if President Castro has gone as far as is said.

The foreign office today received a dispatch from Caracas, indicating that the situation in regard to the cable company was strained, with the possibilities that radical action might be taken.

Neither the foreign office nor the company, however, was advised up to tonight that the concession had been annulled or that the cables had been cut, and consequently they were not prepared to say what would be done if the cables are severed or other summary action adopted, except that energetic steps would be taken.

Warships Are Available.

The French Cable company issued a statement that the reports concerning the cutting of the local cables at La Guayra were not yet confirmed by its Caracas office. It was possible that President Castro had taken that step to prevent outlying bodies of insurgents from getting into communication.

The statement that President Castro had ordered the court to annul the concession and seize the property, the company added, was premature. Judgment has not yet been delivered. Should such an event occur, the company would take the necessary measures to defend its interests.

No thought yet has been given to the possibility of using warships, but several are available on the French West Indian station, the company said, "should circumstances require their use."

Apprehension at Washington.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—A dispatch from Minister Bowen at Caracas confirms the report from Willemstad as to the proceedings against the French Cable company by the Venezuelan government. Mr. Bowen said:

"A suit has been begun by the Venezuelan government against the French Cable company to annul its concession and seize its property."

The outcome of this case is looked forward to with apprehension. Should the French government demand indemnity from Venezuela for its treatment of the cable company its action might complicate the attempt to effect a settlement of the pending issue between the state depariment and Venezuela respecting the seizure of the properties of the Bermudez Asphalt company.

PALMA'S AUTO KILLS A BOY.

President of Cuba, in Party Which Runs Over Child, Will Pay for Funeral.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, March 14.—While President Palma, accompanied by Louis Marx and Secretary Montalvo of the public works department, was returning today from a visit to a government institution outside the city an automobile in which the party was riding ran over and killed a 12 year old Spanish boy, who ran from behind an electric car directly into the path of the automobile. The automobile was running slowly, but the boy's appearance in front of it was so sudden the chauffeur had no time to stop it. President Palma will pay the cost of the victim's funeral. The accident happened in one of the most crowded streets in the city.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

ACTS JUSTIFIED, SAYS KOHLSAAT.

Accused Federal Judge Said to Admit Charges, but Not the Offense.

PUTS RELIANCE IN LAW.

Illegal Appointments to Offices in Gift of Court the Main Accusation.

Judge Kohlsaat worked at home until midnight last night preparing an answer to the charges made against his administration of the United States District court by Attorney Charles Aldrich. This answer probably will not be completed for two days.

According to an intimate personal friend, Judge Kohlsaat adopts no midway course in his defense. This man said last night:

"Judge Kohlsaat openly, frankly, and freely admits that he appointed Mr. Whitney receiver for the Woods Motor Vehicle company with full knowledge of the statute, which, according to Mr. Aldrich, prohibits such appointment. He asserts he believed Mr. Whitney was not an officer of the court in the meaning of the statute, and that, notwithstanding Mr. Aldrich's charges, he finds no reason to change his mind. He believes he committed no wrong in the appointment and it is his unalterable conviction that his judgment in the matter will be upheld by any competent court of jurisdiction.

Similar Reasoning in Wales Case.

"The same line of reasoning applies in the case of Mr. Wales.

"His answer to the allegation that he appointed Mr. Smith, his brother-in-law, one of three appraisers shows that he believes no wrong was done and that there was no violation of law in this appointment.

"Judge Kohlsaat's answer will be absolutely devoid of the refuge afforded by possible technicalities and will be an open, frank admission of his acts and a legal argument sustaining the propriety of all of his actions, to which exception is taken."

Text of the Charges.

The full text of Mr. Aldrich's charges follows:

"To the president: In accordance with the request of the honorable attorney general, as contained in his letter to me under date of March 1, 1905, I submit for your consideration the following charges against Christian C. Kohlsaat, district judge of the United States, Northern district of Illinois, Northern division.

I.

"I charge said Christian C. Kohlsaat with the violation of section 20 of the act of May 28, 1896 (2 sup. rev. stat. p. 486), which reads as follows:

"'That no marshal or deputy marshal, attorney, or assistant attorney of any district, jury commissioner, clerk of marshal, no bailiff, crier, juror, janitor of any government building, nor any civil or military employé of the government, except as in this act provided, and no clerk or employé of any United States justice or judge shall have, hold, or exercise the duties of the United States commissioner.

"'And it shall not be lawful to appoint any of the officers named in this section receiver or receivers in any case or cases now pending or that may be hereafter brought in the courts of the United States.

"'And with contempt calculated to bring the judiciary of the United States into disrepute, and strongly suggestive of corruption in this, to wit:

"That on Sept. 26, 1901, he appointed Max H. Whitney, who was then his private secretary, receiver of the property and effects of the Woods Motor Vehicle company, as will appear from a certified copy of a portion of the record in said cause, filed herewith and made a part of this charge.

Large Assets, Small Debts.

"It appears from this record that the defendant company was capitalized for $10,000,000, owned two large manufacturing plants in Chicago, had established agencies in the cities of New York, Washington, D. C.; St. Louis, Jersey City, and in almost every state in the United States, and in the cities of London, England; Sidney, New South Wales; Honolulu, and numerous places in foreign countries. The company was indebted, as alleged, to the amount of $120,000.

"The assets, exclusive of letters patent and patent rights, were alleged 'if carefully and prudently conserved and handled' to be worth more than $250,000; but that 'unless at once conserved through the medium of a receiver will be substantially lost.' The illness of the president of the company was alleged, and that the other officers had resigned and the stockholders had been unable to find a competent and trustworthy person to act in the place and stead of the secretary and treasurer, hence the alleged necessity for the appointment of a receiver.

Savoring of Corruption.

"I do not wish to remark at all upon the question whether this bill, which showed the corporation to be solvent, gave the court jurisdiction; or whether a court of chancery has any jurisdiction, at the suit of a stockholder, to wind up a corporation, or to wind up in such suit a foreign corporation.

"These charges are based upon violation of statute and conduct savoring of corruption, not upon Mr. Kohlsaat's ignorance of law or errors of judgment.

"The court appointed his private secretary, Max H. Whitney, receiver immediately upon the filing of the bill.

"The court on June 4, 1902, ordered a sale of the assets of the company, which took place on July 2, 1902, and the property was sold to one Walter H. Lee for $27,500.

Purchaser a Stool Pigeon.

"This purchaser was a stool pigeon. Steps were taken that same month to organize under the laws of Illinois a new corporation, to be known as the Woods Motor Vehicle company, having a capital stock of $150,000. A license was issued July 31, 1902. The stock was subscribed as follows:

	Shares.	Amount.
Jacob Newman	65	$ 6,500
S. O. Levinson	65	6,500
H. V. Becker	65	6,500
A. G. Becker	100	10,000
Arthur L. Schwartz	1,205	120,500

"You will observe that these subscribers were the members of the firm of Newman, Northrup & Levinson, the attorneys who appeared for the corporation and people related to them. The subscriber, Arthur L. Schwartz, was a clerk in the office of Newman, Northrup & Levinson. Mr. B. M. Becker is likewise a member. Mr. A. G. Becker is a dealer in commercial paper in this city. I am advised that in fact the assets were paid for by funds derived from the court's receiver.

"The record shows that Newman, Northrup & Levinson represented creditors, and as Mr. Whitney is a lawyer his need of employing solicitors is not apparent, yet in his report to the court he retains $7,750 'as compensation for himself and his solicitors,' exclusive of the amounts heretofore paid by the undersigned to himself and to his solicitors on account of services, including the sum of $3,500 paid by him to his solicitors.'

"This sale enabled the receiver to pay a 25 per cent dividend on claims filed aggregating $20,034, and the court so ordered. We find that the receiver had before been allowed the sum of $1,500 by stipulation of counsel and order of court.

Judge Protects His Receiver.

"The judge was evidently desirous of protecting his receiver in his bargains relating to assets which he was administering, and so directed the transfer of—

"'The sole and exclusive right to use the name "Woods Motor Vehicle company" or any modification thereof, together with the good will, trade names, and corporate name of said Woods Motor Vehicle company, and the sole and exclusive right to organize a corporation under the name and style of "Woods Motor Vehicle company" or any modification of said name.

"'The sole and exclusive right to use said name, "Woods Motor Vehicle company" or any modification thereof in connection with the business theretofore carried on by said Woods Motor Vehicle company and now carried on by said Max H. Whitney as such receiver.'

Whitney Both Buyer and Seller.

"Max H. Whitney was both the seller under the orders of the court and at the same time one of the purchasers. He became the president of the new company, to which the property purchased was transferred, and has remained so until the present time, although I am advised since I called your attention to these matters that he has resigned or contemplates doing so.

"I have placed in your hands already recent Dun and Bradstreet's commercial reports, which show this fact, and the large income he enjoys through Judge Kohlsaat.

"Any honest and intelligent court would set aside this entire proceeding as being fraudulent and against public policy.

Judge Has a Vehicle.

"The 'receipts' of this receiver are shown. No payment by Judge Kohlsaat is recorded. He had a Woods motor vehicle, acquired at or about that time, and still owns it; it is stored at the present factory of Mr. Whitney's company.

"During the period of this receivership wherein these extravagant allowances were made to him he remained private secretary to Judge Kohlsaat and drew pay as such, as the records of the department of justice will show.

"An examination of the record will show that Newman, Northrup & Levinson also represented creditors to a large extent, the first three checks drawn on the National Bank of the Republic being drawn in their favor on account of dividends. The fourth check was also in their favor for fees.

"The fifth was to M. H. Whitney, receiver, for fees and for the sum of $3,000; whether this is in addition to the $1,500 and the $7,750 above mentioned, or included in the latter, is not material. The recapitulation places the total legal services paid by the receiver at $7,696 and the total receiver's fees at $4,500.

Violation of Law.

"I therefore charge that the appointment of Max H. Whitney was a violation of the statute referred to.

"That for him to draw pay as private secretary while he was acting as receiver was a fraud upon the United States.

"That for him to act as both buyer and seller is dishonest and contrary to all law and sound principle.

"That for a court to sanction or approve such conduct in its officer brings the law into disrespect.

"That no excuse should be allowed Judge Kohlsaat that he did not know of Mr. Whitney's acts in the premises. He violated the law to appoint him, and the excessive allowances made to him while still private secretary strongly suggest corrupt motives. These facts have been matter of unfavorable comment for years and Judge Kohlsaat has continued to give Mr. Whitney about $10,000 a year, or about double his own salary.

"The private secretary to the court, the court's receiver, and the attorneys for the receiver, all officers of the court, cannot be allowed to traffic in the assets being administered by the court.

Appoints His Own Son.

II.

"I charge said Christian C. Kohlsaat with gross and persistent violations of section 7 of the act of Aug. 13, 1888 (25 U. S. Stat. 437), which reads as follows:

"'That no person related to any justice or judge of any court of the United States by affinity or consanguinity within the degree of first cousin shall hereafter be appointed by such court or judge to, or employed by such court or judge in, any office or duty in any court of which such justice or judge may be a member.'

"in this, that he appointed his son, E. C. Kohlsaat, his private secretary, and that he held and retained such position for the period of two years; that during said period he repeatedly violated said statute by referring matters to him and appointing him to the discharge of divers duties under said judge, for which allowances were made. The original appointment was, as is submitted, illegal and forbidden by law, and each subsequent appointment was likewise a violation of law. I submit herewith a few instances of such appointments, and have the honor to request that a full investigation be made of the total allowances made to this and other private secretaries of Judge Kohlsaat during his incumbency as District judge.

"I am advised by what I deem reliable authority that in each and every instance it will be found that the emoluments of the 'private secretary' from all sources far exceed the salary of Judge Kohlsaat. I have heretofore submitted to you the reports from the Dun and Bradstreet's commercial agencies, which credit Mr. Whitney with an income of $10,000 a year from the court. This information presumably comes from him.

"I charge that a judge cannot thus constantly violate the provisions of acts of congress and contrary thereto make allowances to young men without experience, who are his subordinates, without bringing the law into disrepute and raising a suspicion that the judge himself profits by such violations of the statute.

Brings Courts Into Disrepute.

III.

"I charge said Christian C. Kohlsaat with conduct calculated to bring the administration of justice into disrepute, in that he almost daily, and sometimes many times on the same day, appoints his present private secretary, Henry W. Wales Jr., to various offices and duties in his said court, for which allowances are made to him to be paid by the litigants in said cause. I refer to the table filed herewith giving the number and name of some of the cases in which this has been done. I have not had time to make a complete list. Such cases are numerous and frequent. This private secretary is paid by public money. If these are duties appertaining to his position they should be discharged for the salary allowed by law. If not such duties, then he should not be paid by the government and given special allowance. It will be found that his emoluments from all sources exceed the salary of Judge Kohlsaat.

Unbecoming a Judge.

IV.

"I charge said Christian C. Kohlsaat with conduct unbecoming a judge and calculated to bring the administration of justice into disrepute in his continued favoritism to one Henry L. Wilson and the firm of Newman, Northrup & Levinson.

"The said Henry L. Wilson had an office with Judge Kohlsaat when the latter was judge of the Probate court. He enjoyed almost a monopoly of the probate business before his friend and associate, Judge Kohlsaat; he was unknown in the federal court.

"When Judge Kohlsaat came to his present position he suddenly became prominent in that court; he is constantly appointed receiver, and the aggregate allowances made to him are large. I will have a table prepared showing these allowances if time is given therefor. I do not say anything about the stories that are afloat as to the division of these allowances, as I do not wish to speak of anything not in the records. I do assert, however, that such stories are in circulation. If the administration of justice should be above suspicion of venality or favoritism this is important.

One Firm Can Override Law.

"It is well known that if extraordinary orders are sought that Newman, Northrup & Levinson must be retained.

"For example, take the two bankruptcy cases now pending—viz.: the Acme Harvester company case and that of S. R. Gross, the real estate dealer; these have been pending a year or more and neither one has been adjudged a bankrupt. In the meantime the creditors are enjoined from pursuing legal remedies and the debtors are negotiating settlements. In other words, the bankrupt court is made the haven of refuge for the debtor and the creditors are in effect compelled to accept the debtor's terms, because the court does not permit them to pursue their legal remedies. The law firm mentioned was instrumental in the two cases named in securing this action; preferred creditors whose liens would have been set aside under the law if an adjudication had been made are thus secured in such liens. I charge that such action on the part of the court is in direct contravention of the bankrupt law.

Brother-in-Law Appointed.

V.

"I charge said Christian C. Kohlsaat with the violation of section 7 of the act of Aug. 13, 1888 (25 Stat. 437), quoted supra, in that he has on divers and sundry occasions appointed his brother-in-law, George V. Smith, appraiser of the bankrupt's assets; e. g. in case 1901, on Feb. 28, 1903. There are many other similar cases, reference to which I will hand to the representative of the department of justice if prepared by the time he arrives.

Appointment of Hopkins' Son.

VI.

"I charge said Christian C. Kohlsaat with conduct calculated to bring the judiciary of the United States into disrepute, and strongly suggestive of corruption, in that he appointed James S. Hopkins a master in chancery in the United States court; the said James S. Hopkins is a young man, but recently graduated from the law school, and is possessed of neither the age, experience, or legal learning which is required for the incumbent of such a position; he is, however, the son of Albert J. Hopkins, the junior senator from Illinois, and the bill creating additional judicial positions was then pending.

"It is true that under the law the other judges and the presiding justice for this circuit are participants in appointments of masters in chancery, but upon some theory which the law does not contemplate some of these judges have, in excuse of this appointment, stated that the appointment 'belonged to' Judge Kohlsaat, and it is a well known fact that he is responsible for the appointment.

"Morally, there can be no distinction between barter in public office or place and the sale of place for a money consideration. In this instance it would have served better the interests of this circuit if the consideration had been cash paid for support of Mr. Kohlsaat's judicial aspirations, as then there might have been the opportunity to secure the appointment of a suitable master in chancery.

"That this conduct did actually bring the judiciary into disrepute is evidenced by the fact that it was the subject of investigation by the Bar association; was everywhere condemned by the members of the bar, and that it received severe and unsparing criticism by leading newspapers and periodicals of the country.

"I charge that such conduct on the part of a judge evinces such a coarseness and lack of perception of what he owes to the position and public as to betray a character unfit for public place.

"Respectfully submitted,

"CHARLES H. ALDRICH."

SCORE PERISH IN FLAMES.

POLICE AND FIREMEN HEROES AT NEW YORK FIRE.

Big Tenement House Destroyed and Forty Persons Injured—Fire Escapes Blocked by Rubbish and Most of Victims Are Imprisoned on the Upper Floor—Many Cower on Iron Ladders with Flames About Them—Rescuers Risk Lives Repeatedly.

New York, March 14.—[Special.]—In a fire which destroyed a five story tenement house in Allen street early today, nineteen persons were burned to death, forty were injured, some so severely that they may die, and nearly 200 persons were made homeless. Scores were rescued by firemen and police, who risked their own lives repeatedly.

It was a typical east side fire, and most of the persons who perished were caught in a trap on the upper floor because the hallways leading to nearly all the fire escapes were obstructed by piles of rubbish and because the skylight was battened down. A pile of bodies was found beneath it.

Scores Cower on Fire Escapes.

The fire started from an explosion of a kerosene lamp in the basement and swept up through hallways and light shafts. Scores of men, women, and children, driven from the rooms by the flames, cowered high in the air on the hot iron ladders and platforms, the flames swirling around them as they waited for help. Through the flames and smoke time after time the firemen rushed up to their assistance and every time meant a life saved.

From the fire escape, too, the men plunged through windows belching flames to come forth a moment later bearing an unconscious form to some place of safety.

One of the escapes, which ended near the roof of a shed twenty feet above the ground, had been manned by Policeman John J. Dwan, who had run a plank across to the window of an adjoining building. Nearly a dozen persons had been carried across this narrow bridge by the policeman when the flames began to sweep around the lower end of the fire escape. Rushing into the fire, the policeman seized a little child and started on the last return trip across to the place of safety.

He had made only half the distance, when the plank, burned more than half through, broke where it rested on the fire escape and the rescuer and rescued fell to the stone paved yard. The man struck on his back and one of his shoulders was broken. The child was uninjured.

Lieut. Bonner Nearly Killed.

More heroes developed at this time. Lieut. Bonner, son of the former fire chief, ascended the red hot fire escapes five times. Four times he came down with a woman or a child in his arms. The fifth time he was making for the street with an unconscious woman when his strength gave way. He staggered and would have fallen to death had not a comrade come to his assistance.

As Bonner reached a fourth story window on one of his ascents and dragged a little girl from a window, where she stood surrounded by flames, she pleaded with him to leave her on the escape and go in after her little brother, whom she had carried to the window. He was unconscious. Bonner jumped through the window, and it seemed to those below as if he was going into a furnace. He found the little boy just inside the window and carried him out.

See Woman Roasted to Death.

A woman, her night dress blazing, was seen to crawl out of a window and start down the fire escape from the top floor. The hot iron blistered her feet and burnt deep into her flesh but she continued on. The scaling ladders were run up close to the escape and a fireman almost had reached her when flames covered her like a wave and bore her down. She fell back and died in sight of the crowd.

At the rear two men and two women were seen on the escapes. The women came first, and every step was blocked by some can or box or rubbish. The men would hurl the obstacle into the yard. The four were between the third and fourth floors when flames enveloped them and they fell and were roasted to death.

Through the smoke another figure was seen on the fire escape on the fifth floor. No one could tell whether it was man or woman. The clothes were aflame. In a moment the victim sank to the escape and died.

In the center of a bundle, wrapped around by several blankets and thrown to the ground, was found a 4 year old boy, uninjured. The fate of the mother is not known.

Coroner Goldenkranz declared after an investigation that he had reason to believe the blaze was of incendiary origin.

RED LIQUOR IN TEA CUPS ORDERED BY "LADY SLEUTHS."

Mysterious Woman "Detectives" Figure in Police Crusade Against Wicked All Night Saloons and Restaurants.

The "lady detective" is the latest development in the police crusade against saloons and restaurants that violate the 1 o'clock closing ordinance. Ever since THE TRIBUNE'S exposé of conditions in North Clark street her existence has been kept a secret by Chief O'Neill, whose professional protégé she is. Likewise the chief refuses to say how many there are of her.

"All I can say is that there will be the biggest kind of a shakeup within a few days and a good many saloon and restaurant men may lose their licenses," said the chief yesterday.

The business of the lady detective, as explained to her by the chief, is to patronize places under suspicion, where a policeman or male detective would be "spotted" immediately, and inquire, "In a genteel, ladylike way," whether the management will be so kind as to serve a drink of spirituous liquor in a coffee cup.

The chivalry of Chicago saloon and restaurant keepers, it has been found, is not calculated to be proof against this request, even after 1 o'clock in the morning.

The saloons in North Clark street, near Division, apparently obeyed the letter of the law when closing time arrived this morning. Screens and curtains were drawn back and an unobstructed view of the quiet interiors was obtained. Near the bridge, however, the indications were that the initiated got drinks. Doors were closed in most instances and the bartenders refused to sell anything. Brightly lighted rooms above the saloons looked suspiciously bright, however, and many persons passed up and down the stairways.

SHOE SALESMAN IS ROBBED ON ARRIVAL IN CHICAGO.

Oscar L. Larson Held Up Near Clark and Ohio Streets, Watch and Money Taken—Police Make Arrest.

Fifteen minutes after he arrived in Chicago, Oscar L. Larson, a shoe salesman of Springfield, Ill., was robbed last night of $42 and a watch valued at $35.

When Larson left the railroad station he boarded a North Clark street car, which he left at Ohio street. Half a block east a man stopped him, thrusting a revolver toward him and commanding:

"Hands up."

Larson did not obey the order on the instant and was struck on the head with the butt of the revolver. The robber then pulled the salesman close to a building, rifled his pockets, and fled east in Ohio street.

Detective William Matthews of the East Chicago avenue station made a tour of the district with Larson and arrested Frank Richter, whom, it is said, the salesman identified as his assailant.

Makes Arrest on Street Car.—Detective William Egan of the Desplaines street police station prevented a holdup on a Blue Island avenue cable car and arrested two men, who gave the names of Frank McCoy and Harry Johnson, early yesterday morning. The men jostled Patrick Ryan, a plumber living at 835 West Twenty-first street, and, it is said, tried to rob him when the car was at Harrison street.

Robbed in Clark Street.—J. R. Klinker, a salesman for La Crosse, Wis., concern, was robbed of $27 and an overcoat last evening while on the south approach to the Clark street bridge. Two men, with the aid of a revolver, effected the holdup.

WOMAN CAPTURES THE MAN SHE ACCUSED OF SWINDLING.

Mrs. Rounds Holds Until the Police Arrive Man Said to Be Wanted in Several States.

Despite his struggles, Mrs. Minnie Rounds, 422 Adams street, last evening held until the arrival of the police a man believed to be wanted in several states on the charge of swindling. The captive gave the name of Charles E. Raymond and said he resided with his wife and two children at 422 Warren avenue.

Within the last few months frequent complaints have been made by persons who said they had been swindled by a man declaring he represented an advertising agency with headquarters in Milwaukee. Two detectives were detailed on the case and traced the alleged solicitor to the west side, where they lost track of him.

Mrs. Rounds was approached by Raymond, who wanted to advertise her property for sale. She recognized the man as the one to whom she paid $4.85 two months ago. She attacked him with an umbrella and prevented him from escaping.

The police found in the man's possession letters from many firms and a list of more than 800 supposed victims. There also was a note signed "Miss Agnes Bransky, 467 East Second street, Winona, Minn.," accusing the man of swindling the writer and taking her watch, ring, and other jewelry.

WILL TRY TUNNEL CASES.

JUDGE TUTHILL REFUSES TO QUASH THE INDICTMENTS.

Charges of Forgery and Perjury to Be Passed On by Juries—Defendants Are A. G. Wheeler, William Loeffler, E. J. Novak, Edward Ehrhorn, and James Higgins—Attorney Mayer Says Speedy Hearing Is Wanted by the Defendants.

The five men under indictment on charges of forgery and perjury in the Illinois tunnel case will be obliged to face trial in the Criminal court as the result of Judge Tuthill's decision yesterday. The judge denied the motion to quash the indictments.

The accused persons, Albert G. Wheeler, president of the Illinois Tunnel company; William Loeffler, former alderman and city clerk; ex-Ald. Edward J. Novak, Edward H. Ehrhorn, assistant city clerk; and City Printer James Higgins, were all in court when Judge Tuthill announced that he would not dismiss the indictments. Assistant State's Attorney E. C. Lindley promptly demanded that the defendants be arraigned and in response Attorney Levy Mayer entered pleas of not guilty for each of the men.

Attorney Mayer said after the decision that his clients were anxious to have a speedy trial. When the cases will be set is not yet known, although that of President Wheeler probably will be called first.

Finding of Judge Tuthill.

In rendering his decision Judge Tuthill held that the changing of the city council records might affect property rights. The defense had maintained that, even if forgery were admitted, property rights had not been affected.

The court reviewed the ordinance of Feb. 20, 1899, which authorized the construction of conduits and wires in the streets. He asserted that the indictments set out the ordinance in full and showed that the plans were on file with the commissioner of public works showing the streets to be used. He then referred to the allegations of the indictments that larger tunnels than provided for in the plans and permits had been constructed.

In speaking of the effect of forgery upon property rights the court said:

"The forgery of the record, in fact, neither could create, diminish, or destroy the legal rights of the city, but it could purport to, just as any other instrument could purport to, create rights."

The same order requiring the defendants to plead to the indictments was entered in both the forgery and perjury cases.

Labor Committee Asked for Proof.

Another invitation was sent to the tunnel investigating committee of the Chicago Federation of Labor by the council judiciary committee to appear and furnish evidence of bribery in connection with the passage of the tunnel grants. President Dold of the federation said the investigating committee would not accept the invitation.

MORMON PERIL IS NATION'S MENACE

Senator Dubois Declares Practices of the Church Danger to Country.

CITES DEFIANCE OF LAW.

Arraigns Hierarchy for Its Political Policy in Various Western States.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Senator Fred T. Dubois of Idaho talked to the mothers' congress tonight on "The Purity of the Home," his speech being chiefly a severe arraignment of the doctrines and practices of Mormonism. He declared with emphasis that there should be no toleration of the present teachings and practices of the Mormon hierarchy, and in suggesting a remedy said:

"It is the duty of the United States senate so to act on the case of Senator Apostle Reed Smoot as to serve notice on the polygamous head of this church and his apostles that they must live within the law; that the nation is supreme; that the institutions of this country must prevail throughout the land; and, second, there should be an amendment of our constitution wide enough in its scope to place plural marriage and political control by the church entirely out of the realm of possibility."

Declares Mormonism Menaces.

Senator Dubois declared that Mormonism is a decided if not the greatest single menace which confronts us as a people. Polygamy, he said, was practiced by Joseph Smith as early as 1841, as a command from God, and it has been practiced from that day to this in defiance of all law. Then the senator continued:

"The president of the Mormon church and more than one-half of the apostles are openly living in polygamy today, and the testimony taken before the committee shows that several of the apostles have entered into polygamous marriages since the issuance of the manifesto. It is known that new polygamous marriages are being constantly entered into.

"The political strength of this organization has vastly increased until now, in addition to absolutely controlling Utah, they hold the balance of power in Idaho and Wyoming, and are spreading over and threatening Oregon and Nevada, and have a following of no inconsiderable importance in other western states. Their great aim is political power, so as to protect them in their polygamous practices. It is impossible now to elect a senator from Utah, Idaho, or Wyoming who will openly oppose the methods or practices of the governing power of the Mormon church. I do not mean to be understood by this statement that the Mormon hierarchy is strong enough to select the senators in Idaho and Wyoming, but I do say that they are sufficiently powerful to defeat any one for the United States senate in either of those states if they desire to.

Says Smith Is Immune.

"Notwithstanding the testimony which Joseph F. Smith gave before the senate committee, no one has the temerity in Utah to undertake to prosecute him and it is utterly impossible to enforce the laws of Utah against him. In Idaho the condition is the same—the head of the Mormon church there, President William Budge, testified before the senate committee that he was living with three wives, and that they had borne him children since the manifesto, yet the Idaho legislature, which has just adjourned, could not put on our statute books laws under which President Budge or any other polygamist or person living in polygamous relations can be convicted and punished."

Would Overthrow Mormon President.

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 14.—[Special.]—C. A. Smurthwaite of Ogden, one of the high priests of the Mormon church and a leading business man of Utah, has issued an open letter to the higher authorities of the church, in which he calls upon the rank and file to rise and rid the church of what he calls the "religious, commercial, and business tyranny exercised by President Joseph F. Smith."

Smurthwaite charges that the spiritual part of the Mormon belief is being made subordinate to commercialism in political manipulation, and that the religious and civic liberty guaranteed by the constitution of the United States is denied members of the Mormon church. He quotes Smith's testimony at Washington to support the contention that Smith is not fit to be the head of the church, and cites instances where business competition has been throttled by Smith's exercise of priestly authority. Smurthwaite further demands an accounting of the immense sums of money paid into the church treasury in the form of tithing.

Former United States Senator Frank J. Cannon, editor of the Salt Lake Tribune, was excommunicated from the Mormon church today. The action was based on editorials written by Editor Cannon, assailing the policy of the higher authorities of the church.

TURNS ESTATE INTO TRUST.

H. Clay Pierce of St. Louis Organizes $5,000,000 of Property Into Corporation to Safeguard Heirs.

St. Louis, Mo., March 14.—H. Clay Pierce has organized his estate into a trust, the first corporation of the kind in Missouri, and possibly in the country, formed primarily to safeguard the interests of the organizer's heirs. It is capitalized for $5,000,000, and Mr. Pierce holds all of the 50,000 shares of stock except four. One share each is held by Clay Arthur Pierce, son; Eben Richards, son-in-law; Stephen Johnson, brother-in-law; and John D. Johnson, personal attorney of Mr. Pierce.

DUNNE ON STUMP ANSWERS HARLAN

AT TWO BIG MEETINGS.

Reads Long Statement on Traction Issue and Replies to Questions.

For the first time since his nomination for mayor Judge Edward F. Dunne spoke last night in public in his own behalf. At Douglas hall, Indiana avenue and Thirty-fifth street, he addressed 1,500 persons, reading from manuscript a lengthy statement of his position on the means of obtaining immediate municipal ownership, and later in Forum hall, Calumet avenue and Forty-third street, he answered extemporaneously before 1,200 citizens the questions propounded to him by John M. Harlan. At each hall the democratic candidate was hailed with great enthusiasm.

At the Forum hall meeting the judge launched at once into the replies to the questions propounded to him by the republican candidate.

Replies to Harlan's Questions.

"Mr. Harlan has asked me to answer four questions," said the jurist, drawing a typewritten statement from his pocket. "In the first one he asks me to tell whether I did not have a conference with R. R. Govin of the Union Traction company in a certain room and asks me to say whether William Bross Lloyd was not there, and asks what we talked about and what prices were discussed by us.

"Now, my friends, when I saw that question reported in the papers as one which Mr. Harlan had demanded-I should answer, I felt that by innuendo my integrity and honor had been assailed. I said as much to the reporters at my courtroom that morning, and my answer to that question was reported in the papers. But I shall say again that I did meet Mr. Govin in a certain room and Mr. Lloyd was there, as well as eight or nine other gentlemen. That was a conference held last May and announced in advance and chronicled afterward in the papers. It was before Judge Dunne or any one else had any idea that Judge Dunne would be a candidate for mayor. It was the result of a correspondence between Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Govin.

Tells What Govin Was Asked.

"Inasmuch as there was a tentative ordinance to be presented to the City railway and none for the Union Traction company we asked Mr. Govin if he thought the latter company would sell out at a fair price to the city and whether he would advise his clients to accept Mueller law certificates. Mr. Govin said he could not answer, but that he would as a party to bringing a lawsuit to establish the value of the certificates. That, gentlemen, is the mysterious conference in a certain room to which Mr. Harlan refers."

After the applause which greeted this reply Judge Dunne again referred to the list of questions.

"'Why does not the democratic platform specifically declare for a referendum on the settlement of the traction question?' is the second question Mr. Harlan propounds," continued the candidate. "I shall read you from the democratic platform itself the declaration that we are in favor of the referendum under a public policies act, and that we go further and demand that it be made binding on all officials.

"And even if he couldn't find it in our platform, doesn't Mr. Harlan know that the Mueller law, which he himself advocated at Springfield, contains a provision that the question of municipal ownership must be submitted to a vote of the people. In the matter of the issuing of certificates a three-fifths referendum vote is required, and for the issue of bonds a two-thirds vote. I believe the Mueller law certificates are valid, and so does Judge Tuley, and I suppose Mr. Harlan, who is a good lawyer, does, too, or he would not have advocated a bill in which there was an illegality."

Touches on the $80,000,000.

This explanation satisfied the audience, as was evidenced by the applause, and then Judge Dunne took up Mr. Harlan's inquiry as to how he came to name $80,000,000 as the sum he would have the city pay for the traction lines.

"In my speech of acceptance," said the candidate, "I said that Chicago can pay the companies full value for their property and franchises and reequip and modernize the systems for less than $80,000,000. The friends of the street car companies have held all along that they must have a twenty year franchise, because it would be necessary to spend $50,000,000 on the rehabilitation of the plants. D. C. Hamilton said it would be necessary to spend $15,000,000 on the south side system alone. On the same basis it would be necessary to put $30,000,000 into the north and west systems. That would make $45,000,000 in all. Counting in the tangible property, which the Arnold report valued at $27,000,000, you will have $72,000,000 for the entire properties.

Why Traction Men Are Displeased.

"Now, my distinguished opponent wishes to know also in what respect the democratic platform is not acceptable to the traction interests. Mr. Harlan will know why if he will read that plank in the platform which declares that all negotiations with the traction companies for a renewal of franchises should be broken off and that no franchise extensions be granted. Is that plank acceptable to J. P. Morgan & Co., who have in the last few weeks invested $25,000,000 in tangible street car property in this city?"

Speaking of means for acquiring immediate municipal ownership, the candidate said:

"If condemnation must be resorted to it will be the kind of condemnation proceedings which can be 'pushed' swiftly—litigation which, under the law on public rights, can be speedily instituted and concluded—not the kind of traction litigation which has been dragging through the courts in the last two years."

At the Forum meeting a former republican, Hiram B. Turner, candidate of alderman in the Sixth ward on the democratic ticket, also spoke. Speeches also were made by the minor candidates and by James Hamilton Lewis, Francis W. Walker, Adam Ortseifen, and Samuel Alschuler.

Meeting in Douglas Hall.

The earlier meeting was held in Douglas hall. The judge was accompanied there by Mrs. Dunne, Mrs. Thomas Waters, and Mrs. M. L. Kelly, who, together with Mrs. Patrick White, Miss Mary Lee White, Mrs. Nate Stone, and Mrs. Robert Redfield, occupied seats near the stage in the balcony.

Judge Dunne spoke in quiet tones and with a restraint of manner which lent his appearance more than judicial dignity. He explained that he read his speech for the reason that the issues were extremely important and he wished no misunderstanding.

He said:

"The coming election probably will be the most important municipal election that has been held in the United States for at least half a century; important not only in its effect upon the people of Chicago but in its effect upon every municipality in this country. Upon its result depends the question as to whether or not American cities are to take the course pursued by European and Australasian cities in owning and operating their own street car systems, or whether the cities of America shall adhere to the mistaken course hitherto followed in farming out the management of their utilities to private capitalists.

"By reason of the fact that most of the important franchises which hitherto have been granted to private corporations giving them the right to own and operate street cars upon its streets have expired, Chicago is placed in the unique position of being called upon before any other great American city to decide this question.

Morgan Has $25,000,000 Invested.

"The gravity and importance of the situation cannot be overestimated. Within the last few weeks the great firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. of New York has, through three authorized agents—Marshall Field, F. A. Valentine, and John J. Mitchell of this city—invested the enormous sum of $25,000,000 for the purchase of two-thirds of the stock of the Chicago City railway company. All of the tangible property of that company at a liberal estimate is not worth more than $12,000,000. Yet that great financial firm has within the last thirty days paid out, it is reported in the papers, $25,000,000 in hard cash for two-thirds of the stock of the Chicago City railway company. For this immense amount of money they have received $8,000,000 worth of tangible property and the mere prospect of obtaining from the citizens of Chicago an extension on their present franchises.

Expectations Based on a Platform.

"J. Pierpont Morgan & Co.'s expectation of an extension of franchises must be based upon the republican platform and the republican candidate or upon the democratic platform and the democratic candidate. Let us carefully consider first the platforms of the respective parties with relation to the traction issue.

"The republican platform declares for municipal ownership and operation 'when the city shall be legally and financially able successfully to adopt it.' The use of these three adverbs in the republican platform leaves the question of time as to when the city shall attempt to own and operate in a delightful state of uncertainty. Does it mean today, does it mean ten years hence, does it mean twenty years hence, or a century hence? None can tell. It is left absolutely to the judgment of the officials who may be elected upon that platform to hereafter answer when that time shall come.

"The republican platform further declares that no extension of franchise should be given that does not meet the approval of the citizens of Chicago. This is simply the declaration of a truism. It deliberately refrains from declaring that no franchise shall or must be given.

"The democratic platform, in contrast with the republican platform, is clear, definite, and distinct. Following out the mandates of that platform, no extension of franchises of any character could be given by the city officials elected upon the democratic ticket to either the Chicago City Railway company or to any other corporation.

Compares the Two Candidates.

"Such being the platform, let us now examine the records of the candidates. Both of us have been before the public for over twelve years, he in private and I in public station. During this campaign I shall indulge in no personalities, and I shall endeavor to treat my opponent with the fairness and justness to which his prominent position before the public for several years entitles him. I shall only discuss his attitude on public questions as contained in his own language upon different occasions, and if I shall find that his attitude and position as declared from his own lips places him in inconsistent positions, it is for the public to determine whether or not he is inconsistent and whether or not he is sincere or vacillating in his course.

"On Dec. 12, 1898, the republican candidate, as he is quoted in the Record, one of the papers now supporting him most energetically, said: 'The mayor has committed himself before this audience to the principles of municipal ownership twenty years hence. Gentlemen, the people of Chicago want it now. If the people want it, then I say it is their property, and now is the accepted time. . . . I want to say now that if the Allen law is repealed and the present mayor of Chicago, by whose side I am now fighting, and am glad to fight, announces the proposition that he favors a twenty year, or any other franchise, at this time, at any per cent of compensation whatever, I shall be as ready to fight him on that proposition.' This was my opponent's attitude over six years ago.

City Now Authorized to Act.

"The Mueller bill has been passed since then and the city under its provisions now is legally authorized to own and operate street cars, the operation dependent, however, upon a referendum of its citizens. The republican candidate since the adoption of his platform nearly a month ago never once has declared for immediate municipal ownership in any of his numerous speeches. He has not once used the word 'Now,' the insistent word that he used in December, 1898. Why this omission? Has he not changed his views most materially? Is it not remarkable that a man who declared for immediate municipal ownership when the law did not empower the city to own or operate, should now, when the law does authorize the city to own and operate, fail to make a similar demand."

The judge denounced the so-called tentative ordinance now before the council, and then he proceeded to expound his own views on the whole question. He said:

"In contrast with my opponent's position I have only to say that for years, in season and out of season, I have been advocating the cause of municipal ownership; that I always have maintained that the city, since the passage of the Mueller bill, was in a position legally and financially to own and operate its street car systems successfully.

Judge Explains Own Position.

"Again, my opponent declares that I am committed to a policy of paying $50,000,000 to the present companies for their property, which he terms 'junk.' The republican candidate had before him my speech of acceptance when he made this charge, and he knew at the time that what I said was as follows: 'If private companies, having only the security offered by the tangible property and by the twenty year franchises, can raise $117,000,000 on $27,000,000 worth of actual property, what is to prevent the city of Chicago now, on much better security, as above indicated, raising the same amount of money?

"'It will not be necessary to raise any such amount. The city of Chicago can today, unless I am most egregiously mistaken, not only pay the present companies full value for all the property and franchises they now own to the last cent but can reequip and modernize the present broken down plants for less than $80,000,000.'

"My opponent knew that in making this statement I covered not only the tangible and intangible property of the present roads but also the cost of reequipment and modernization.

Demands Statement from Harlan.

"To test the issue as between the democratic and republican parties and between myself and my distinguished opponent, I now ask him to declare as the representative of the republican party whether or not he is in favor of the so-called tentative ordinance as adopted by the local transportation committee of the city council and recommended to the people by the four republican members of that committe—Ald. Bennett, Foreman, Raymer, and Hunter—three of whom are now seeking reelection upon the same ticket with himself. Let him squarely answer the people of this city whether or not, if elected, he will be in favor of the so-called tentative ordinance or any ordinance of like character.

"One word more and I have done. It has been asserted that municipal ownership would increase taxes should the city take over the street car lines, acquiring a full ownership of them by the issuance of street car certificates. It would not cost the general taxpayers of Chicago 1 cent. It would in no wise increase the tax burdens of the people of Chicago. More than $5,000,000 have been diverted from the earnings of the municipal water department to pay for sewers. In this way the general taxes of the people have been reduced $5,000,000 by reason of the fact that the city has municipal ownership of its water works."

Judge Dunne will speak at Horan's hall, Harrison and Halsted streets, this evening.

CITY OWNERSHIP BIG PROBLEM.

Prof. Hugo Meyer Says General Public Is Not Fitted to Pass Judgment on It.

Municipal ownership of street car lines and electric lighting plants is a subject understood by few persons, and one on which, without deep study, the general public is not fitted to pass judgment, according to Prof. Hugo R. Meyer of the University of Chicago.

Prof. Meyer, in an address at the university yesterday, said the paralysis of Great Britain's industries has resulted from the attitude of the nation towards municipal ownership.

"Tens of thousands of workingmen are without employment, and the public is poorly served, as the result of the government ownership of car lines, electric light and gas plants, in Great Britain," he said.

"It is a fallacy to think that governments are munificent. They are not even intelligent. We have trusted a good many years to the corporations and captains of industry to develop industries, and the industries have been developed to supply the demand."

REGISTRY LIGHT; 45,737 NEW NAMES

Thousands of These Must Be Taken Off When the Books Are Revised.

Registration was light yesterday, much lighter than was expected. Only 45,737 names were put on the registry books, while at the similar registration two years ago 66,709 were added. It was not enough to offset the names which will have to be stricken off on revision, and there is no doubt that after revision the books will show fewer names than were listed last fall.

Nominally there are 448,925 names of voters now registered, but this figure is misleading. It represents the 403,188 registered in October and the 45,737 who went to the places of registration yesterday. From this total will be deducted the number of names taken off on revision, including voters who have moved since the last election, left the city, or died, and it will not be until this subtraction is made that the real figures showing the number of people entitled to vote for mayor next month will be known.

Little Advantage to Either Side.

As far as any political advantage is shown by the results there is not much choice between the two parties. The democrats claim they got the better of it in that so many of their voters were not registered last fall that most of the people who registered yesterday must of necessity have been of their party. The republican answer to that is that the registration was light in every ward, democratic as well as republican, and there is nothing to indicate that any party had an advantage. In fact, the registration so evidently fell short of accounting for the voters who had moved since last fall that it does not indicate any marked interest in the election in any part of the city.

The thing the republicans have to console themselves with and which they claim clearly indicates they have the better of the registration is that there is no question that last fall the members of their party were much better registered than were the democrats and with the indifferent results of yesterday the registry is practically left as it was then.

Disappointment to Democrats.

For this reason the registration is a disappointment for the democrats. They made every effort to get their voters out and had felt confident of a good degree of success. Chairman Wenter during the afternoon estimated the day's registration at 75,000, and all the other democratic leaders made similar claims.

Instead of meeting their expectations, however, the registration not only did not exceed the figures of two years ago but fell badly behind them. The total then, after revision, was 373,242, and while revision this year will hardly bring the totals down to this figure, as the books had the registration for a presidential year to start with, the few names added yesterday as compared with March, 1903, would indicate a lighter vote next month than was cast at the Harrison-Stewart contest of two years ago.

Result in Stockyards District.

The most consolation the democrats could get out of the new figures was in the stockyards wards, the Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, and Thirty-first. There, while the registration was not so large as that of 1903, it came nearer to it than any other part of the city, and this territory is undoubtedly democratic for this election.

In the First, Eighteenth, and the southern part of the Twenty-first wards, however, the lodging house territory, the registration fell off in spite of the best efforts of Ald. Coughlin and Kenna in the First, the friends of Ald. Brennan in the Eighteenth and James A. Quinn in the Twenty-first. While these wards, especially the First and Eighteenth, showed more people registered than any others, still they are not up to their old time marks, and it is in this territory that revision takes the greatest proportion of names off the polling lists. On election day neither the First nor the Eighteenth will show so many voters as last fall, still less the higher figures of two years ago. The absence of any aldermanic contest in these wards doubtless had its effect on keeping down the figures.

Hyde Park and Lake View, the republican strongholds, did about what was expected of them. The voters of this territory were so well registered last fall that if enough of them attended to their duty yesterday to account for the changes in residence, that was all the party managers expected of them. That seems to have been about what was done.

Yesterday's work completes the list of citizens who can vote for mayor next month. There is no later day of registration.

Student Detectives Go Too Far.

An incident of the day was the mistake made by a number of students from the University of Chicago who were sent out by the Hamilton club to check up cases of fraudulent registration in the Eighteenth ward. Their instructors were not well acquainted with the election law, and when, in following their advice, they attempted to take notes of the answers to questions made by the lodging house residents in the Tenth and Twenty-second precincts, at 335 West Madison street, and 196 West Adams street, they were promptly thrown out of the polling places.

The ejected students indignantly appealed to the board of election commissioners, and William Mill, an employé of the board, was sent over to settle the trouble. He informed the amateur detectives that what they had attempted to do was in direct violation of the election law and they had laid themselves liable to from three months to one year's imprisonment.

WEST SIDE HEARS HARLAN

Speaks at Chicago Commons and Jackson Boulevard Church—In Answer to Question at Former Place He Declares He Will Follow Implicitly Any Referendum Giving Definite Result—If Council Breaks Its Pledge Would Veto the Ordinance.

Addressing large audiences last night at the Chicago Commons and at the Jackson Boulevard Christian church, John Maynard Harlan avoided everything but the traction issue. He coined several new phrases in derision of the present system, and pledged himself anew to the referendum.

"The cupidity of the traction men has carved Chicago into three cities so far as fare is concerned," Mr. Harlan told his audience in the church. "This is a condition which will not exist much longer."

"Praise the Lord," shouted a man in the audience.

"Well," retorted Mr. Harlan, "the Lord will not help us. I do not profess to be close to the infinite, but I have an idea that it will be left to us."

Old Style Ownership.

"In the old days," continued the republican candidate for mayor, "the city council was made up largely of municipal ownership men, men who believed in owning everything in the municipality. Their ambition, however, was subjective.

"Now there have bobbed up all over the city some of these same original municipal ownership men. They have remembered some things they did not get before and want to get back for another chance.

"The democratic party is a party of charity. It believes that charity begins at home and that it should help out the poor traction companies by purchasing their old junk.

"The present cars are a collection of cracks held together by a few screws, framed holes, but they stand in the market for $105,000,000. A lawsuit such as the democrats want to start will not get us downtown for business. They would plunge us into a ten year litigation. The democratic platform is as satisfactory to the Union Traction company as if they had framed it.

"There is no mystery about the traction question. We stand for municipal ownership and operation when the people want it. I will submit a concrete ordinance before its final passage to the vote of the people."

Will Stand by Referendum.

At the Chicago Commons, after Mr. Harlan had finished his speech, Prof. Graham Taylor asked him this question:

"As you have promised to abide by the referendum, what would happen if the people should vote that no ordinance at all be drafted to a traction company? Would you stick by the referendum?"

"Of course I would stick by it" answered Mr. Harlan. "I will stand by any referendum that can be definitely determined." He then took the three questions which will be on the little ballot and showed how they are not definite enough.

"If the city council breaks its pledge to give the question to the people I will veto the ordinance. Will they pass it over my veto? Not if you stand by me. We stand for a square deal; that is the essence of the whole thing."

Meetings Tonight.

Mr. Harlan will speak tonight in Library hall, Austin; Pilsen hall, 821 South Ashland avenue; Apollo hall, Twelfth street and Blue Island avenue; and Novotny's hall, Twenty-second and Troy streets.

At 10 a. m. Mr. Harlan will address the members of the Chicago butter and egg board in their rooms at 154 East Lake street.

Will Talk on Care of Alcoholics.

Dr. Louis Mix of the Northwestern University School of Medicine will lecture at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Fine Arts building on "Public Care of Alcoholics, Medical Aspects of the Individual Case, and Relation to Public Dependency."

TEAMSTERS HAVE A SCHEME TO AID CLOTHING STRIKERS.

Drivers Will Not Quit Work, but Will Not "Resist" the "Intimidation" of the Garment Workers' Pickets.

Union teamsters will enter the strike of the garment workers today. The joint plan of campaign against the employers was devised last night by committees from the strikers and the teamsters' joint council after the latter body had refused to sanction a sympathetic strike of any of the drivers' unions. It embraces the new union ideas of "nonresistance" and "flying squadrons."

The teamsters are to supply the first and the garment workers the second parts of the strategic warfare. Drivers will continue to haul goods for the strike bound houses until they meet with interference. Then they will stop their wagons on the ground that both their own lives and their employers' property are being endangered. Squads of pickets from the ranks of the garment workers, posted at opportune points, will furnish the requisite intimidation.

In a clash between pickets and employés of the M. Born Tailoring company, Franklin street and St. Charles place, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, several persons were knocked down and trampled on in a mob. A riot call sent to the Harrison street station brought a wagon load of policemen to the scene, and the crowds were dispersed.

Hoisting engineers now may class themselves among the aristocrats of labor. By an agreement signed with their employers they hereafter will receive wages amounting to $6 a day. With two exceptions—bricklayers and sewer masons—no other workmen can rival the new incomes of these members of the building trades.

BUSINESS MAN DISAPPEARS; FRIENDS FEAR FOUL PLAY.

William B. Kelley, 416 Sedgwick Street, Vice President of Rentz Paper Co., Missing Since Thursday.

The police are searching for William B. Kelley, 416 Sedgwick street, vice president of the Rentz Paper company, who has not been seen since last Thursday noon, when he left his office. All members of the Kelley household, Mrs. Kelley and three children, have become ill since his disappearance.

Frederick Rentz, president of the Rentz Paper company, said last evening:

"Mr. Kelley has been with this company for fourteen years. He left the office to go to the store of William Payne, near Graceland, and was to have stopped at Division and State streets on his return to see E. R. Morris. He was not seen at either place. There is no plausible theory but foul play that we can advance."

Search is being made for Thomas B. Hennessy, head of the Hennessy Table company, 1088 West Lake street. Officials of the Embalmers' Supply company yesterday filed a petition in bankruptcy against the table company. It is alleged in the petition that the "officers, stockholders, and employés have absconded, and they cannot be found."

FIRE CAUSES $200,000 LOSS.

Four Persons Injured When Grand Crossing Tack Company's Plant Is in Flames.

Fire caused a loss estimated at $200,000 at the plant of the Grand Crossing Tack company, Seventy-ninth street and South Chicago avenue yesterday morning. Four persons were injured.

The Injured.

The blaze started shortly after 8 o'clock on the third floor and was caused by crossed electric wires. A tank containing 100 gallons of ammonia was stored in the building and the firemen fought hard to keep the flames from reaching it.

As a result of the fire 550 employés were thrown out of work and 400 more will lose their employment in the steel mill, One Hundred and Eighteenth street and Calumet avenue, which supplied material for the department burned.

SNOWFALL COSTS CITY $1,000.

Although Precipitation Was Light Thirty-five Teams Keep Busy in the Downtown District.

The snowfall in yesterday's storm measured less than half an inch, according to the weather bureau, but it will cost the city nearly $1,000 to clear the downtown district. Thirty-five teams and 200 men are engaged in the work. There will be no more storm today, the forecaster says, but light snow flurries may be expected. Partly cloudy weather is predicted with little change in temperature.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

DIES IN A HOTEL; WOMAN IS MISSING

LOVE IS NOT INSANITY.

Court Discharges Youth Whom Father Has Arrested for Wanting to Marry.

Railroad Director Is Found Dead in Hotel Room.

Henry R. Reed, sugar refiner, of Boston, commissioner of the sinking fund there, director of the Pullman company and of the Boston and Maine railroad, and member of the Somerset club, was found dead this morning in his room at the Grand Union hotel here, apparently from natural causes. Reed had engaged a room on Sunday.

With him was a young woman whom he registered as his wife. Who she is Reed's family do not know, neither do the police, to whom the coroner has referred the case. She left the hotel Monday morning, escorted by Reed, but did not return with him.

The woman has not been seen at the hotel since. Dinner was served to Reed in his room Monday night. About 9 o'clock the chambermaid thought she heard him call. When she knocked, Reed said he wanted nothing. When another maid went to Reed's room this morning she could not get in, and the door was forced.

Reed's body lay on the bed, fully dressed. Two gas jets were burning. A bottle containing white tablets was on the table. These are being analyzed.

Reed's wife and several daughters live in Jamaica Plains, near Boston. He owned a summer place at Marion. No one knows the woman who was with him at the hotel. His relatives and friends propose to have a searching investigation. His physician thinks the tablets found in his room are some he prescribed for rheumatism.

Court Declines to Declare Love Is Insanity.

Philip Heidler was arraigned in the Essex Market police court on the complaint of his father, who declared the boy had been acting strangely for some time past. "What did he do?" asked Magistrate Flammer. "He wants to get married, judge," said the father.

"It may be some people's idea that a man who wants to get married is crazy," said the court, "but I am not prepared to render a decision that a desire for matrimony is insanity. The prisoner is released."

Tammany Names Hearst as Gas Crusade Author.

The agitation in this city for a lower gas rate, together with allegations against the gas companies of extortionate rates and of maintaining false meters, resulted today in the adoption by the senate at Albany of a joint resolution providing for a legislative investigation of the New York City gas and electric lighting situation.

Senator Grady led the opposition to the resolution, charging that its motive was purely partisan and directing a particularly bitter attack against William R. Hearst, who, he said, had joined hands with republican State Chairman Odell to accomplish his purposes.

"I will tell you what the origin of this gas agitation was," cried Senator Grady. "Mr. Hearst was a candidate for the presidential nomination. Disappointed because he did not have the support of Tammany Hall in that ambition, he has since, through his newspapers, been heaping foul abuse on the mayor and on Tammany Hall. That was the beginning of this gas agitation."

May Ask Jerome to Investigate Morgan's Hospital.

Important developments are probable in the revolt among the governors and directors and attending physicians of J. P. Morgan's lying-in hospital at Seventeenth street and Second avenue. The medical men who last week resigned in a body from the institution are considering the advisability of laying the facts before District Attorney Jerome. It is urged by the advocates of this plan that, although the hospital was built by Morgan's money and is being largely supported by his contributions, it nevertheless is a public charity, receiving financial assistance from the city. They contend that the present depleted medical staff of the hospital is unable to do the work of the institution, and it is the duty of the district attorney to make an investigation.

A diamond brooch containing stones weighing 23 carats and worth $15,000, which was lost last Saturday night by Mrs. T. Edwin Ward as she was leaving a theater in Thirty-fifth street with her husband, has been returned by the finder, who received a reward of $1,000. The man's identity was not made known, but he appeared to be in poor circumstances. He returned the jewels in reply to an advertisement.

Charges have been filed with Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, which are said to reflect on the integrity of individuals connected with the subway and elevated railroad strike. Mr. Gompers said the charges would be investigated.

It is said that the charges contain allegations that the strike was engineered for the sole purpose of being broken. Officials of the union, it is declared, received or expected to receive a large reward for bringing about the strike.

WOMEN INVADE THE HOUSE

Army of Lobbyists Enrolls Members of Nearly All Professions, Trades, and Industries, Including Ministers—Induces Committee to Report Out Bill Extending Suffrage—Commissioner Brown Protests Regarding Opening of Campaign Fund Letter.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—Women of nearly all professions, trades, and industries, representing lawyers, physicians, school teachers, business women, housewives, and other occupations, marched down on the house of representatives this afternoon, and, after a couple of hours' argument before the elections committee of the house, brought that body of legislators to a correct view of the equal suffrage question.

By a vote of 14 to 6 the committee decided to report out the bill giving women the right to vote on members of the state board of equalization, boards of assessors and review, the sanitary board, and city and town officers except police magistrates.

Women Lawyers and Ministers.

Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, commander of the army of invasion, marshaled the forces in the house by classes and divisions of labor. First came the professional women, lawyers and ministers, and then business women, including a real estate agent and a member of the Boot and Shoe Workers' union. The Rev. Kate Hughes was followed by Dr. Marion Bowles, and she preceded Attorney Florence King. Miss Kate F. O'Connor, a real estate dealer from Rockford, was next, and after her Principal Mary Darrow Olson of the James McCosh school, Chicago.

Mrs. Estelle M. Pierson of Wilmette was one of the most influential women before the committee. She announced that she had one vote sure for suffrage. It was that of her husband, Representative Pierson.

In the senate the suffrage bill was advanced to third reading this morning.

Protests to the Government.

B. M. Brown of the Joliet penitentiary commission has reported to postal officials the fact that a letter addressed to him was opened by Senator Brown, causing the revealing of the development that friends of former Gov. Yates were raising a fund for him to use in the preliminary United States senatorship fight. The letter was sent by A. L. French of Chapin, and asked that 25 per cent of the money subscribed be advanced to start the work.

Mr. Brown was absent and the letter went to the senate postoffice, where Senator Brown opened it by mistake. Afterward the matter found its way into the newspapers. Postoffice Inspector T. L. Laughlin made a report to Washington on the case and the authorities now are waiting instructions.

Local option advocates endeavored to get Speaker Shurtleff to produce the local option bill this morning and have it sent to the committee on elections. The speaker refused.

LAYS PLOT TO COMERFORD.

NEHLS SWEARS INVESTIGATOR USED DECEIT WITH HIM.

Chicago Witness, Called to Springfield to Testify Regarding Alleged Pay Roll Stuffing in Legislature, Declares He Was Lured to Office and Induced to Sign Accusing Statement—Says Former Representative Used Another's Name.

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—Ludwig J. Nehls, the Chicago man who was examined by the grand jury today, did not give evidence to show an attempt had been made to pad the state pay rolls. The aged witness was the first to testify in the morning, and was called a second time shortly before the body adjourned. He will return home tomorrow, after being called again.

Nehls maintained he knew of no scheme to make additions to the pay roll, and declared he had been "lured into the case" by former Representative Frank D. Comerford of Chicago, who is behind the investigation. He said he had been invited to call at an office in Chicago, which he afterward found was that of Comerford.

Charges Deceit to Comerford.

There, he said, he was induced to sign an instrument which developed to be a statement that he did not receive all the money to which he was entitled while serving the state two years ago as a janitor. The inference was his sponsor in the house "held out" on him.

Nehls told the jurors he was not on oath when he signed the alleged "affidavit" in Chicago. He was informed by a man giving his name as Otis Wesner and having offices in a downtown building, that he had fallen heir to a large sum of money in Germany. While the subject was being discussed, Nehls declares the pay roll matter was brought up and that he affixed his signature to a paper. He stated positively that the signature of Ottis Wesner, which he has in his possession, is in Comerford's handwriting.

Brought on Contempt Writ.

Judge Thompson ordered Nehls brought into court on a contempt writ issued Friday afternoon. The man said he did not have money with which to pay his fare to Springfield and for this reason did not come.

State's Attorney Hatch said he believed the statement of Nehls was true and on his recommendation the court then directed the Chicago witness to go before the grand jury and did not administer a reprimand.

On his second visit to the grand jury room, which was shortly after 4 o'clock, Nehls was questioned regarding checks which he received from the state. He said three had been given to him for $40 each.

Secretary of State Rose was before the grand jury for a few minutes. He volunteered to come and no summons was served. He told of the methods followed in paying employés, and said Nehls was on the pay roll for sixty days, for which he received $120.

CHANGES PRIMARY BILL AGAIN.

Senate Committee Decides County Chairman Should Not Be Elected by the People.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—The senate primary committee continued its triumphant march through the primary law bill today and reached the end of the measure as it applies to the state outside of Cook county. It will take up the Chicago end of the bill tomorrow.

One of the first things the senators did was to take the county chairman out of the provisions. This important cog in county politics is not to be elected as other committeemen are, but is to be chosen by the committeemen and need not be one of their membership.

An effort was made by Senator Acton of Vermilion to have nominations by majorities in counties changed to pluralities. He secured only two other votes for his substitute proposition.

The senators struck out the provision in the house bill which would allow four-fifths of a convention to nominate a man not a candidate before the people on a primary ticket.

AIMS HARD BLOW AT DIVORCE EVIL.

New Bill to Make It Illegal to Remarry Within a Year After the Decree.

PASSAGE IS PROBABLE.

Guilty Person Must Wait for Twenty-four Months or Get Into Trouble.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—The distance between the divorce courts and the marriage license desk in the county clerk's office will be increased by several miles by a bill reported out of the house judiciary committee this afternoon.

Remarrying will not be permitted to either husband or wife within a year after the date of the decree, and in case the divorce is granted on statutory grounds the person decreed guilty may not remarry until two years have elapsed.

The bill would have been reported in the house this morning but for a mistake in it, discovered after the committee had adjourned. It provided that divorced persons should not remarry within the time specified, but did not carry any penalty if they violated the law.

Hasty Marriage to Be Void.

Three bills had been introduced in the house by Allen, Provine, and Lindly. They agreed the second marriage should be declared void, and two of them provided that the persons remarrying should be guilty of bigamy.

These penalties were left out of the present bill, which is a substitute for all of the three framed by the committee. When the error was discovered Chairman Castle held the measure out, and the committee tonight added a provision that marriages within the restricted period should be declared void. The bill will be reported in tomorrow.

There was some opposition to the bill from members of the committee who thought the restriction would increase evils which the bills are expected to cure. Representative Hill of Chicago asserted that such a bill would only cause greater lawlessness, but other members of the committee held that the thing to be accomplished was to prevent the rapid progress from the divorce courts to the marriage license counter.

Record for Quick Second Wedding.

"In the courts of my county," said Representative Campbell of Edwards, "there was a case recently in which wedding invitations for a second venture were issued before the divorce was granted, and the day of the second wedding was set before the judge had issued the decree. One ceremony followed the other without any delay."

The proposed legislation does not clash with any "vested interests" and there is no "lobby" in Springfield to oppose it. It has been predicted as almost certain that divorce legislation of some sort will be passed, and this bill seems to be the one destined to become a law.

In line with further matrimonial legislation, the judiciary committee tomorrow will hear arguments on a bill abolishing common law marriages. Attorney David of Chicago is here to point out some of the dangers to avoid in legislation against this "institution."

HAS BILL TO OUST OFFICIALS.

Senate Receives Chicago Teachers' Measure Providing New Elections When Officers Are Objectionable.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—At the request of the Chicago Federation of Teachers, Senator Campbell this morning introduced two bills, one of which would provide a way for the removal of officials whom voters would like to see out of office before their terms expire, and the other providing for the election of members of the school board.

The measure providing for the election of school trustees would have the people nominate by petition, 4,000 signatures being sufficient. The trustees would be elected at large and not from any specified districts.

To remove public officials, it is provided that 25 per cent of the voters who elected any officer may petition that an election be held to choose his successor. Within forty days after the city clerk has established the sufficiency of the petition an election must be called. The objectionable official can try for reëlection.

Senate Receives Courts Bill.

The senate passed ten bills. The municipal courts bill, as adopted by the house, was received and advanced to second reading without reference to a committee, in spite of objections of Senator Humphrey. On second reading the senate bill for municipal courts will be substituted for it. This probably will be tomorrow, and a conference of the house and senate will be necessary.

The anti-trust bill, drafted by Attorney General Stead, was introduced in the senate by McKenzie.

Tax bills, giving counties not to exceed 75 cents on $100 outside of Cook county and not to exceed 70 cents in Cook county, were introduced in the senate by Brown and in the house by Hill. The bill passed by the senate and advanced to third reading in the house provides for 65 cents.

Last Day for New Bills Today.

As tomorrow is the last day for the introduction of bills in the house they came in with a rush today.

Haines sent in a bill to pay judges outside of Chicago $5,000 a year instead of $3,500. The operation of the bill in Chicago would be to have the state pay $1,500 more of a judge's salary and leave the county to pay only $5,000 additional instead of $6,500. Karch introduced a bill to repeal the convict labor law passed last session.

Scott Cowen, grain inspector, will have a bill prepared along the lines favored by Gov. Deneen providing improved methods in grain inspection by which he hopes to get a uniform system of grading grain. He would have an expert wheat inspector, one expert in corn, one in oats, rye, etc., and have a messenger bring in samples of grain from the elevators and cars and have all of it inspected in a central office.

BILLS TO AID CHILD SAVING.

Will Make It Easier to Take Children and Keep an Eye on Those Adopted.

Springfield, Ill., March 14.—[Special.]—Systematic state care for children neglected by their parents is provided for in a series of bills introduced in the house today by Representative Church, for the various societies interested in the work.

Diseases which have resisted medicine for years yield at once to Liquozone.
May we buy a bottle for you?

You who are sick and discouraged—we make this offer to you. We will buy you a bottle of Liquozone—a 50c bottle. You may try it at our expense.

We ask you to write us—you who still cling to medicine for what medicine cannot do. We want to show you—as we have shown millions of others—the only way to cure a germ disease. Please don't hesitate. Don't wait longer. The test shall not cost you a penny.

Not Medicine.

The virtues of Liquozone are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas. No drugs, no alcohol—nothing but gas enters into it. The process of making takes fourteen days, and requires immense apparatus. Then we get one cubic inch of Liquozone for each 1,250 cubic inches of gas used. This process has, for more than twenty years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. Yet it is not only harmless but remarkably helpful. The effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Even a well person feels its instant benefit. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is life to an animal but deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. For that reason, medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease, while Liquozone is almost certain. We proved this fact for years, through physicians and hospitals, in thousands of the most difficult cases obtainable. Then we paid $100,000 for the American rights—the highest price ever paid for any discovery used in the cure of sickness.

Liquozone is now used by the sick of nine nations in the treatment of germ diseases. In millions of homes it has done, and is doing, what medicine cannot do.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

Asthma, Abcess—Anæmia, Bronchitis, Blood Poison, Bright's Disease, Bowel Troubles, Coughs—Colds, Consumption, Colic—Croup, Constipation, Catarrh—Cancer, Hay Fever—Influenza, Kidney Diseases, La Grippe, Liver Troubles, Malaria—Neuralgia, Many Heart Troubles, Piles—Pneumonia, Pleurisy—Quinsy, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Stomach Troubles, Throat Troubles, Tuberculosis, Tumors—Ulcers, Varicocele, Women's Diseases, Dysentery—Diarrhœa, Dandruff—Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Eczema—Erysipelas, Fevers—Gall Stones, Goitre—Gout.

All diseases that begin with fever—all inflammation—all catarrh—all contagious diseases—all the results of impure or poisoned blood.

50c Bottle Free.

If you need Liquozone, and have never tried it, please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on a local druggist for a full-size bottle, and we will pay the druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you; to show you what Liquozone is, and what it can do. In justice to yourself, please accept it today, for it places you under no obligation whatever.

Liquozone costs 50c and $1.

STANDARD WINS PIPE CONTEST.

Will Resume Laying Ducts Through Warren County, Ill., Injunction Having Been Dismissed.

Monmouth, Ill., March 14.—A settlement was effected today in the injunction proceedings preventing the Standard Oil company from building a pipe line through Warren county without permission of the board of supervisors. The injunction will be dismissed and the company will resume work at once.

Independents Active in Kansas.

Kansas City, Mo., March 14.—As a result of the fight against the Standard Oil company in Kansas elaborate plans for the erection by independent companies of pipe lines and refineries are in process of formation. J. B. and A. L. Levy, formerly of the Lima, O., field, have planned the erection of a refinery at Kansas City for oil piped from Kansas at an outlay of $750,000 and with a daily output of 200,000 barrels of crude oil.

At Chanute, Kas., a meeting of producers has been held to consider the project for a pipe line to Port Arthur, Tex. The line would be 650 miles in length and have a capacity of 2,000 barrels of oil a day.

SUPERIOR MERIT.

Remarkable Curative Properties of a Remedy for Indigestion and Stomach Weakness.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a preparation for the cure of dyspepsia and the various forms of indigestion and stomach trouble, owes its great success as a cure for these troubles to the fact that it is prepared for disease and weakness of the stomach and digestive organs only, and is not recommended or advised for any other disease.

It is not a cure-all, but for any stomach trouble it is undoubtedly the safest, most sensible remedy that can be advised with the prospect of a permanent cure. It is prepared in tablet form, pleasant to taste, composed of vegetable and fruit essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal, every one of which act effectively in digesting the food eaten, thereby resting and invigorating the weak stomach; rest is nature's cure for any disease, but you cannot rest the stomach unless you put into it something that will do its work or assist in the digestion of food.

That is exactly what Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do, one grain of the digestive principle contained in them will digest 3,000 grains of meat, eggs, or similar wholesome foods, they will digest the food whether the stomach is in working order or not, thereby nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time, and rest and nourishment is nature's cure for any weakness.

In persons run down in flesh and appetite these tablets build up the strength and increase flesh, because they digest flesh-forming food, which the weak stomach cannot do, they increase the flow of gastric juice and prevent fermentation, acidity and sour watery risings.

HOW DOES THE BEAR WALK NOW?

Seven short years ago Mr. Kipling frightened the western world out of its boots by a characteristic, tender, twittering lyric on the subject of Russia. It might be said in extenuation of Mr. Kipling that no one can understand what fear of Russia is unless, like Mr. Kipling, he has been a child in India. There, when he toddles through the barracks, he hears the soldiers always talking about the Crimea; and the shortest way for them to send him shrieking home is to say that the Russians have been seen scouting through the Khyber pass.

To Mr. Kipling the gray coated sentry on the Pamirs was involved in mists which transfigured him to something between a giant and a fearsome ghost. A struggle between Russia and England was inevitable. Certainly some kind of resistance to the Russian advance was inevitable. And who could face the bear except the lion?

In Mr. Kipling's poem the people of Asia are presented under the figure of Matun, the old blind beggar. Matun went out to meet Adam-Zad, the Bear that Walks like a Man. He was sorry for Adam-Zad.

> And my heart was touched with pity for the monstrous, pleading thing.
> Nearer he tottered and nearer, with paws like hands that pray;
> From brow to jaw, the steel-shod paw, it ripped my face away.

This, according to Mr. Kipling, was what always had happened and what was certain always in the future to happen to the people of Asia. Hence "Luck to the white man's rifle." Now, the Japanese are not exactly white. Of course, Mr. Kipling himself, at one time when he was in Japan, remarked that the Japanese were not "natives." He also remarked, however, that a fight between Japanese troops and native Indian troops would be a pretty fair and equal kind of sport provided the Japanese were officered by Englishmen.

Here is a lesson that world prophets might well lay to heart. Adam-Zad at the present, instead of walking like a man, offers a greater resemblance to a wild boar fighting savagely as he retreats, but always retreating driven by the huntsman and his pack. But it wasn't the white man's rifle that brought him down on all fours. And one may be pardoned for doubting whether English officers from Stellenbosch would have added much to the victory at Mukden.

Mr. Kipling isn't the only white man's poet whose wisdom seems to be disregarded by the gentle little pickers of chrysanthemums. What has happened to Bishop Berkeley's "Westward the course of empire takes its way"? Of course, the Japanese are going westward at a good pace, but their Rising Sun rises in the east.

England has been famous for getting into difficulties and just "muddling through." A great English statesman once declared that the British empire was the result of haphazard exploits performed by English adventurers. The foreign office at London woke up and found an empire on its hands. The history of British expansion is a history of chances. Its dazzling pages, however, record no luckier chance than Oyama. Mr. Kipling ought to be ready to make the amende honorable to Matun, the old blind beggar, the eyeless, lipless, noseless type of the helpless people of Asia.

MUSIC IN BOSTON AND CHICAGO.

Herr Conried is disgusted with Boston because slim crowds are attending his productions of "Parsifal." The Bostonians, he says, have no soul for music. Their boasted culture is a fraud. "Boston is a century behind Chicago in soul development," says the indignant impresario.

Chicago admits it. Her musical soul is uncommonly well developed. She loves music; and she thinks she can tell good music from bad. The influence of Theodore Thomas in developing Chicago's musical soul was great and has received deserved recognition. Many who attended his concerts did so at first not because they liked them, but because it had become fashionable to attend. But good concerts resemble good books, in that one can hardly hear many of the one or read many of the other without learning to like them; and most of those who went to the Thomas concerts became, in course of time, real music lovers, although many of them couldn't tell a note from a bar.

Another important factor in developing Chicago's love of music—a factor sometimes overlooked—has been her large German population. It is natural for a German to love music. He not only loves it himself but he wants others to love it. He is an apostle of cadence and harmony. Chicago owes a large debt of gratitude to the countrymen of Beethoven and Wagner who have migrated here, bringing their violins and bassoons with them.

A German might say the matter with Boston is that there are not enough Germans there. Probably the real trouble is that the Bostonians have to keep their noses too long in their books—that they have cultivated their intellects at the expense of their esthetic natures and worn out their eyes without developing their ears. A person may know all about the decline and fall of the Roman empire, the Boston tea party, the transcendentalist philosophy, and the latest experiments with guinea pigs and still be unable to distinguish a major from a minor, or a flat or sharp from a foul ball. This seems, from Herr Conried's plaints, to be the sad state of musical culture in Boston.

MR. ROOSEVELT AND THE LADIES.

Mr. Roosevelt is the first president the women of the United States have had. He ought to cut in on the circulation of the Ladies' Home Journal. He is better than the Sunday supplement. The proportion of his space that he gives to "woman stuff" shows that he will make a capable and knowing editor after he gets through with the presidency.

Of course Mr. Roosevelt is not exactly a "ladies' man." It is not said that he shines at afternoon teas. The literary critics would hardly call him a "feminologist." He is reputed to be happier lassoing a steer than filling up a dance program. He is something like Harry Hotspur in Henry IV., who "kills me some six or seven dozen of Scots at a breakfast, washes his hands, and says to his wife: 'Fie upon this quiet life! I want work.'"

No, Mr. Roosevelt is not a carpet knight. When it comes to "capering nimbly in a lady's chamber to the lascivious pleasing of a lute," he has his rivals. But just here is the explanation of his philosophy. He wants to lead a virile life and he wants every woman to lead a feminine one. He will do all the swashbuckling and turmoiling that has to be done. The women meanwhile will furnish the steadying home centers around which masculine activity will whirl and seethe.

Lincoln made a start toward being a woman's president. In one of his earliest political platforms he said: "I go for all sharing the privileges of government who assist in bearing its burdens. Consequently I go for admitting all whites to the right of suffrage who pay taxes or bear arms, by no means excluding females." But Lincoln was president during a time when the firing line engrossed his attention and he was obliged to leave to Mr. Roosevelt the honor of being the first president of the whole people, by no means excluding females.

An English paper once allowed itself the liberty of saying that Mr. Roosevelt resembled the German emperor in his public speeches. He had an "easy grasp of the obvious." Perhaps this easy grasp of the obvious is sometimes apparent in what Mr. Roosevelt says about the home, about race suicide, and about women. But the ten commandments are obvious, too. Mr. Roosevelt, in glorifying the home, is choosing an old subject. But the old subjects are the real ones. And the point just now is not Mr. Roosevelt's truth or error but his broad interest in all the affairs of his fellow countrymen—and countrywomen.

Mr. Roosevelt's last message to congress began with saying that the home was more important than anything else, took a perfunctory glance at trusts, tariffs, and railroads, and then plunged gladly into parks, wife-beating, sanitary tenements for workingmen, and other human subjects that no former president would have included within the scope of statesmanship. Mr. Roosevelt likes to be a statesman. But he likes better to be "the first citizen," the "pater patriæ," the head of the national family. Hence the paternal lectures which we get at the breakfast table every morning. We don't mind them. They are all right. We may not follow them out every time, but we really and sincerely appreciate the interest that the "old man" takes in us. He is supplanting the czar as the little father.

DON'T SPOIL NEW YORK.

This is one meaning of the word provincial. It is a terrible word, calculated to bring blood and leave a welt when such milder epithets as "wicked" would fall unnoticed and unresented.

Seth Bullock, focusing his broad western eyes to get the correct perspective on New York, says that it is "provincial." The west is proud of New York. It likes it. But New York is proud only of itself. Its only use for the rest of the country is to laugh at it.

Apparently Seth Bullock would like to see a movement started for the reannexation of New York to America. It would be just like the movement in the '40s for the reannexation of Texas.

This shows that Seth Bullock is not provincial. He yearns over New York. He loves to be in New York. But he hates to have the New Yorkers behave as if they were foreigners and as if the west were another country. He would like to raise the American flag over the town and compel its inhabitants to become his fellow citizens.

Seth Bullock is courageous. He is trying to do a thing which never can be done. There have been many attempts. Jackson took the presidency away from John Quincy Adams and tried to assimilate the easterners, not benevolently, perhaps, but certainly with good will. He failed. Lincoln took the republican nomination away from Seward. He became the greatest man of the century. It did no good.

The west went for tariff reform and railroad legislation and swept Roosevelt into office last fall over the heads of the wise eastern senators. Parker's northern support was in the east. The anti-imperialists live in the east. Expansion, the infliction of decency on the railroads, the humanizing of the trusts, and the introduction of reason into the tariff have their main popularity in the west. The sun of political progress rises in the west. But New York doesn't care. It will never get acclimated. Why should it? It would be a pity to spoil it.

New York is a charming city. When a paper trust is organized the hard working men who have been superintending the manufacture of paper in their mills become vice presidents of the trust and go down to New York and ride in automobiles, and go to the theater, and eat. New York is a great place for waiters, and financiers, and actors, and chauffeurs. What should we do for our exworkingmen if there were no New York?

For that matter, what would the rest of us do when we wanted to see a foreign city and hadn't enough money to go to Europe? New York is the playground of America. It is a financial headquarters. Its main work is not with things but with the slips of paper that represent things. There is no smoke in the air, coming from busy chimneys. There is only the rustle of stock certificates. The chimneys which produced the stock certificates are elsewhere.

Naturally New Yorkers have a unique view of life. Long may they continue to have it! When Seth Bullock drops down among them their quaint, secluded, self-centered manners and customs provide him with as complete a change of scene as he could get by buying a steamer ticket. New York may not be America, but it is a most fascinating colonial possession. And if it doesn't produce new ideas in our national life, the reason is possibly to be found in its modest recognition of its colonial status.

Benny on the Ornithorhynchus.

The ornithorhynchus is a small animal you read about in books. You have to use a dictionary when you spell its name. They do not keep it on exhibition in menageries or in parks. It lives in Australia, and has a bill like a duck, also web feet with which it can propel itself through the water with great ease. If the ornithorhynchus had fewer legs and a pair of wings it would be a bird. It is a lonely animal, and not much given to society. The reason for this is that it has nobody to associate with but ornithorhynchuses, and that is enough to make any animal tired. Australia is a wonderful country. Besides the ornithorhynchus it produces bushmen, kangaroos, and boomerangs, but I would rather live in my own country, where we have the blessings of civilization. Let us ever strive to do good and to obey our parents. It takes me a long time to write an essay on the ornithorhynchus. BENNY.

THE NOBEL PRIZES.

Chicago, March 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—THE TRIBUNE, in its issue of the 13th inst., contained an editorial entitled, "Has America Any Great Men?" The editorial concerned the Nobel prizes. It pointed out how Germans, Dutchmen, Frenchmen, Englishmen, Swedes, Danes, Norwegians, Russians, and Spaniards have been awarded Nobel prizes for being foremost in the fields of science and literature, while no American as yet has received such a prize. It is claimed that it is due to national sympathies and antipathies that no American thus far has been considered good enough to become a Nobel prize winner.

That no American has been fortunate enough to receive any of these prizes, of course, is unpleasant, especially since this country is so rich in men of talent and learning in the various branches of science and literature. But I am fully convinced that there is no prejudice against America or any other country. The jury in whose hands the awarding of these prizes has been placed is the most impartial that could have been selected. If Americans have not been honored with any prizes up to the present time, we should feel no apprehension as to the future. When we least expect it, perhaps, there will be not only one but several distinguished Americans whose scientific or literary eminence will warrant the Nobel jury in awarding them one or more of these much coveted prizes. Editor Svenska-Amerikanaren.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1905: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

SPAIN'S new foreign minister, Sig. Villaurrutia, by training and calling is a diplomatist. He began his official career in this country as secretary of legation at Washington, and since then has held the offices of ambassador at Constantinople and at Vienna. Moreover, he was one of the commissioners appointed by the Spanish government for the negotiation of the treaty of peace at Paris, which brought to a close the war between this country and Spain in 1898.

The minister has just been at Paris, and while there he stated that just before his departure for Madrid he was received in audience by King Alfonso, who, referring to the rumors as to his alleged projects of marriage, exclaimed:

"If you are questioned about this matter you can reply in my name that all the stories which have been printed on the subject are false; that the intentions with which I am credited are purely imaginary, and that as such they demand a definite and precise denial, which you are authorized to give."

Of all the extraordinary divorce proceedings that ever have engaged the attention of the British tribunals the oddest assuredly is the suit brought by the countess of Stair at Edinburgh. She demands a decree of divorce on the ground of desertion. Her husband has been willing to permit her to resume her place by his fireside, but declines to substitute for the marriage contract a mere agreement of platonic partnership, and as she will not consent to any other conditions he refuses to receive her.

It is on the strength of this that the countess in suing him for divorce on the ground of desertion. She is exceedingly eccentric, and popular sympathy, as well as that of the judges, all is with the earl, whose married life has been singularly unhappy and who has shown the utmost forbearance to the countess.

Slowly but gradually Princess Hohenberg, the morganatic wife of the heir apparent to the Austro-Hungarian throne, is making her way into the imperial family, from which she was excluded rigorously in the early years of her marriage. Thus at the christening of the infant son of Archduke and Archduchess Leopold Salvator—the archduchess is a daughter of Don Carlos—the princess acted as godmother, while the emperor himself was the godfather.

With the exception of the princess all those present at the ceremony were of imperial rank, and afterward the princess entertained the entire party, including the emperor, at a déjeuner at her palace.

The princess is an exceedingly clever woman, and although she has not as yet appeared at any state balls, she has become one of the most powerful figures at court, in Austro-Hungarian politics, and in Viennese society, having behind her the entire clerical party. It is possible that when her husband succeeds his uncle on the throne of the dual empire she may not be empress of Austria or queen of Hungary. But for all that she will be the "first lady in the land." She has transformed her husband from a decorative figurehead into an important factor in domestic politics and in the international situation.

I may add that Miss Emily Carow, the sister of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, has been staying for several weeks at the American embassy at Vienna, and has been the recipient of much attention on the part of the imperial family and of the Austrian great world on her brother-in-law's account.

"Buster Brown" has become so familiar a name to the American newspaper reading public, through the clever caricatures of that typical specimen of American boyhood portrayed by R. F. Outcault in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE that it may interest people here to know that "Buster" Browne was the name by which one of the most popular and gallant of Anglo-Indian generals, the late General Sir James Browne, was known, not only in his boyhood but likewise throughout his splendid military career in India and in Egypt.

He got the name of "Buster" at school, at Addiscombe, by his prowess and forcefulness at football, and that he was as unconventional as the American "Buster Brown" of the present day will be realized from the recital of his first encounter with the enemy on the Indian frontier. His camp was attacked by night. Browne was in his nightshirt, and not finding his sword at once he seized one of the poles of his tent and swept down the raiders with it, appearing to them in the light of something supernatural.

His influence with the natives was extraordinary, and was due to two strange causes, which are worth while relating. It seems that one day while going through the bazaar at Kohat he saw an old Afghan, who was being maltreated by the natives, beaten, and stoned. "Buster" Browne went to his rescue, drove off his assailants, took him home to his bungalow, fed him, and kept him until his wounds were healed.

The old man was deeply grateful, and said to him:

"Sahib, you have saved my life, and I have eaten your salt. I should like to show that I am grateful."

He then gave him an amulet, and said:

"Take this. Show it anywhere among the frontier tribes, it will serve as a safe conduct, and you will be cared for as if you were my son."

"Buster" Browne a year later secured three months leave of absence, and without saying where he was going slipped across the Afghan frontier. Arrested by border tribesmen, he was treated with the greatest courtesy the moment he mentioned the old Afghan's name and showed the amulet. The natives escorted him to a village four days' travel distant in the mountains, where he found his old friend as one of the most powerful chieftains of the district, and where he was received with open arms. He spent his entire leave of absence there, making many valuable friends.

A still more strange circumstance happened to further increase his popularity and prestige among the border tribes of India. An Englishman, who happened to be "Buster" Browne's double, had left the British army, become a convert to Islam, and after making the pilgrimage to Mecca had settled down in Afghanistan as a fervent and devout Moslem. He made no secret of having been an Englishman, but was so devout a follower of the prophet, so oriental in every particular, that he won a celebrity, not merely in Afghanistan but throughout that portion of Asia, for his piety and holiness, being known as the Mullah Ismail Ali.

Suddenly he disappeared mysteriously. Perhaps he tired of the rôle of a mullah, and yearned once more for the flesh pots of civilization. Perhaps he died. At any rate no one in that part of the world knew what had become of him, and when the people of the border tribes saw "Buster" Browne they all were convinced he was the missing mullah, who merely was playing a part as an English officer in order to attain some object connected with the glory of the prophet and the welfare of Islam.

"Buster's" denial merely confirmed the natives in their belief, and hence it came about that he could move about without fear among the most fanatical of frontier tribes, and that he enjoyed an immunity from danger unique throughout India, Afghanistan, and central Asia.

His influence among the natives in India, with whom he was brought into contact, was of the most extraordinary description.

He died at Quettah of cholera in a few hours while acting as quartermaster general of the army in India under Field Marshal Lord Roberts, and remains one of the most splendid figures of that band of Englishmen who have built up the British empire of India.

Jim Felters spent all of his days
In much too sedentary ways.
The doctors said if he was wise
He would indulge in exercise.
He bet on horses—and at length
He found himself restored to strength.

By long shots that Jim Felters won.
He walked back.

Found that his farm was over oil.
He sold the place and for a year
Indulged in many kinds of cheer.

Today he's well—and he may thank
The dealer of a faro bank.
When Abe had lost his final stack
He walked back.

Could tempt his fickle appetite;
Today Bill Miller is all right.

He took a ship and went to Nome,
Health found him on the homeward track—
He walked back.

Upon the germs on dollar bills.
He made a recreation bet
At something that is called roulette.

Relieved Sim Simpkins of those germs.

And little more—he took no hack,
He walked back.

THE ISLE OF BONG BONG.

A Musical Comedy in Two Acts
BY WILL M. HOUGH, FRANK R. ADAMS and J. E. HOWARD.

The Wizard of Mindoro.... Mr. George Mackay
Gen. Carramba.... Mr. William Robinson
G. Raftre Saunders.... Mr. Cecil Lean
Mrs. Reginald Mordyke Rensaslier-Rensaeller.... Miss Frances Kennedy
Marjorie Grey.... Miss Olive Vail
Lord Percy Fitzmaurice.... Mr. Walter Ware
Gordon St. Bernard.... Mr. Al Shean
Paquita.... Miss Florence Holbrook
Howard Alexander.... Mr. Joseph E. Howard

Being a member of the La Salle stock company must be decidedly pleasant in certain respects. The life is a strenuous one so far as the work is concerned, for there are few companies in which the people get out and labor every moment they are on the stage as do the La Sallers. But there seems to be unbounded good fellowship among all the members of the little band, and as for the devotion of the public—that is one of the things absolutely unique in the theatrical conditions in Chicago.

The patrons of the little theater appear to know every person on the stage. They speak of them by their first names, and they comment on details of costume or makeup, and what effect these details produce in the appearance of the person discussed. There is an interest keenly personal taken in each performer, and the accomplishing of even the smallest bit of clever stage work in acting, dancing, or singing is applauded and approved of in the most gleeful spirit imaginable. Any success achieved is subject seemingly for personal satisfaction to the spectator, and he rejoices accordingly.

It is an interesting and unusual condition, and it can but make the life of the members of the La Salle company easier and pleasanter. For, if the best is offered, it is appreciated keenly; if untoward condition make the best impossible, then sympathy and indulgence are not withheld.

Last night the La Salle company brought forward a new musical comedy. It is not vastly different from those offered there in the past, and the scenes of enthusiasm and enjoyment were not a whit less hearty in character than they have been on similar occasions in months gone by. After the first act came the regulation floral parade, and company and audience had the jolliest time imaginable, while enough flowers to stock a conservatory were passed over the footlights. Then there were speeches by Mr. Sohlke, the stage manager, and thanks from the librettists, with the customary jokes and comments by the comedians. It was all most family-like and intimate, and all most pleasant and kindly.

There may be a story concealed somewhere about "The Isle of Bong Bong," which is the title of the new musical comedy. I did not discover any traces of it during the two hours I was there, but it may have come and gone before I arrived, or it may have made its appearance after I left. The patrons who drop in any time during the hours from 9 till 11 will find nothing in the way of plot to trouble them, however—of this they may be assured. What will happen if they go earlier, or later, they will have to discover for themselves.

The two hours of performance watched last evening was entertaining, and among the best of the La Salle kind. The music is distinctly catchy, and will be whistled on every street corner before the week is ended. There are several numbers destined to know widespread popularity among lovers of such tunes. "If I Were the Man in the Moon," "Ask the Man," "Brownies"—made particularly amusing by the introduction of the Brownie characters—"Say Hello to Chicago," and a taking ballad, "Lonesome for You," have all the elements of popularity.

The fun making needs to be built up, as it ever does in such a production, but the comedians of the company are capable, and, as there is no plot or dramatic conventions to hamper them, they can let their wit and fancy have free rein. The setting is attractive and the costumes richer and more varied than in any previous show at the La Salle. The chorus does excellent work, both vocal and terpsichorean, and the principals are up to their usual standard.

Miss Holbrook, who has but recently returned to the company, was in good voice last evening and sang "Lonesome for You" in a sweet, clear fashion that made it attractive. Miss Kennedy, Miss Vail, and Miss Marsh each have opportunity to prove their abilities, and Messrs. Howard, Shean, Ware, Marlowe, and Mackay are cast for rôles which they can develop comfortably into successes.

Chicago Madrigal Club.

The Chicago Madrigal club gave the second concert in its present series—the fourth—in Music hall last evening. The subscribers were out in full force, and appreciation and approval of the work the sturdy little club offered were hearty and freely accorded. Mr. Clippinger's singers are gaining most enjoyably in the mastery of the art to which they have devoted themselves, and they now accomplish much that is productive of true pleasure and satisfaction and which has musical value and artistic finish to commend it.

The technical side of their performance is being brought to a high degree of completeness, and they are beginning to acquire a goodly measure of freedom and ease in their handling of the interpretative. Their singing last evening, for example, of "My Lady Chlo," "The Chafer and the Flower," and "The Bugle Song" had not only vocal virtues of distinct worth to win it approval, but spirit and good revealment of poetic and musical values to lend it value.

The prize crowned madrigal of this season's contest was given its first performance last evening. It is "When the Heart Is Young," in the setting supplied by Carl Busch of Kansas City. The composer has furnished nothing startlingly new or original, but he has written melodiously and singably and has fashioned a madrigal which possessing these precious virtues and being effective should find general favor.

The soloists of the concert were Carl Bruckner, one of the 'cellists of the Chicago orchestra, and Miss Alice Genevieve Smith, harpist. Mr. Bruckner has demonstrated his thorough capability in the past, and again last night he pleased and satisfied by the tonal beauty, the technical surety, and the musicianship which characterized his performance of the two selections and encores he offered. Miss Smith is a harpist who has mastered a goodly measure of the technic of her difficult instrument, and she played last evening in a manner which won her the warm approval of her auditors and the demand for additional selections.

The Club Français de Chicago last evening closed the most successful season in its history. Steinway hall was filled to its capacity at the afternoon performance of Scribe's masterpiece, "Le Verre d'Eau," and there was a large attendance at the evening performance.

It was announced that there is in the club's treasury a surplus of nearly $1,000 from the receipts of the theater. This money will be divided among the members of the dramatic corps.

Plans are far advanced for next season's work. Six afternoon and six evening performances will be given as usual, some classical pieces and some from the contemporary Paris stage being chosen.

MARQUIS OF ANGLESEY DEAD; AMAZED EUROPE SIX YEARS.

British Peer Who Spent Millions for Jewels and Appeared in Music Halls as a Ballet Dancer Dies in Monte Carlo.

MONTE CARLO, March 14.—Henry Cyril Paget, marquis of Anglesey, whose eccentricities, extravagances, and escapades for six years has filled all European capitals with amazement, died here early this morning. His wife, from whom he separated two years ago, became reconciled with him at his deathbed. They had no son and therefore a cousin, Charles Henry Alexander Paget, succeeds to the title and the estates of 30,000 acres at Plas-Newydd, Llanfair-Pwllgwyngyll, Anglesey, in Wales.

THE MARQUIS OF ANGLESEY

Spent $5,725,000 in Six Years.

The dead marquis held the title for six years, and in those six years he spent $3,000,000 of his own and contracted debts amounting to $2,725,000. His prodigalities in jewels and clothing were enormous. His house parties and private theatricals excited the wonder of London, Paris, and Berlin. His personal eccentricities kept him constantly in the public eye. He perfumed his automobile with violets. He wore primroses in his hair. He wore women's clothing. He appeared on the vaudeville stage in several cities in Europe in the costume of a ballet dancer. He imitated the serpentine and fire dances of Loie Fuller, wearing draperies spangled with diamonds, emeralds, and rubies costing $200,000. He spent $1,000,000 for jewels in a single year. There was no splendor, however barbaric, that the eccentric young marquis did not attempt to achieve, no extravagance he was unwilling to attempt.

Title a Famous One.

The marquisate of Anglesey was created in 1815 in order to reward the earl of Uxbridge, who as field marshal commanded the British cavalry at the battle of Waterloo. The title of earl of Uxbridge had dated from 1784 and before that the earls of Uxbridge had been Barons Paget since 1552. When young Henry Cyril Paget therefore came to the title six years ago he was a peer of England, entitled to call himself the fifth marquis of Anglesey, earl of Uxbridge and Middlesex, and Baron Paget of Beaudesert, county of Stafford.

Before he became the marquis young Paget was a scholar at Eton and afterward second lieutenant in the Royal Welsh fusiliers.

Once in possession of the great estate in Wales, with its famous collection of plate, jewels, paintings, furniture, tapestries, and armor, the young marquis launched upon the career of eccentricities that made him famous. One of the first things he did was to transform the beautiful old gothic chapel, Plas-Newydd, into a private gayety theater.

His Wedding a Sensation.

The wedding of the marquis was of a piece with his strange career. He chose for his wife Miss Chetwynd, daughter of Sir George Chetwynd and the marchioness of Hastings. She was only 17 years old, of beautiful and refined features, with violet eyes and masses of Venetian red hair. They were cousins, and it was declared at the time that the marriage was arranged in order that they might jointly inherit property which both would have lost if they did not marry each other.

Eighteen months after their wedding the marchioness applied to the English courts for a divorce. The terms of separation proved the marquis' eccentricity. For the first year he allowed her $15,000, and $4,500 to pay debts contracted while they were living together. The second year he was to pay her $20,000, the next, if they were still separated, $25,000, and so on, the allowance increasing $5,000 each year until it reached $50,000.

Afterwards the marquis and his young wife met in Paris and became reconciled, were seen everywhere together, and even traveled together. So society was not surprised when she appealed to the English courts to have her decree of divorce annulled. Her request was granted, but the reconciliation was short lived, and they separated a second time, only to be reunited at his deathbed.

Wild Career of Extravagance.

In the meantime the marquis had launched into the career of extravagance that made him famous. His theatrical entertainments at Anglesey castle became as famous as his jewels. Money was not considered. In the early days he used to gather around him amateurs as well as professionals, but in the later shows he had only professionals to assist him. He was always the star. His taste ran little toward plays of serious interest or dramatic value. He perfected extravaganzas which allowed costly costuming and enabled him to wear most gorgeous clothes—women's as well as men's—and gave him a chance to display his jewels. Among the plays he produced were "Aladdin," "Sinbad," and "Red Riding Hood." The entertainments usually continued for six weeks.

In "Aladdin" his costume consisted of a gauze suit, to which had been fastened literally thousands of brilliants, so that he was all of a sparkle wherever he moved. About his neck he wore strings of diamonds, and on his shoulders were bows of the precious stones. His head was covered with a turban which would have excited the envy of the richest rajah of India. It contained a magnificent emerald, surrounded by turquoises. On his breast he wore another wonderful arrangement of jewels, the center of which was a ruby as large as a 25 cent piece. Thus gorgeously arrayed he danced, while limelight cast varied hued beams on him.

Another extravagance recently reported was a gorgeous motor car, which contains a boudoir. Its interior was hand painted. When riding in this the marquis was accustomed to wear a magnificent coat of imperial Russian sable, which was worth thousands of pounds, and his motorman was dressed like an Indian prince.

He wore strange costumes about his home and his servants were put into uniforms that matched their master's. For example, his evening suits were ordinarily of blue or pink.

Court Declares Him Bankrupt.

Then came the crash. The marquis had spent in the six years $5,750,000. Of this amount he had borrowed $2,500,000. His creditors descended upon him, he was declared a bankrupt, and orders for the sale of his personal effects were issued.

Court bailiffs took possession of Anglesey castle and searched it for jewels. They were astounded at what they found. The first day's sale netted the creditors $85,000. The second day's sale realized $77,430—a total of $162,430—for jewels that cost the marquis many times that amount. One pair of matchless cabochon sapphires of unusual size, mounted as sleeve links, sold for only $6,900—and they cost the marquis $100,000.

Curiosities of His Wardrobe.

His wardrobe was sold with his jewels. There were 900 lots of wearing apparel, including more than 100 overcoats, 200 pairs of slippers, and 200 walking sticks, many of them with handles incrusted with jewels.

Though the sale had no precedent, the only things to drag in the bidding were the waistcoats. These were found too loud even for stage work. Some of them were covered with spangles, with contrasts of color that were blinding. One of blue peacock with iridescent feathers brought $65, but the remaining 240 in all realized only $875.

Another costume that stunned bidders was the marquis' white suede evening dress which he wore in public with a black silk shirt and black collar.

Gloves, stocks, and handkerchiefs went for more than their retail value. A new smoking jacket of Persian lamb was also coveted by many.

The highest amount paid for any single article was $1,500 for the marquis' famous overcoat of brown sable. It is ornamented with twenty tails and ten sable heads, and is said to have cost more than $5,000. In the overcoat collection there were specimens for every possible weather and temperature, from the tropics to midwinter in St. Petersburg.

Novelties in Overcoats.

A silver gray moleskin coat with raccoon collar brought $300 and two melton coats with mink and Persian linings brought $200 each. Greatly admired by women was a smoking suit of silver gray silk with trousers of robin's egg blue. On the white silk facings were embroidered sprays of forgetmenots and wood violets.

Shoes, few of which showed any trace of wear, brought high prices. Those that an ordinary mortal could wear averaged $6 a pair. Golden slippers and high heeled fancy dress shoes were bought by theatrical costumers.

The pajamas and night shirts were dreams of oriental splendor. Some of the latter ran as high as $72, while many pairs of pajamas were eagerly bid in at $42. The marquis' twelve evening dress black silk shirts found purchasers at $22.

Invents Evening Costumes.

The marquis had invented several "evening costumes" to take the place of the ordinary black and white, which was abhorrent to his esthetic taste. One of these was of pink and another of blue silk. The nobleman's dressing gowns were of gold brocade. The magnificence of his bedroom was approached by that of no royal personage in Europe, for it was draped in mauve velvet, with hanging figures of solid silver. Its ornaments were of filigree and gold, and its tables crowded with bottles of the most costly perfumes. His "boudoir" was of green and gold. He had three valets and a "coiffeur," all of whom earned their high salaries, for it was no unusual thing for this modern Beau Brummel to spend a whole morning "working out" some special scheme of color by dint of combining the effects of neckties, trousers, waistcoats, and "spats," discarding, one by one, such as failed to "harmonize."

Already the unsatisfied creditors are flocking to Monte Carlo in hope of securing something from the sale of his remaining personal effects. They received 15 cents on the dollar originally and they are likely to get little more.

LITTLE HOPE FOR DOMINGO TREATY.

VOTE LIKELY THIS WEEK.

Gorman Proposes Commission to Investigate Claims Against the Island.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—Practically all hope of ratifying the Santo Domingan treaty has been abandoned, although the senators in charge of it will not admit that the convention will be rejected. While they have not given up the fight, they would be surprised if the treaty should be ratified. As the debate in executive session progresses opposition to the treaty becomes stronger and the senate is not disposed to enter into an agreement which will make a national debt collection agency of the government.

The principle involved in the treaty is the chief objection to its ratification. No agreement for a vote has been reached, but leaders of the senate declare it will occur not later than Saturday, but it is not unlikely that a vote may be reached on Thursday or Friday. It was expected three democrats would vote for ratification, but it developed today that not more than two will do so, and these votes in all probability will be offset by republicans who are opposed to the treaty.

Gorman Suggests Commission.

Senator Gorman and a number of his democratic colleagues, with two or three republicans who are against ratification, have proposed that no action be taken on the treaty at this session, and that a commission consisting of senators be appointed to visit Santo Domingo for the purpose of making an investigation regarding the nature of the claims. Senator Morgan also favors this plan, because he is firmly convinced that the claims against the island republic are out of all proportion to the amount of money the government received on account of its outstanding obligations.

This proposal does not find favor with republicans, who believe that action should be taken without further delay. They favor a vote on the treaty, and in the opinion of the most influential members of the senate this will occur probably on Thursday, and possibly not later than Saturday. Nothing could be gained by delay, they declare, and even if the treaty is beaten, which they believe will be the case, the question should be disposed of at once, as it will be impossible to hold a quorum of the senate any longer than this week.

Attack on the Claims.

In executive session today the debate related almost exclusively to attacks on the claims against Santo Domingo and on Capt. Dillingham, who negotiated the protocol which was repudiated by the administration. Senators Morgan and Teller participated in the discussion, and they asserted that Capt. Dillingham and the state department had exceeded their authority when they negotiated the protocol. Senators Cullom, Foraker, and Spooner defended the action of Capt. Dillingham, and said what he did was by direction of his superior officers.

Senator Bacon took the floor to deliver a long speech against the treaty, but had not proceeded far when he collapsed. Senator Gallinger, who is a physician, examined Senator Bacon and found that he was not seriously ill. After resting a few minutes Senator Bacon was able to walk from the chamber and was driven to his home. He expects to continue his speech tomorrow.

$12,000 TO CONSCIENCE FUND.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—Secretary Shaw today received the following communication:

Dear Sir: I am sending you herewith inclosed $12,000 which is to go to the use of the United States government. Years ago I defrauded the government of money, but have returned it all, and am now paying fourfold in according with the teachings of scripture. The way of transgressors is hard, and no one but God knows how I have suffered the consequences, and I would seek to do a partial restoration. May God pardon while the United States government is benefited.

A SINNER.

The amount, which was in currency, has been deposited in the treasury to the credit of the conscience fund.

ELOPING PARSON IS CONVICTED.

The Rev. J. Frank Cordova Found Guilty of Abandonment at New Brunswick, N. J.—Another Charge Pending.

New Brunswick, N. J., March 14.—[Special.]—The Rev. J. Frank Cordova, former pastor of the Methodist church at South River, and who eloped with Julia Bowne, was convicted tonight of abandonment. It took the jury six hours to reach an agreement. The offense is punishable by one year in prison or a $500 fine.

Cordova's defense was that his wife had induced him to leave, and that he had supported her since to the best of his means, and that if there had been any desertion it was not fake place in Middlesex county, where he is being tried.

Tomorrow Cordova goes into the prisoner's box again before another jury on a charge of assault upon Mrs. Cordova. She alleges in brief how while in a rage over the charges to be made against Miss Bowne,

PROF. ALBION W. SMALL DR. HARPER

Despite cold winds and drifting snow President William R. Harper of the University of Chicago started east on his trip in search of health yesterday a little after noon. He was accompanied by his son, Samuel, and Dr. Joseph F. Smith of the Presbyterian hospital, who will administer X-ray treatment during his stay in the east.

President Harper's departure from the university was accompanied by no demonstration of any kind. When he left no students were in sight. He was assisted to the carriage by his sons, Samuel and Paul, who rode with him to the Englewood station of the Lake Shore railroad. When he alighted from the carriage he entered the waiting room, where he remained until the Twentieth Century limited arrived.

"I shall proceed direct to New York," he said, "where I shall spend several days. Yes, I expect to see Mr. Rockefeller. Then I shall go to Lakewood, N. J., to remain several weeks."

Before the train arrived he kissed his son Paul. Farewells to his wife, daughter, and son, Donald, had been said before he left his home. Prof. Albion W. Small, one of the president's oldest friends in the university, was the only faculty member who went to the station. When the train arrived he assisted President Harper to the train, and was the last to shake his hand.

Would Follow Trend of Travel.

If the Italian in the first place had not only been directed to New Orleans or some other southern cities, but had been warmly welcomed there and treated as white men are treated in the south—not as a mere foreign compeer of the negro—he would have followed the same trend of immigration beyond all doubt. As it was, however, there were few steamship companies running to southern cities from Italy. The great Atlantic liners found it profitable to carry steerage passengers at low rates to New York and Boston, so when the great surge of Italians came toward the United States they unfortunately were landed almost entirely in those two cities.

There is no opening for agriculturists anywhere in the vicinity of any eastern cities. Italian immigrants therefore by force of circumstances were led into unfamiliar paths until now the stream has been set so strongly in the direction of the north Atlantic states it seems almost impossible to divert it.

For a long time Frank Sargent, commissioner general of immigration, has been looking for some system of checking this congestion of the Italian element in the tenement house districts. He has sought from congress authority to establish at the principal immigration stations and more particularly of course at Ellis island, offices of information where immigrants could be told of the great advantages of life in the unoccupied farm lands of the United States, where, instead of being crowded into unpleasant tenements in the narrow streets they would lead an independent life and ultimately become landowners, which is forever impossible to them in large cities.

Forced to Work at Once.

Unfortunately when once an immigrant lands at Ellis island he is forced to seek employment of some kind at the earliest possible moment and in any event would not have money to pay for a long railroad journey to Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, or Georgia. Besides that, the Italian immigrant is not much given to literary exercise, and pamphlets even in his own tongue describing the beauties of a faraway land flowing with milk and honey would weigh but little with him as compared with the badly scrawled letter from a countryman in description of the amount of money to be earned digging subways or cleaning streets within the sovereignty of Mayor McClellan of New York.

Ambassador Mayor Des Planches, in common with a few other people, has discovered that the way to divert the tide of Italians from the tenements and sweat shops must date back of Ellis island. He proposes to look into the question of the establishment of independent lines of steamships running from Naples or Genoa to Mobile, New Orleans, or Galveston instead of to New York, Boston, and Baltimore. He is going at the problem in a large way and, as he explained during an extended conversation with me at the embassy, it will be necessary to make the diversion originally from Italy and to do it in sufficiently large numbers so that when immigrants arriving in the south write back to their friends at home their letters will be numerous enough and with enough encouragement to influence the peasants at home toward a southern route rather than a northern one.

Gould Line Offers Inducements.

The Italian ambassador fortunately has been put into communication with European agents of the Gould system and they have suggested that this great railroad combination, which is now engaged actively in railroad building in Texas, would be more than willing to offer inducements to immigrants to settle in the semi-arid regions of that state, which are soon to be thrown open for the highest grade of agricultural work through joint action of the railroad train and irrigation ditch.

Germans and more particularly Scandinavians who went into the west and northwest were attracted by the facility with which the railroad companies and the government permitted them to enter up small farms which could be purchased by moderate annual payments. There is a suggestion that the Gould system may go even further than this and may offer to white immigrants, notably of course Italians, not only the right to enter up small farms on the usual easy terms, but will throw in a cabin, some necessary implements, seed, and a possible provision supply for a short time, until the first crop can be harvested.

To Turn Tide Southward.

When the tide of Scandinavian and Teutonic immigrants spread over the northern states they followed the climatic and commercial lines of travel, encountering similar climates and moving on a parallel of latitude from northern Europe to northern America. Now it is proposed that the agricultural southern Italians shall be turned aside from their unnatural pilgrimage toward our industrial northern states and shall be induced to travel toward the gulf of Mexico, from which they would radiate into an agricultural country, with a climate entirely congenial to them, and with still a vast area of the best kind of land either wholly unoccupied, or else developed in but trifling maner by the improvident and racially inferior negro population.

LITTLE GIRL IS MURDERED AFTER ATTACK BY A MAN.

Bryn Mawr, Pa., March 14.—[Special.]—Mary Deluka, a 4 year old Italian girl, was found murdered tonight in a blacksmith shop at Dyer's stone quarries, at Howellville. Beside her body lay her 7 year old brother Dominick, who had defended his sister until he was beaten into insensibility by her assailant. The boy was taken to the West Chester hospital late tonight and may die.

The wildest excitement prevails in Howellville, which is inhabited almost entirely by Italians who work in the quarries.

The police have no clew to the murderer beyond the statement by an Italian that he had seen a man running from the blacksmith shop shortly after 8 o'clock tonight. He could give no description of the man.

A foreman of the quarry found the victims at 8:30 o'clock. He at once notified Dr. George W. Mitchell of Berwyn, who went to Howellville, a mile and a half away. Dr. Mitchell says that when he reached the scene of the murder Mary's body still was warm. The child's head and face were battered badly by the thug's fists. The boy's shoulder was broken and he was injured so severely that when he regained consciousness he could not speak.

Constable Keller was joined by the few American residents of the little village and some of the Italians who had not lost their heads completely, and a search for the murderer was begun in the surrounding country.

IN BEAUTIFUL JAPAN.

Why Is It Called "Cherry Blossom Land?"

IT IS not remarkable that the Japanese art possesses a most peculiar and dainty loveliness, when we consider that the nature of their country is of the most picturesque type. Even the trees and shrubs seem to delight in taking on the most unusual shapes, and flowers flourish in luxurious profusion. The cherry tree is very abundant throughout the land, and in the early spring, before the first shoot of green appears, the whole tree becomes covered with the most exquisite mantle of delicate pink blossoms ranging in tint from a slight blush to a deep red, and the effect is most delightful, the odor of the flowers being very fragrant. For this reason travelers seeing Japan in the springtime have called the country "Cherry Blossom Land." But the flowers soon fade away, and then the tree puts out leaves, and settles down to the serious business of bearing a crop of fruit.

Not only in Japan, but throughout the world, is youth the season of beauty. Our young girls in the freshness of approaching womanhood have a peculiar charm and attractiveness which is never exceeded at later life, but is replaced by the rounded outline and sedate step of maturity. A woman should develop from a child as naturally and gently as the cherry tree puts off its petals, and in a truly healthy woman this is the case.

A girl has as good a claim to strength and health as a boy, and generally needs them more. The vital organism of the young girl requires fresh air and sunshine, just as much as the beautiful American beauty rose. If the young woman is run down and weak, it is not possible for her to take vigorous athletic exercises, but she should then consult with some prominent specialist, and if she does not like to confide in some one at home, it would be well for her to consult, by letter, with some physician of world-wide reputation, such as Dr. R. V. Pierce, the specialist in woman's diseases, at Buffalo, N. Y., who will carefully scrutinize her symptoms and give her the best medical advice free of charge and in perfect confidence. Dr. Pierce was early a student of plant life as well as of the human system and he found that certain herbs, roots and barks made into a tonic without the use of alcohol or narcotics would cure the diseases peculiar to women, this he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The young girl or the matron at times in her life is weighted down by periodical disabilities which become hard to bear. What is needed is a tonic for the womanly system. During the past thirty-eight years this vegetable compound of Dr. Pierce has sold more largely than any other medicine intended only for woman's diseases. Few women in the United States have not heard of its splendid remedial qualities, for it is a Prescription that can always be depended upon when women suffer.

Hundreds of thousands of women testify to the truth of these statements. Let every ailing woman read the two testimonials given below and remember that these two women speak for more than half a million other women cured by the skill of Dr. Pierce and by the use of his "Favorite Prescription." There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription," neither has it any opium or other narcotic.

"Two years ago I began to gradually lose my health," writes Mrs. Nellie D. Stark, Vice-President Bethesda Society, of 39 Gardner Street, Worcester, Mass. "Became nervous, lost my appetite, and it seemed impossible to obtain a good night's rest. I became emaciated, hollow eyed, and suffered with frequent heart palpitation. Complexion was bad and "muddy" looking and I had a haggard expression. I felt as though life had lost its charm; did not care to live, for life without health is simply a living death. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription changed all this. It came as a blessing into my home; I felt better in a short time after starting to use it, and within a month I was like another woman. New life, health and vigor returned and my husband fell in love with me all over again, and a new light and happiness came into my life. Your medicine did all this for me, and it is certainly worthy of praise."

"I was a great sufferer for six years and doctored all the time with a number of physicians but did not receive any benefit," writes Mrs. Geo. Sogden, 641 Bonda St., Saginaw (South), Mich. "I had given up all hope of ever getting better, thought I would write to you. When I received your letter telling me what to do I commenced to take your 'Favorite Prescription' and follow your advice. I have taken ten bottles in all, also five vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' Am now regular, after having missed two years and suffered with pain in the head and back. I was so nervous, could not eat or sleep. Now I can thank you for my recovery."

The proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription offer $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus or Falling of Womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

HOW TO KEEP HEALTHY AND BEAUTIFUL.—There is an easy solution: study Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a work for every woman. A copy will be sent by Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps for a copy of the paper edition. For cloth-bound book, 31 stamps.

We guarantee that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription does not contain alcohol, opium, or any harmful drug. It is a pure compound of medicinal plants scientifically combined. Persons making false statements concerning its ingredients will be prosecuted.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

Thibodaux, La., March 14.—[Special.]—Chicago's White Stockings and the New Orleans Pelicans treated the citizens of this section of the state today to a rattling twelve inning game. It resulted 10 to 8 in favor of the Sox after a hard up hill battle, in which Louis Fiene, the Cedar Rapids recruit, shone.

Tonight the citizen fans responded by giving the visiting players a twelve inning banquet at which every one shone.

The occasion was a gala day for the sugar cane belt, and excursion trains were run from several ways, bringing the attendance close to the census population of the town.

New Orleans had things pretty nearly its own way at the start, scoring five runs in the opening inning off Tom Dougherty. The Louisianians came back with one more in the second, and Tom shut them out in the third. Then Fiene finished out the battle, which proved a great one for this time of the year.

The White Sox accumulated four runs in the first two innings, making the score 6 to 4 against them when Dougherty left the slab. Comiskey's men pounded out three runs in the fifth, which put them temporarily in the lead, but New Orleans got on to Fiene in the sixth for two runs and a lead of one. This Chicago tied up in the eighth and neither side could break the tie until the twelfth, when Manager Isbell's squad bagged two runs and victory.

For the last six innings of the battle not a run was scored off Fiene, who was going stronger at the end than at any other time.

The matinée was a slugging bee of the old kind, with the Sox as chief officials. The Chicagoans made a total of twenty hits off New Orleans' pitchers, Dygert and Dainehower. Donohue and McFarland stung the leather for four safe ones, Holmes for three, and Isbell and Harry Clarke for two each.

The teams remained here overnight and will return to New Orleans tomorrow morning. Score:

OTHER SQUAD GETS PRACTICE.

New Orleans, La., March 14.—[Special.]—The White Sox who remained here got in a splendid day's practice under the guidance of Manager Jones—that is, all of them except Callahan, who remained the sole occupant of the hospital. Eight players were in togs and they worked at the usual stunts, particularly batting and chasing leather.

Walsh developed a "spit ball" which he says will fool the best of them and put Chesbro in the dark this season. The Sox certainly had trouble in hitting him. Altrock has taken off ten pounds since reporting here and hardly a player is over weight.

The weather was delightfully clear and warm and despite all setbacks Jones reports few lame spots in the team unless some of Isbell's tourists developed soreness in their desperate battle out in the country today.

Tomorrow Jones intends to vary the monotony of the practice by getting up a match game between two teams of white legs if Isbell brings his men back in time.

President Comiskey and Secretary Fredericks of the Sox went on a fishing trip today out into the swamps bordering the gulf. They were the guests of Manager Frank of the Pelicans at the Crescent Hunt and Rod club. They brought back tales which overshadowed anything that has come out of the Wisconsin woods. They claimed to have caught everything from a boaconstrictor to a bunch of gray back crabs, and their painfully sun burned faces are evidence that they at least spent a busy day on the water under a blazing sun.

FIRST BASEMAN CHASE BALKS.

California Player Signed by New York American Team May Play with Los Angeles Club.

Montgomery, Ala., March 14.—[Special.]—Manager Griffith this morning received a telegram from Hal Chase of Los Angeles stating that Manager James Morley of that club assures him, he (Chase) can play with the Los Angeles club this season. Chase says he intends to do this if possible.

The California player was drafted by Griffith, and the action of Morley in holding him is a violation of the national agreement. Griffith is incensed at the action, which is believed to be the first move in the player grabbing war of the smaller leagues against the two big organizations.

Chase's contract begins with the opening of the season, at which time the matter will be brought before the national commission. With Ganzel in Grand Rapids and Chase held by Morley the Highlanders are without a first baseman.

This is a serious matter in the makeup of the club, and Anderson may have to be brought in from the outfield. The action of Morley is regarded here as the result of the refusal of the American league to agree to an increase in the draft price of players.

Griffith today telegraphed Ban Johnson about the matter. Tonight he received a telegram from Ban Johnson's secretary, which read: "Matter has been put before the national commission. Will advise you."

Brooklyn Wants Pittsburg Players.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 14.—[Special.]—Charles Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn National league team, was in town this morning trying to sign two Pittsburg boys. "Phil" Lewis and "Jimmy" Pastorious are the players sought by the Brooklyn president. Lewis was transferred from Baltimore and Pastorious bought from Albany. Both men recently sent back contracts offered by the Brooklyn management, the salaries offered being much lower than they had been receiving. When Ebbets saw they would not come to his price he left for Albany, where he hopes to have better success and sign "Ed" McGambwell to hold down first base.

New Catcher for Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 14.—W. H. Watkins, manager of the Minneapolis baseball club, today announced he had secured one more catcher. A. A. Anderson of the Detroit club is the latest addition. Anderson played with the Little Rock club in the Southern league last year, coming to that team from the Pacific coast league, after the season of 1903. Anderson is a heavy hitter. He will report at Champaign with the other players the latter part of the month.

Merrifield Coaches Jap Nine.

Word came to the University of Chicago yesterday that the baseball team of Waseda university of Tokio, Japan, which has arranged for the first series of international intercollegiate baseball ever played, is being coached by Fred Merrifield, the captain of the Midway baseball team in 1899. Merrifield was a divinity student at Chicago and played on the varsity team four years at third base.

COLTS WIN FROM TACOMA.

CHANCE'S STRANDED PLAYERS SCORE COMFORTABLE VICTORY.

Hoffman's Work Is the Feature of the Day at Fresno—He Makes Five Hits and Is Lively on the Bases and at Short Field—Chicagoans Improve in Their Batting—Playing of Both the Teams Is Slow on Account of Soggy Grounds.

Fresno, Cal., March 14.—[Special.]—Capt. Chance and his portion of the Chicago National league squad of baseball players, who are stranded here as a result of washouts on the railroads, defeated the Tacoma team this afternoon by a score of 6 to 2.

Chicago got fifteen hits off the Tacoma pitchers, five of them going to Hoffman, one of Selee's tryouts. He also purloined two sacks and was in the game all the time at shortstop. The heavy hitting of the Colts was decidedly refreshing after their weak attempts in the other games this season.

The grounds were slow and soggy, an absence of fast, snappy ball by both teams being the result. Score:

MAROONS LIKELY TO COMPETE.

Will Participate in Some of the Events at the Charity Meet of the I. A. C.

Although the makeup of the team which will represent the University of Chicago at the indoor meet of the Illinois Athletic club on March 28 has not been decided upon definitely, it is now almost a certainty that the south side institution will enter several events.

The report that President Liginger of the Central association of the A. A. U. may refuse to sanction the meet if special "college" events are held, in order to prevent the participation in the meet of Eckersall, the maroon who was barred from the A. A. U., does not seem to have had any effect upon the attitude of the athletic management of the university. The light in which the matter seems to be viewed is that if President Liginger wishes to antagonize the University of Chicago through the Illinois Athletic club the university will reciprocate by doing everything in its power to make the meet a success.

If the reconsideration of Eckersall's amateur standing by the board of managers of the Central association should bring to light that the former decision of the board against the maroon athlete was hasty he will be reinstated and the trouble which now hangs above the I. A. C. meet will disappear. On the other hand, if the decision of the board should be averse to Eckersall, the sentiment about the Midway yesterday was to the effect that Chicago would enter a team if only to help the new athletic club.

Maroon officials were reticent upon the subject, but it is known that preparations are being made to enter a team regardless of the decision of the board in the Eckersall case. Entries will be made in the dash, the hurdles, the half mile, quarter mile, and possibly the mile and two mile events. The mile relay race is another event in which the team is almost certain to be entered, but the four mile team is doubtful.

"If we had another miler," said Dr. J. E. Raycroft yesterday, "we might enter a four mile team. Lightbody, Will Mathews, and Lyon are all up to the standard, but we are at a loss for another to complete the quartet and I do not see how we can compete."

FOOTBALL LEAGUE IN SESSION.

Arrange Games for the Spring Championship Series—New Members Are Received.

The last meeting of the Chicago League of Association Football before the opening of the spring championship series was held last night at McKenzie's Wayside inn. At the request of the Wanderers, their match with the Hyde Park Blues, which was to have been played at Parkside, was postponed. The other three matches will be played as scheduled, unless more snow should fall. In division A the Calumets will meet the Thistles, and in division B Pullman will play Hyde Park Greys at Pullman and the Metropolitans will tackle the Lake Shores at Sixty-ninth street and Ashland avenue.

J. Kellett was given his release from the Calumets, and will play with the Metropolitans.

Delegates from the clubs report that a number of new members have joined and interest in the opening games will center in the performances of the newcomers.

In a letter received from G. A. Parker of the Corinthian team of London he states the terms under which the tourists will play here. These will be considered at a later meeting. Mr. Parker says the team will be chosen almost entirely from former Oxford and Cambridge players.

SOLDIER ENTRIES AT MICHIGAN.

List of First Regiment Athletes Who Will Compete at Ann Arbor Saturday Night.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 14.—[Special.]—The First regiment of Chicago has sent its entries to Michigan for the dual meet here next Saturday night. After reading the list of men entered Trainer Fitzpatrick said the First regiment would give Michigan a good brush. The entries are:

Illinois to Play Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., March 14.—[Special.]—Nebraska will meet Illinois on the football field in Lincoln next Thanksgiving day. The announcement was made today that a two year contract had been entered into between the two universities for two games to be played in Lincoln, one next fall and the other on the corresponding date in 1906. Illinois at first insisted that Nebraska should go to Champaign this fall, but financial considerations influenced the selection of Lincoln for both contests. Other big games on Nebraska's schedule probably will be with Iowa and Minnesota.

Approve High School Schedule.

Managers of the baseball teams of the Cook County High School league met at the board of education rooms yesterday afternoon and verified the recently formulated schedule for the coming season. The league comprises fourteen teams and is divided into a southern and western division as follows: Southern: Hyde Park, Englewood, Thornton, Medill, Wendell Phillips, South Chicago, University High. Western: North Division, Lake View, Oak Park, John Marshall, English High, Austin, West Division.

Tonight's Basketball Games.

At the West Side Y. M. C. A. tonight the Hull House Intermediates and the Winonas will meet to decide first place in the Chicago Junior Basketball league. Hull House has won all its games and the Winonas must win tonight to tie for first place. Preliminary games will be between the Meteors and Discus, and Midgets and Hyde Park Blues.

Owners of Empire Track Apply at Session of New Turf Organization.

Dates Originally Scheduled Are Approved; License Issued to Tod Sloan.

Probably the most important feature of the American Turf association's meeting at the Auditorium yesterday was the request of James D. and P. H. Butler, owners of the Empire track of New York, to be admitted to the western body. The Empire track was ignored by the Eastern Jockey club, hence the Butlers negotiated for an alliance with the A. T. A., but no action was taken, as the new organization does not wish to extend its jurisdiction to the far east.

The dates assigned to Nashville, Lexington, Louisville, and Kansas City at the association's previous meeting were ratified, and are as follows: Nashville, April 20 to May 2; Lexington, May 3 to May 9; Kansas City, April 22 to May 20; and Louisville, May 10 to May 27. The request for dates for the Union park track at St. Louis was passed until the next meeting. The dates assigned to the Hawthorne and Worth tracks by the Western Jockey club were accepted by the representatives of those tracks.

Changes in Rules.

The rules, drafted by Judges Trevelyan and Murphy from the old American Turf congress and other turf organization rules, were then taken up and adopted with several alterations. One of the rules stipulates that horses 3 years old and upward shall carry no less than eighty-five pounds, which is ten pounds more than called for in the old rules. Another important rule adopted, from a breeder's standpoint, stipulates that only uncontaminated thoroughbreds with six crosses, or animals the breeding of which can be traced through the first six volumes in the American stud book, shall be eligible to registry.

The question of honest and capable timers was discussed and resulted in the appointment to that position of George Lindenberger of Louisville, Ky., a well known harness horse man and owner of several thoroughbred runners. Other timers will be named at the next meeting.

License to Tod Sloan.

Jockey licenses were granted to Tod Sloan, J. T. Shea, and eighteen others and to fifty-four trainers. Jockey Charlie Mountain's application was refused and later was referred to Judge Trevelyan, who ruled him off at Kansas City last fall. W. J. Connors, who was set down for the inconsistent running of his horse, Bud Emery at City park, was refused a license, as was T. McCarley, who assaulted Jockey Shea at City park yesterday. The applications of T. J. Walker and C. Hyams were passed to the next meeting.

Those in attendance and the tracks they represented were: Edward Corrigan for Hawthorne, Kansas City, and the new New Orleans; W. J. O'Brien and George Gibbs, Worth; W. J. Winn, Louisville; W. O. Parmer, Highland park, Detroit; P. J. Carmody, St. Louis; and Nashville, Hot Springs, and Lexington by proxy.

The meeting passed off quietly and with no reference to war with the Western Jockey club. No date was named for the next meeting, which will be called by Secretary W. J. McAllister.

JAKE SANDERS TAKES FEATURE.

Derby Colt Beats Rapid Water in the Boston Club Handicap at Fair Grounds.

New Orleans, La., March 14.—[Special.]—The Boston Club handicap, at one mile, brought out some top notch sprinters at the fair grounds today. Rapid Water, whose defeat on Saturday was attributed to a twisted plate, was in with 128 pounds up. He was beaten fairly by Jake Sanders, the 3 year old which came so near winning the Crescent City Derby.

Dominick had the mount on Rapid Water, and he had him down in the deep going, where he had him on Saturday, and where he had King's Trophy in the Derby. Invincible made the early running and quit approaching the stretch, but when Rapid Water got to him the son of Rapallo did not have much left. He hung on gamely enough, but Jake Sanders came down on the outside and beat him cleverly.

Barney Schreiber's Inspector Halpin was a colt by himself in the seventh. It was easy for him after he had caught Darius.

Jockeys in Stabbing Affray.

New Orleans, La., March 14.—[Special.]—An altercation occurred this morning between Jockeys W. Shea and Thomas McCarley, employed by Max Keufler, in which McCarley stabbed Shea about the chest and face with a penknife. The lad was painfully but not dangerously wounded. He was removed to the Charity hospital. McCarley was arrested. He is an apprentice, and some days ago applied for a license from the American Turf association. The judges at City park ruled him off the turf.

GETS LITTLE ROCK DATES.

Martin Nathanson Is to Be Presiding Judge at the Extra Session—Arkansas Derby and Two Other Stakes to Be Run During Next Week—Tokalon Meets Defeat in Her First Start of the Season, but Shows Form That Is Promising.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 14.—[Special.]—C. A. Tilles arrived here today from St. Louis and immediately announced that the Little Rock dates would be run off at Oaklawn next week. Two stakes and the Arkansas Derby will be run during the six day meet under the auspices of the Arkansas Jockey club.

Racing today was interesting, and the thirteen books received a hard beating. Divination's victory at a long price over Crown Prince, Tokalon, and Preen in the six furlong sprint was the chief surprise. MODIFY RACING ACT IN MISSOURI.

Pool Selling Is Made a Misdemeanor Instead of a Felony by the Senate.

MINIMUM FINE TO BE $50.

Bill Must Now Return to the House for Its Approval of the Change.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 14.—[Special.]—House bill No. 716, prohibiting bookmaking and pool selling in the state, passed the senate unanimously at 8:20 this afternoon. It was, however, amended so as to make the penalty a misdemeanor instead of a felony, punishable by a fine of not less than $50 or sixty days in jail or $1,000 and a jail sentence of one year.

Senators Kinealy, Farris, Morton, and other friends of the racing interests realized that they had been beaten and consented to vote for the bill on condition that the penalty was classed as a misdemeanor. This the republican senators agreed to do—partly, it is said, out of consideration for the democratic votes they received yesterday on the St. Louis home rule police bill.

The bill as now amended will be sent back to the house for concurrence.

Senator W. B. Kinealy of St. Louis, one of the principal champions of the racing interests, said: "When the repeal bill went through we felt it was no use to try to stop No. 716. The best we could expect was to have the offense made a misdemeanor instead of a felony.

"I do not believe a man ought to be sent to the penitentiary for making books or pools on horse races."

BELL'S ENTRY MEETS DEFEAT.

New Orleans, La., March 14.—[Special.]—A card representing more class than ordinarily was offered at City park today. The attendance was large, and eighteen books had plenty of business.

In the selling purse at a mile and seventy yards L. V. Bell, the New York turfman, started Brush Up, having leased the filly for the occasion in order to identify himself with the American Turf association. In the clever division Brush Up was not seriously considered, as it was not thought she would go the route, although she had some support. Capt. Brown's Kernel, Nicol up, was favorite at 4 to 5. Brush Up made the pace fast for five and a half furlongs, when she stopped, and Miss Nannie L. took up the running. Nicol had to drive Kernel to the limit to get to her, but managed to land in front by a length.

C. McCafferty to Race at Harlem.

San Francisco, Cal., March 14.—[Special.]—C. McCafferty today made thirty-seven entries to stakes at Harlem. Dr. Leggo is named in the principal events. M. J. Daly is delayed here on account of washouts, and is uncertain when he will leave for New Orleans.

SAM BERGER OF CALIFORNIA MEETS RICKARDS OF CHICAGO.

Western Man Is Favorite in the Betting at 10 to 8 for the Amateur Contest, Which Will Take Place in San Francisco—Manager Coffroth and Jimmy Britt Fail to Bluff Battling Nelson Into Making a One Sided Agreement.

San Francisco, Cal., March 14.—[Special.]—Both Sam Berger and "Big Bill" Rickards claim there is nothing more for them to do than to come to the center and mix at the sound of the gong tomorrow night.

For ten days no effort has been spared at either training camp to round the men into the best possible condition and one look at the two husky athletes is enough to prove their respective labors have not been wasted.

Berger said: "I've practically been in training for six weeks. If this fellow should happen to beat me, which I think most unlikely, I could hardly offer poor condition as an excuse. I don't think I was ever so fast or in better fix in my life and I could go twenty rounds as easily as four."

Trainer Dick Greene is satisfied with the condition of Rickards. "The big fellow is right," he said, "and good enough for me to bet my coin on. He will surprise some of the local fight fans, who think Berger is invincible. He'll beat Jeffries before another year has passed."

Berger is a slight favorite over Rickards. The pool selling today was at 10 to 8, yet there hasn't been much betting. The odds won't change materially before the fight, as Berger is a local favorite.

Developments indicate that Coffroth's announcement that he had signed Jabez White as the next opponent for Jimmy Britt was solely to force Battling Nelson to come to his and Britt's terms in order that Britt might corral the extra 10 per cent of the proceeds.

In the face of his statement that the match had been made with White, Coffroth, Willie Britt, and Eddie Graney were after Nelson and his manager, Billy Nolan, yesterday begging them to agree to the original terms. Nelson still held to his declaration that he was entitled to an even break with Britt in the 65 per cent of the proceeds of the fights to be given to the fighters, and Coffroth's bluff with regard to White was without result.

Coffroth is well aware the sporting public would not stand for a match between Britt and such a mark as White, and any fight between the two men would be a losing venture. White has not fought in three years and has no record that would entitle him to a match with Britt. Coffroth will probably come to Nelson's terms, as the Dane is the only one who can put up a good fight with Britt.

CHICAGO PLEADS FOR FAIR RATES.

EAST HAS ADVANTAGE.

Schedules from West to Dixie Are Much Higher than from New York.

Chicago renewed its plea with the railroads yesterday for fair play in rates. Representatives of the city pleaded with the southern and eastern lines to open up for their factories the growing markets of the southeastern states. They asked—as they have asked so often before—for the removal of discriminating rates made nearly twenty-eight years ago, which give to New York, Boston, and the east in general an insurmountable advantage in the selling of manufactured articles in this section.

While Chicago and the middle west pleaded the presidents of the southeastern roads sat in silence, listening gravely to the arguments without making any reply. Late in the day, however, a hasty conference of the officials of the southern roads was called. The committee will report its findings at a subsequent meeting to be held in New York within a few days.

Purpose of Conference.

The conference between the presidents of the southern and eastern lines, or their personal representatives, and a committee representing the Chicago Shippers' association was held in pursuance of a resolution passed at a similar meeting held in New York ten days ago, at which St. Louis also was represented. Yesterday's meeting was held ostensibly for the purpose of investigating the conditions and cost of manufacture in Chicago as compared to the eastern cities.

Chicago claims, and for years has claimed, the city should have the same all rail rate to Atlanta and other southeastern centers which New York enjoys. To get its goods to the southern markets this city now has to pay 23 cents a hundred pounds more on first class freight than New York pays and a proportionate differential on other classes, although the advantage in distance lies wholly with Chicago. These differentials were made arbitrarily by the Southern Railroad association in December, 1878, when there was no Sherman anti-trust law nor any interstate commerce commission. Subsequently the association was disbanded on account of the Sherman act, but the inequality of rates has continued.

Men Attending Conference.

In point of personnel the conference is one of the most important that has been held for years. The Chicago Shippers' association was represented by H. C. Barlow, Franklin MacVeagh, J. V. Farwell Jr., J. E. Strong, Charles Conover, and A. A. Sprague II. Representing the railroads were W. M. Greene, vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern; J. M. Blaibon, freight traffic manager of the Alton; C. H. Rockwell, traffic manager of the Monon; F. A. Wann, vice president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton; G. J. Grammer, vice president of the Vanderbilt system; J. T. Harahan of the Illinois Central; Joseph Wood, vice president of the Vandalia lines; M. Knight, vice president of the Wabash; C. C. Harvey, president of the New Orleans and Northwestern; W. A. Garrett, general manager of the Queen and Crescent; A. S. Dodge, vice president of the 'Frisco system; M. H. Smith, president of the Louisville and Nashville; R. V. Taylor, general manager of the Mobile and Ohio; H. B. Spencer of the Southern Railway, and T. P. Hale, second vice president of the Gulf and Ship Island railway.

Southern Roads Want Everything.

While the Chicago-Ohio river lines were willing to grant the reduction of rates asked and offered to submit the fair division of rates with the southern roads to an arbitration committee, the southern roads replied that if the Chicago-Ohio river lines wanted to see rates reduced they must bear the entire burden, a matter of 23 cents, or more than half the present rate to the Ohio river.

The manufacturers will not give up the fight even if they lose this time. If turned down by the railroads there will be another conference of the manufacturing interests.

"I hope the railroads have seen sufficient light to enable them to act wisely in this matter," one of the merchants said. "But we have justice on our side, and if we don't win now we shall keep right on with the fight, strengthening our lines all the time, until Chicago and St. Louis finally are put on a parity with New York and the east."

World's Fair Ticket Report.

Joint Agent Norton, who represented twenty St. Louis terminal lines during the world's fair, has made a statement of the number of tickets passing through the validating office, which shows that one-fifth of the total handled were Wabash tickets.

E. P. Higgins has been appointed auditor of disbursements of the Big Four system. The place of assistant auditor has been abolished and the position created for Mr. Higgins is a new one.

An effort is being made by Chicago grain shippers to secure an equalization of rates between Iowa points and Chicago and Minneapolis. Traffic officials met to discuss the situation. The Minneapolis lines oppose any reduction of the Chicago rates, declaring they should be 3 to 5 cents higher than the Minneapolis rates.

DAVID C. COOK TRANSFERS REAL ESTATE TO HIS WIFE.

David C. Cook of Elgin, publisher of religious works, has conveyed to his wife, Marguerite Cook, a tract of ground in the rear of the property at 92 to 98 Washington street for the nominal consideration of $1. The ground fronts 80 feet on Calhoun place and has a depth of 72. It is under lease to the Chicago Telephone company for ninety-nine years, from Dec. 1, 1903, at an annual rental of $8,000, which is $35.71 a square foot. The telephone company has had plans prepared for a sixteen story building, but it is probable only six stories will be erected at the present time.

C. B. Scoville of Pasadena, Cal., soon will begin the construction of a warehouse and manufacturing block at the northwest corner of Desplaines street and Jackson boulevard for the occupancy of the Continental Tailors. The building will be eight stories high, will front 130 feet on each street, and will cost $150,000. It has been leased to the Continental Tailors for twenty years at a rental of 5 per cent on the value of the ground, the latter being fixed at $1,000 a front foot, and 8 per cent on the cost of the building.

Mr. Scoville also is erecting a three story and basement building at 76 West Monroe street. The Chicago Elevator Supply company has leased it for twenty years for an annual rental of $5,000.

E. M. Hopkins and others have conveyed to Jerome Platt the residence property at the northwest corner of Dearborn avenue and Oak street. R. J. Kittridge & Co. have obtained a loan of $58,500, due in five years, and a loan of 5 per cent, secured by a trust deed given to Frederick H. Rawson as trustee upon the property and improvement 100 feet on Green street and 143 on Superior street.

Maurice Weill has sold to Oelerich & Laux, through Willis & Frankenstein, the warehouse property in Austin avenue, at the southwest corner of Jefferson street, 60x80 feet, improved with a four story and basement building, for $31,500.

FORMER SLAVES FEAR LAWYER.

Allege H. N. Rose Is Trying to Take Advantage of Ignorance to Oust Them from Cottage.

Peter and Lucy J. Smith, negroes, have asked that Attorney Herbert N. Rose be restrained by the Circuit court from proceeding against them in justice courts. They assert that they were born in slavery and the lawyer is trying to take advantage of their ignorance of legal requirements to deprive them of their dwelling at 1912 Park avenue.

The Smiths bought the property in 1892 from Julia G. Campbell, agreeing to pay $1,800 in $20 monthly installments. Later, they allege, she agreed to accept $15 payments with interest.

Mrs. Campbell died last May and Rose acquired title to the premises and insisted on the balance due, $817, being paid. He obtained a judgment for the amount.

VARYING RUMORS BOTHER TRADERS

SPECIAL STOCKS SPURT.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, March 14.—[Special.]—The stock market was flooded with rumors today, many of which taxed the credulity of the traders. There was a general selling tendency, but the market was saved by revivals in special instances. The profit taking of the day was absorbed as usual and advances renewed at many points. Some distrust continues to be expressed over the extent of the advances and over the reliability of the factors which have caused them and the high level of prices is regarded with apprehension in conservative quarters. One striking evidence of this is the fact that money brokers in London in connection with the current stock market settlement there hesitate to accept American rails as collateral security for large loans owing to their fears that present prices are unstable.

A growing influence in stock market circles is the prospect for the enactment at Albany of a tax on stock transfers, which it is feared would constitute a serious obstruction of a large proportion of the operations now conducted on the New York stock exchange. Much attention is given in consequence to the discussion of measures of opposition. The consideration of the subject had its part in causing the falling off of activity today in the trading. The $50,000,000 bond issue authorized by the Pennsylvania railroad was just half as much as speculative rumor had pointed to, and the movement of the stock indicated that this moderation was a disappointment to the holders of the security. Smelting moved up again on revival of lead merger reports. There were extraordinary movements in some of the closely held high priced stocks, Lackawanna rising on trivial buying to 400. Ontario and Western movement was renewed strongly in the late dealings without further news developments and helped to break the effect of the active profit taking in progress which made the closing irregular. Bonds were irregular. Total sales par value, $4,440,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

Close: Money on call steady, 2¼@3 per cent; closing bid 2½, offered at 2¾. Time loans, easy; sixty days, 3 per cent; ninety days, 3¼; six months, 3¼@3½. Prime mercantile paper, 3¾@4¼ per cent. Sterling exchange, steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.75@486.80 for demand, and at 484.70@484.75 for sixty day bills. Posted rate, 485¼@487½. Commercial bills, 484⅝. Bar silver, 58⅛. Mexican dollars, 45. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds irregular.

RESUME TRIPS ACROSS LAKE.

Steamship Lines Starting, Graham & Morton Being First to Begin Regular Runs.

Navigation between Chicago and ports on the east shore of Lake Michigan will be opened today by the Graham & Morton line with its steamer Argo, which sails tonight for St. Joseph. More difficulty in breaking through the ice fields on the east shore was encountered than was expected and it took the Argo all yesterday to cut a way through the field, which extends twenty miles into the lake from the Michigan shore.

Beginning tonight the Argo will make three trips weekly to Michigan cities, leaving Chicago on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays.

If the ice fields have wasted away enough to allow an entrance to Muskegon and Grand Haven the Goodrich line will send out its steamer Atlanta to those ports tomorrow.

THINNED BY DEATH AND DUES.

Grand Army of the Republic Ranks Are Lessening, According to Annual Report.

Death and unpaid dues are rapidly thinning the ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic in Illinois, according to the annual report issued yesterday by Department Commander R. M. Woods.

Within fifteen years the death rate has increased from less than 1 per cent per annum to 3.6 per cent. The Illinois posts buried 737 members during 1904 and 1,150 were dropped from the rolls for nonpayment of dues.

There now are in the Illinois department 531 posts with 19,549 members. The net loss in membership is 970. The total of disbursements during the year was $49,396, of which $5,970 was for charity. The cash on hand and property is valued at $154,505.

JOY REIGNS IN THE CITY HALL.

Treasurer's Office Is Busied Paying Salaries of the 9,000 Employes of the Municipality.

Joy reigned at the city hall yesterday, where all of the 9,000 city employés who were able to walk besieged the treasurer's office for their salary checks for the last half of January and for February. Nearly $1,000,000 was paid out. The payments were made possible by the passing of the tax levy budget.

CIGARS UNITED

OUR SUGGESTION FOR THIS WEEK

A Three-for-a-Quarter Havana Cigar

WE introduced the HAVANA-AMERICAN Brand of Havana cigars a few months ago and it has already become our leading high grade brand. One of the best sizes of this brand is the "Regalia" at three-for-a-quarter. It is made entirely of very choice Havana tobacco and is superior in size and quality to any other standard three-for-a-quarter cigar in the market. Ask for HAVANA-AMERICAN Regalias.

Three-for-a-Quarter. $4.00 Box of 50.

May Almost Reaches It, Gaining a Little Less than a Cent on Continued Local Bull Effort and Light Speculative Offerings — Wheat Closes Firm, Helped by the Corn Strength, in Spite of Better Weather for the Growing Crop.

The half dollar mark, the first goal of the ambition of the corn bulls for weeks and months, was reached yesterday by the July and September deliveries, which sold at that figure and closed just under it at 49⅞c bid, net gains ⅝c and ⅝c respectively.

The most active future, the May, did not quite reach 50c, stopping with an advance of ⅞c at 49⅞c and closing at that price sellers. This upturn, however, made a net gain of 1⅛c for two days. The advance was forced by buying by the leading local bulls, Patten, Pringle, and Cudahy, and the market went up easily, trade being lighter than the day before and offerings scanty, even on the advance, a fact testified to by the trivial reaction from top figures.

May sold at 49c shortly after the opening, and worked slowly up, with only moderate setbacks on the way. The storm here and the predictions of snow and rain for the west, which may reduce grading and restrict movement, gave the bull party confidence from the start. The belief that the falling off in export clearances to the other side will force an increased European demand was still effective. There appeared no urgent demand for export, however, either here or at the seaboard, the sharp upturn of the last two days having carried prices out of line with the views of foreign buyers. Liverpool prices did not follow the advance of Monday, closing steady to ⅛d higher because of the disappointing spot demand.

Export Demand Quiet.

Export sales reported by the seaboard were only 32,000 bu. The local cash market was ½c higher; total cash sales, 125,000 bu, exclusive of 25,000 bu resold by an exporter, the corn being worth more in the local market than for shipment abroad. Receipts fell off, only 322 cars in, or 84 under the estimate, and 227 estimated for today, the light movement another bull help.

Primary receipts, however, were 848,000 bu, compared with 537,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were 482,000 bu. Country acceptances on the advance were liberal from Nebraska, smaller from Iowa and Illinois, and there were hedging sales in the pit by cash houses. Bradstreet reported a decrease of 605,000 bu in stocks east of the Rockies for the week, compared with an increase of 1,032,000 bu the corresponding week last year.

The buying was led by Bartlett-Frazier, Logan-Bryan, Pringle-Fitch-Rankin, Knight-Donnelley, and Cudahy brokers. The selling was more scattered, the best offerings on the bulge by Sickel-Roberts, McReynolds, Harris-Scotten, Kneeland-Clement-Curtis, and Ware-Leland. Provision traders covered short May and commission houses generally had July for sale at 50c.

Erratic Opening in Wheat.

The wheat market opened on a wide range for May of 1⅜c from $1.12⅞ up to $1.14¼, a small scattered demand forcing an advance to the latter figure before offerings became liberal. The market was nervous throughout the session, fluctuating sharply in response to orders either way, selling off to $1.12½ up to $1.13⅜, and closing at $1.13⅛, a net gain of ⅛c.

There was a tendency to easiness in the July, the demand from shorts less urgent because of the large amount of covering done Monday, and the market affected by the local snows and predictions of rain and snow for most of the winter wheat belt, which will provide moisture and smother the Hessian fly stories, if not the flies themselves. There was a dip to 92⅝c, but buying was stimulated by the strength in corn, and the market rallied 1c, closing at 93¼c bid, a net gain of ⅛c. September gained ⅛-¼c. Offerings of Duluth No. 1 northern for spring shipment at 2c under May c. i. f. Chicago had a weakening influence temporarily, which was offset by the claim that little of the Duluth contract stock is good enough to grade contract here.

Wheat from Kansas City.

There were reports from Kansas City of wheat being loaded there to come to this market, presumably for delivery on May sales, and the cash demand there was quoted weak. Minneapolis advices on the cash demand were conflicting and stocks there decreased 350,000 bu for three days. Fair sales of flour were reported. Receipts there were lighter than last year, 268 cars, compared with 294, and primary receipts were 451,000 bu, compared with 596,000 bu a year ago. The local cash market was dull, sales 48,000 bu. Clearances were 112,500 bu, all flour.

Liverpool prices were ⅛d to ¼d lower in spite of the advance here Monday because of a poor spot trade. Bradstreet's report of changes in world's stocks for the week was bearish compared with last year's figures, an increase of 2,067,000 bu, against a decrease of 575,000 bu.

In the May trade it looked as though the eastern bulls were trying to sell on the sharp bulges, but were supporting the market on the decline. There was buying on the dips by Ware-Leland, Bartlett, and Love, some selling on the hard spots by the same houses. The July demand was led by Raymond, Pringle, Lake, Woodbury, and Barrell, the selling by Logan-Bryan, Brosseau, Bogert, Bennett, Milmine-Bodman, Tuttle, and Mitchell. There was some selling for the southwest.

Oats Helped by Corn.

The oats pit enjoyed a reflected strength from corn, but the reflection was dimmer than the original. There was fair buying on the old and popular theory that the discount under corn was too great, but the market only advanced ¼c for May and July, ⅛c for September. Trade was moderate in volume. Receipts were 281 cars, with 143 estimated. Country acceptances were small, but so was the shipping demand, sales 50,000 bu. Cash prices were ⅛c higher. Stocks east of the Rockies increased 45,000 bu for the week, compared with an increase of 1,214,000 bu a year ago.

Provisions Slow to Start Upward.

Provisions were only wakened from their lethargy after corn had advanced close to top prices, when buying by brokers of lard and ribs caused scattered covering of shorts and a broader trade generally. Prices closed near the top—pork 17½c higher, lard 10c higher, and ribs 7½@10c higher. The market was neglected until the last hour, when buying by Wolff and Hately started prices up. On the advance there was selling by the Anglo, by Anderson, and scattered commission houses. Local hog receipts were 19,000 head, and 28,000 are estimated for today. Prices at the yards were unchanged. At the leading western markets there were 64,300 hogs, compared with 56,700 last year. Cash demand was still quiet. Liverpool quoted short clears 6d lower and Cumberland sides 6d higher.

Small Markets Dull.

Rye ruled steady. May was nominally 78½c and March 78c and September 75c asked. Carlots of No. 2 sold from 79c to 80c f. o. b. from store. Receipts were 4 cars.

Barley sold over the same range. Malting grades from 38c to 46c, fancy 48@50c, seed from 36c to 41, and screenings from 29c to 41c. Receipts were 45 cars.

Flaxseed was 1@1½c lower. May was nominally $1.25 and March $1.25. No. 1 northwestern was $1.37 and No. 1 from the southwest $1.25. Receipts were 7 cars here, 6 at Minneapolis, and 23 at Duluth.

Timothy seed was steady. March was nominally $3.00 and September $3.10. Country lots ranged from $2.25 to $3.00, according to quality. March clover seed was $12.85 and bag lots $8.50@12.50.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

A circular has been sent out by the directors urging members to bring to the attention of the representatives and senators from their districts the two bills before the state legislature in which the board is vitally interested. Inclosed with the letter are two editorials from THE TRIBUNE showing the folly of the failure of the present statute to distinguish between legitimate trading in grain for future delivery and bucket shopping. The circular says "The present state of the law of this state is, that, if one makes trades through a broker with the secret intention not to deliver or receive the property, the broker, although he does not know of this undisclosed improper intention of the trader, is a criminal, and as such is liable to a penalty of not less than $200 and not more than $500 for the first offense, and for the second offense imprisonment for six months. This statute never has been construed by any court in this state to cover the board of trade itself. But courts in other states, in suits brought by the exchange to protect its property, have denied relief, because they construed the language of this statute as constituting commercial exchanges, like the Chicago board of trade, bucket shops. These decisions have been recently repudiated by a decision in favor of the board of trade by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals of the Seventh circuit (Judges Jenkins, Grosscup, and Baker)." The pending bill proposes to substitute for the inaccurate definition of a bucket shop in the present bucket shop statute the comprehensive definition adopted by congress in amending the war revenue act so as to tax bucket shops. The other bill brought to the attention of members is an amendment to declare the broker of a loser is not a "winner" by this statute, under which numerous suits are constantly being brought to recover from members three times the losses of their customers.

Broomhall's weekly foreign crop summary says: "United kingdom and France—Conditions continue quite favorable, but the supplies of native wheat are small. Germany—Crops are believed to be all right and there are liberal supplies of native wheat. Hungary—The crops look satisfactory at the moment, but more rain is wanted. Russia—The weather is mild and crop prospects continue to give satisfaction. Italy—The crop outlook continues favorable. Spain—Conditions have improved since a week ago. North Africa—There have been some complaints the last week. India—Supplies of old crop wheat are reported to be practically exhausted."

Duluth No. 1 northern wheat was offered to this market for spring shipment by lake at 2c over the local May price c. i. f. Chicago. No demand could be discovered for it at that discount, suggesting that the wheat is not good enough to grade contract here, although this is a point about which there is dispute. There are some claims that the bulk of the Duluth wheat would grade here, but some of the May bulls have made a thorough investigation and declare most of the Duluth No. 1 northern is light in weight and poor in looks and quality, including a good deal of frosted wheat, and that little of it would grade here. It is also claimed a good deal of the Minneapolis No. 1 northern would not pass as contract grade in this market. The standard of inspection in the two northwestern markets is said to have been lowered this year because of the unusually poor quality of the crop, while the inspection in this market has been maintained. In a recent dispute over grading at Duluth it is said the appeals committee turned down wheat there graded by the inspection department as No. 1 northern. A Kansas City message to Milmine-Bodman said: "Just counted 125 cars wheat on sample tables, and 65 more to come up from the yards. Hear good deal of loading for your market."

Demand for cash wheat showed some signs of improvement, sales totaling 48,000 bu. Prices on the tables were about steady. A good many cars of wheat, particularly spring wheat, have had to be carried over lately, and in the neighborhood of 50 cars have gone over unsold, some of the wheat having been on the tables for two weeks. At Minneapolis there was an advance of ⅝c in No. 1 northern in store to $1.11, and at Duluth a like advance to $1.06⅝. St. Louis was steady at $1.06¼ for No. 2 red in store. Kansas City reported No. 2 hard, $1.00@1.02, f. o. b. Minneapolis reported millers buying No. 2 and No. 3, the former 1@3½c under May and the latter $1.00@1.04. Shipping demand for corn was not so good, the advance cutting off business with the other side. Sales to domestic users were 125,000 bu. Sales of oats were 75,000 bu. Three loads of Liverpool corn were resold to Chicago by the seaboard.

Most of the local bears in July wheat have covered and are waiting for more of a reaction in prices, while some of them have gone long in order to help bring about such recovery. James Rankin, who was one of the original bears when the market was over a dollar for July, is still positive it is headed for lower prices, and that the 93c price is only a way station on the road to 90c and lower.

Acceptances of corn were light in Iowa and Illinois, but Nebraska holders still were selling all they could get cars for, to get the benefit of the low rates. One house alone bought about 100,000 bu in Nebraska. The policy of holding back still obtains in Iowa, in spite of the fact track bids at their stations were said to equal the Chicago price prior to the reduction in rates.

North Dakota must have raised more wheat than some of the bulls have allowed for. C. E. Lewis wired from Minneapolis that they were still thrashing last year's crop in that state, where the farmers are also getting ready to seed another one.

The petitions to make western red wheat deliverable on contracts at a 5c penalty, and No. 3 corn deliverable at a like discount, were laid over for a week by the directors, to get a broader view of the opinion of the trade on the proposals.

There was a net increase of 2,067,000 bu in the world's visible according to Bradstreet's. Stocks in Europe and afloat increased 3,600,000 bu, while east of the Rockies there was a decrease of 1,535,000 bu.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 3 cars; corn, 227 cars; oats, 143 cars; rye, none; barley, 25 cars; hogs, 28,000 head.

There was a sale of a membership by W. H. Anderson at an advance of $25, the price $3,025 net to the buyer.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The attitude of the dry goods buyer has changed but little and the market, although firm, shows little evidence of increasing activity. The outlook is for continued conservative business. Jobbers locally continue to do a fair business, but are not reporting any rush.

Metals—Tin, in London, reacted and closed at £134 15s for spot and £133 15s for futures. Locally, closed weak, at $29.35@29.65. IN THE FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, March 14.—Money was not abundant in the market today, but the demand was good. Discounts generally were steady. Trading on the stock exchange opened cheerful, but prices weakened. Consols were firm in the early part of the day, but sagged later. The market recovered, but closed below the best quotations of the day. Americans started at above parity, New York Central and Canadian Pacific being the features. There were several further advances, particularly in Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. The feeling here, however, was less optimistic than in New York and operators were cautious. Prices closed firm. Foreigners fluctuated heavily. Russians were weak on Paris sales. Japanese were not supported. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 105¼.

BERLIN, March 14.—The trading on the boerse today generally was tranquil, except in the case of iron shares, which were active.

PARIS, March 14.—Trading on the bourse today was irregular and at the closing the tone was heavy, particularly in the case of Russians, owing to rumors that the proposed new loan had been adjourned. Bankers who were interviewed said there was nothing definite in reference to the issue of the loan or the matters of date and redemption. They were, however, of the opinion that the loan was not imminent. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 88.50 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 503.

PUZZLE IN ROCK ISLAND.

COMMON STOCK STANDS STILL IN MIDST OF BIG MARKET.

Theory That Moores and Harriman Are Accumulating Shares and That Eventually They Will Be Given Full Voting Power and Be Advanced — Plan Proposed to Reorganize Chicago Exchange—Railways Placing Orders for Rails and Equipment.

A peculiar interest is beginning to attach to the movement, or lack of movement, of Rock Island common stock. The shares are a point or two lower now than they were last November, although every other stock in which the Moores have a voice has been advancing. The general market is from 10 to 20 points higher than three months ago, while Rock Island common remains practically stationary.

To repeat the theory and not assert a fact, it is believed that for reasons not publicly known the insiders are keeping quotations down for purposes of accumulation, not necessarily by themselves alone but in the interest of others. The belief obtains that sooner or later it is intended to give the common stock voting rights equal to those enjoyed by the preferred issue. The preferred stock, according to the bylaws of the company, elects a majority of the board of directors. The common stock can vote, but only for six of the thirteen members of the board of directors, which for purposes of control renders the shares without value. But if given equal voting power the common stock would be in a position to elect a majority of the board, since the common outstanding amounts to $88,754,900, while the preferred issue is $48,690,200.

Moores Have More Money.

When the company was organized the Moores and their friends didn't have so much money as they now have. In order to be able to hold control of the system which they intended to develop they vested the election of a majority of the board of directors in the preferred stock and then kept the preferred issue. In this way the amount of capital tied up in the stock was limited, leaving them a large amount of cash available for other operations. The preferred share control plan was highly attractive at that time for other reasons. Wall street financiers were almost solidly arrayed against the Rock Island crowd, and the latter found it necessary to render its control of the property absolutely secure.

But now the Moores and their friends are much richer than they were. Wall street is friendly to them. Speyer & Co. freely purchased their bonds. J. P. Morgan & Co. and the First National bank interests coöperate with them. They have since purchased a controlling interest in the Chicago and Alton, thereby demonstrating their enlarged resources.

Another change has come over the general situation. It is the revival of the community of interest idea in railroad management. In the case of the Chicago and Alton an agreement was entered into between the Moores and Harriman interests, so that the election of directors passed off without any semblance of squabble, a friendly understanding having been reached before the meeting took place. Now it is asserted that Mr. Harriman and his friends are acquiring Rock Island common with a view of being represented in the management, and that the Moores and their friends are aiding this move. Then when the stock shall have been accumulated to the extent desired the theory is that full voting power will be given, and the lethargy in Rock Island common will become a matter of the past.

Metropolitan L Proxies.

It is understood that the shareholders' proxy committee in the Metropolitan Elevated is receiving practically all the proxies sent in by shareholders. In consequence of this fact there is likely to be no contest at the annual meeting since it will be too one sided for a controversy. Having practically all of the proxies results will be more or less unanimous.

The committee appointed to suggest a name for president of the company has as yet held no meeting, and apparently no one is being specially considered.

Chicago Stock Exchange.

Granger Farwell, president of the Chicago stock exchange, has addressed informally to the members of the exchange the following queries and address:

"1. Should the stock exchange proceed as soon as possible to acquire property either by purchase or lease for its future home?

"2. Do you favor maintaining the present exchange with the increased dues necessary to create an ample building fund and to leave its present fund so that memberships may be retired thereby down to, say, 200 members?

"3. Do you favor, instead of this, the liquidation of the present exchange rather than what might be termed its reorganization?

"I take the liberty of addressing you in a personal and not in an official capacity, in order, if possible, to ascertain your views relative to the future action of the Chicago stock exchange. I do this for two reasons:

"One is that several members have gone out of their way to express their regret that we did not effect the proposed acquisition of the leasehold owned by Mr. David Mayer, upon which it was the expectation to erect a home for the Chicago stock exchange, and also because through Mr. Mayer and others has come information that if the Chicago stock exchange did not desire with their own money to erect a building suitable for their purposes parties stood ready to do so for them, furnishing them such space as they might need for a long term of years at a reasonable price. There is every reason to believe that unless reasonably prompt action is taken in relation to securing an adequate site it will be a great mistake, both because it will be more difficult to obtain a proper location and also because it is likely to cost us a much higher price. Being convinced in my own mind that the directors of the exchange would not feel like again putting before its members a proposition of this kind, except after some expression of opinion from each member, I write for some expression of your views upon the subject.

Present Membership Too Large.

"My belief is that it is the opinion of those best posted in stock exchange affairs that the membership of the stock exchange is too large and that there are too many memberships held in the exchange by those who do not use them actively, but who do participate in the benefits of the life insurance which accrue to every member of the exchange.

"There seems to be a strong opinion that the solution of the problem will have to be met in one or two ways:

"Either the present stock exchange will have to increase its dues largely, say to $200 a year, so that with its present funds which they have on hand, plus the sum which accrues by these increased dues, they would have sufficient moneys at their command to build a home for themselves when the time appeared suitable and also be able to retire quite a number of the present outstanding memberships. My opinion is that this is the plan that would generally meet the approbation of those who are most largely and actively interested in the Chicago stock exchange, for the reason that it will preserve the rights of those who are now members, and particularly the large number of floor brokers who perhaps under the other plan would be unable to join a new exchange.

"The alternative would be the liquidation or dissolution of the present stock exchange, dividing the cash obtained by the sale of its assets pro rata among its members, and upon its dissolution the formation of a stock exchange limited to 100 members, with initiation fee for the charter members, say, of $5,000, and of those who are not charter members, up to a limitation of 100 members, of $10,000. This method, while it would eliminate most of the objectionable features, would be susceptible to criticism and to regret in the fact that there would be a certain percentage of the present active floor members who would be unable to join an exchange based upon this initiation fee.

"In closing, I might say that, while I am writing this letter upon my own responsibility, I have presented a draft of the same to several of the leading active members of the exchange, and only forward it to you after receiving the suggestions and approbation of these gentlemen."

Equitable Trust's Good Year.

Directors of the Equitable Trust company have declared the semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent on the capital stock, payable yesterday. In the last fiscal year the company earned $159,000, equal to 32 per cent on the $500,000 capital. Surplus and undivided profits are now in excess of $450,000. The annual meeting will be held March 21.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Cattle Slow, with Values Generally Steady—Hogs Are Lifeless—Sheep and Lambs Firm.

The cattle market yesterday at the stockyards was inclined toward slowness, but values generally held steady. Butcher stock was more active and prices held up on the bulk of the steer sales. The proportion of steers was small and this caused complaints from shippers and exporters.

Hogs were steady, but the market showed little life. Some sales were made at 2½c lower. The narrow provision trade has put a damper on live hog prices.

Sheep and lambs were steady. Good lambs were in strong demand. The top was $7.65.

Employment Agencies.

ONE RESULT OF OUR WORK

is that the name "Employment Agency" has been cleaned of its smirch, the business has been lifted out of the mire, and employers have learned that OUR office is a source from which good men and women for office positions can be secured quickly.

When we started in this business, over twelve years ago, the best class of employers would not patronize an "Employment Agency."

But when they learned what were our methods they were the first to realize that such methods would attract the best class of applicants, and so they became our first patrons. Now they are our best clients because we performed what we promised.

Our methods bring the best results to the best employers, and secure the best positions for our applicants that they are able to fill.

We want to talk to YOU.

OUR BEST ADVERTISEMENT

is our satisfied subscribers. Every man placed by us becomes a walking, talking advocate of our System.

A man we placed a couple of weeks ago came in our office today and in the course of his conversation said: "I only wish I had known of Hapgoods years ago. I was dissatisfied with the position I held because I had no chance for advancement. The position you have put me up to is exactly the kind I was looking for, and is paying about $300 more a year than I ever made before. I have just written to 12 of my friends, telling them what you did for me and advising them to subscribe with you."

Conversations of this kind are an every day occurrence, and we could refer to thousands of men we have placed in satisfactory positions at salaries ranging up to $8,000 per year.

If you are a good salesman, executive, clerical, or technical man, we can use you in some one of the hundreds of openings we constantly have open on our list. Our positions are permanent and our chain of offices link together the entire country. SEE US TODAY.

SOCIETY AT NATION'S CAPITAL.

Brilliant Social Event at German Embassy—Operation on Mrs. Shaw in Baltimore.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—[Special.]—Washington's most brilliant social event tonight was a large reception held at the German embassy, when the ambassador and Baroness Speck von Sternburg received between 200 and 300 persons. The baroness welcomed the guests in a gown of white Spanish lace, with which she wore emeralds, both suiting well her blond beauty.

The guests numbered all the ambassadors, most of the ministers and secretaries of the diplomatic corps, members of the cabinet, and congressional circles, and the army and navy set, the elite of capital society.

Mrs. Leslie M. Shaw, who underwent an operation at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore this forenoon, is reported, it is learned at her home here, to be resting, though still under the influence of anaesthetics, and is out of danger. Secretary Shaw left Washington last night and is still with Mrs. Shaw.

Count Van Wenkheim of the Austrian embassy has gone south, his destination being Palm Beach. Baroness von Giskra, the wife of the Austrian chargé d'affaires, will join her husband here in the middle of April or later, leaving her children, the youngest boy of but a few months old, with her mother. The rumors to the effect that the Austrian ambassador, Herr von Hengelmüller, would not return are given no credence at the embassy.

Herr Verdy du Vernois of the German embassy has left Washington for Cuba. He will, after a short visit there, join his colleagues of the embassy, Lieut. Martin, at Palm Beach.

Domestic Science

Conducted by the School of Domestic Arts and Science of Chicago

THE School of Domestic Arts and Science, at 30 State street, now stands in readiness for the exhibit of cooking, mending, and laundry work tomorrow.

Many lessons have been gained from past exhibits. The managers remember the dismay that seized the company when the displays came pouring in on them when the first exhibit was held a few years ago. Salads decorated with mountains of lobsters, crawfish protruding from hills of celery in a most grewsome manner, dishes that not only did not tempt the appetite but ones that required great courage to attack. Happily this has all become past history.

The dishes now presented are attractive in style of decoration and appetising in appearance. No cook need to fear that her best may not be the best. The story has often been told of a north side woman who did not like the kind of bread her cook made, so she persuaded the said cook to exhibit bread, hoping she would gain knowledge thereby. There were at least fifty exhibits of bread that season, and this particular cook won the first prize! The mistress accepted the morsel. A girl of 15 took a prize for a pair of ducks that excelled the work done by experienced cooks—her faith in herself won a prize.

One of the most interesting features of the day promises to be given at the colonial table, where the dishes of our grandmothers will compete with the menus of the day—old fashioned bread, cake, quince preserves, election cake, raised doughnuts, baked beans—not the Boston kind, but the real "old style" article with its accompanying brown bread. This display should be a test of our advance or degeneracy in regard to true cookery. In a separate room the students of the School of Domestic Arts and Science will hold an exhibit of their work that the public may judge of what is being done by the one who cook by the law of measure and proportion. The judges have been selected with care, that the best may win its proper recognition.

The question is often asked "where the idea originated of holding exhibits in cookery?" as such exhibits were unknown a few years ago. We take pride in the fact that they originated right here in Chicago. A few years ago two women who were discussing that vexing problem, the domestic situation, evolved the idea of holding an exhibit of cookery as a possible inspiration to better work in that department of our homes. The first attempt was an experiment, but a gratifying success. Now the final note of the far reaching results of that experiment comes in the announcement that the women of the Boston Educational and Industrial union have copied our effort—without, however, giving us the credit—in giving an elaborate exhibit of cookery that has proved most successful.

The public at large is invited to attend the exhibit tomorrow. An admittance fee of 25 cents will be charged. The hours will be from 2 until 6 and 8 until 10 p. m. No dishes will be received for competition after 12 o'clock on Thursday. Come and judge for yourselves.

HELEN STONE.

Friday will be registration day for the spring term of domestic arts and science—sewing, millinery, and cooking.

U. OF C. MEN AGAIN TO DIG AMONG RUINS OF BISMYA.

Prof. Harper Is Notified of Resumption of Exploration as Result of President's Visit to Turkey.

Prof. Robert Francis Harper of the University of Chicago, who is director of the expedition of the oriental exploration fund, now in Assyria, received a telegram yesterday announcing that the work of excavating the ruins of Bismya, which was suspended last autumn, is to be resumed. The dispatch was from Victor Persons, engineer in charge, and stated that the sender started for Bismya from Bagdad on March 9.

The excavation was begun in December, 1903, and continued until several months ago, when it was abandoned by order of the Turkish government. It seems that the permission to resume work is the result of Dr. Harper's recent trip to Constantinople.

Bismya, which has been identified as the Adab of ancient inscriptions, is one of the most ancient of Babylonian cities and flourished possibly as early as 4,000 or 5,000 before Christ. No history of the place ever has been discovered and tradition does not record the name of its ruling dynasty.

The site of the excavation is between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, ninety miles southeast of Bagdad. It is a large ruin, second in size only to Nippur, Warka, and possibly Babylon. The length of the entire mound under which the ruins are buried, including a small low hill 200 meters to the northwest, is 1,695 meters and the width 840 meters.

Dr. Edgar J. Banks, originally in charge of the expedition, has been forced by ill health to resign. He is now on his way to America, the expedition being left in charge of Engineer Persons.

SEES FIRST ROBIN ON MARCH 8.

In spite of the snow of yesterday the manager of Reston farm, near Oak Park, maintains that spring began with him on March 8. On the morning of that day a robin was seen in the mulberry bush by the farmhouse and the chickens all were turned out. The proprietor of the establishment believes this is the first robin that has put in an appearance in the neighborhood of Chicago.

Oak Park Pupils Give Oratorio.

Pupils of the Oak Park High school, directed by Prof. T. P. Giddings, will give Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation," in the Warrington opera house Friday evening, March 24. The proceeds will go to the school athletic association fund.

CLUB ENEMY OF FIRESIDE.

MRS. CALLA AUSTIN TALKS ON HOW TO LESSEN THE DANGER.

Tells the Chicago Commons the Home Should Have an Equal Share of Attention—One Woman Suggests as Remedy to "Get Up Earlier on Meeting Days"—Another Member Remarks That She Always Finds Her Work Waiting for Her.

In prefacing a symposium at the meeting yesterday of the Chicago Commons Woman's club on "When Club Duties Conflict with Home Duties, What Should Be Done?" Mrs. Calla Austin read a paper in which she referred to the club as "the enemy of the fireside." Then she said it is "here to stay," and asked, "How are we to lessen this danger?"

"Get up earlier in the morning on club days," suggested a listener.

"Home should be organized and developed in every way possible," said Mrs. Austin, "and organized and concerted action also is the principle controlling the club. 'Home, sweet home' are the dearest words in the language.

"If women were to do that in the homes which they do in the clubs—were to give the same time and attention to making it a place so attractive that there would be no danger from without, the harvest of results would be more satisfactory."

Contradicts Mrs. Charles Henrotin.

Mrs. Isabella Kilpatrick said Mrs. Charles Henrotin, in declaring that women were permitting club work to encroach on home duties, was "running down club work," and not justified. She also denied that women "loaf too long in prayer meetings and at the clubs."

A woman who said she was the mother of twelve children was given an inning.

"I always find a way to get my work done, although it takes scheming sometimes," she said. "I often have to get up early to get my work out of the way. But it does me good to go to the club. I get new ideas."

"I don't know there is any harm in visiting the club, although I must leave a baby at home," said the woman on her right.

"I believe women are better housekeepers for the recreation and change of a club meeting," said another woman. "Time spent at the club means so much less for talking over back fences and from back porches."

Finds That Her Work Always Waits.

"I find that when I go to the club the work always waits for me," philosophically remarked another member.

"If a woman staid at home until her work was all done she would be carried out," the presiding officer interjected.

"I think it is a remedy for crossness. We can be more amiable because of the half day off," some one added from a rear seat.

"That is just it," said Mrs. Graham Taylor, wife of the head of the Chicago Commons association. "There is a difference between the home and the house. We may stay at home and keep the house in better order, but it is not at all certain the home will benefit. We go into untidy dwellings sometimes and find the home life so delightful we forget all about the disorder. Is it not true that club work is home work? I do not think there is any conflict unless club work is carried to extremes."

THIEF OUTRUNS TRACK TEAM.

Northwestern University Athletes Distanced by Stranger Detected in Stealing Bundles of Laundry.

A stranger who tried to steal bundles of laundry at Northwestern university yesterday outran several of Coach McCornack's athletic young men.

Several thefts have been reported recently in Athletic hall, and the athletes decided to keep a watch. In the afternoon a stranger was discovered walking away with two bundles.

The thief ran, pursued by Students Jenkins, Farrell, Thompson, and Carlson. At Simpson street the fugitive let out another tuck in his speed and disappeared. He laughed merrily at the panting athletes. He is believed to be a tramp who had been loafing around the university.

CUPID SEES 'COUNTY CHAIRMAN'

Results in Marriage of Zenaide Williams to Former Minstrel George Thatcher.

George Thatcher, the Sassafras Livingston of "The County Chairman," and Zenaide Williams, who enacts the rôle of Lorena Watkins, the village milliner in that comedy, were married yesterday afternoon at the Sherman house by Justice Underwood. Both appeared later in the evening performance, having delayed their honeymoon until the close of the company's season next week.

Thatcher's first wife died last October in New York, leaving her husband $50,000. He has one daughter. The bride is the widow of Odell Williams, a comedian, who died last year.

Thatcher, who is 50 years old, is well known as a former member of the Thatcher, Primrose and West minstrel company.

Again Today

YOU will have the opportunity of attending this beautiful opening. It is truly an exceptional display, and again we urge every woman who has not seen it to be our guest today.

Never were the people of Chicago so enthusiastic and pronounced in their praise.

We are pleased that every woman takes pride in the fact that Chicago is recognized as authority upon women's styles.

Even the fierce blizzard of yesterday could not stop the crowds attending the Stevens Opening. It seemed all the more beautiful to those who braved the storm. It made it all the brighter and more cheerful inside, and even the music sounded sweeter. Several times the remark was heard, "Why, I had no idea that there were so many women down town today until I came in here." It is probably true that most all who did come into the city visited Stevens'.

CLUB MEMBER FOR "AUTO" LAW.

At least one member of the Chicago Automobile club is not in sympathy with the efforts of others in that organization to secure an injunction to restrain the city from enforcing the ordinance regulating the horseless vehicles. An affidavit signed by P. L. Wickes, a member of the club, was filed yesterday by counsel for the city, which is contesting the suit in the United States Circuit court.

Among the others, who, by their affidavits, went on record as believing the law necessary for the protection of the people of the city, was former Judge Philip Stein. While riding a bicycle Mr. Stein declared he was run down by an automobile and left cut and bruised on the pavement.

Affidavits also were presented from George R. Harding, an engineer, William R. Moorehouse, vice president of the Spaulding and Merrick Tobacco company; Henry E. King, principal of the Webster school; City Electrician Edward B. Ellicott, Chief of Police O'Neill, and others.
